The Lord Chancellor has appointed James Bennett Freeland, of Chichester, in the county of Sussex, Gent. to be a Master Extraordinary in the High Court of Chancery.

By the Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, &c.

WHEREAS by our Warrant, dated the 15th of November 1822, we, by virtue of the power and authority vested in us, authorised all His Majesty's subjects to hoist the Union Jack at the top-mast-head of their ships or vessels, where there is but one mast, or at the fore-top-mast-head where there are more than one mast, as a signal for a pilot, but strictly prohibited the wearing or hoisting the said Jack for any purpose whatsoever, or longer than is necessary for the procuring a pilot, excepting for signals only, under the circumstances therein mentioned, until the 1st January 1824:

And whereas it has been proposed to us, to abolish the use of His Majesty's Union Jack in merchant ships for any purpose whatsoever, and that the signal Jack to be hereafter worn by merchant ships, should have an entire white border, such border being one-fifth of the breadth of the Jack itself, exclusive of such border, and that such Jack so altered should also be in future used on board merchant vessels as a signal for a pilot, instead of the Union Jack at present used for that

And we having approved of the said proposal, do hereby authorise all His Majesty's subjects to hoist and use, on and after this date, on-board their ships and vessels, for signals, as well for a pilot as otherwise, the above mentioned signal Jack with an entire white border, such border being one-fifth of the breadth of the Jack itself, exclusive of the border; but in order to prevent any inconvenience to persons whose ships may be absent on foreign voyages, and who may not be apprized of this new arrangement, we do hereby authorise the wearing of His Majesty's Jack, as a signal for a pilot, until the 1st day of July 1824, and no longer, and we do continue the permission to use His Majesty's Jack for signals only, agreeably with our said warrant of the 15th of November 1822, until the 1st of January 1824, and no longer.
