WHEREAS Thomas Henshaw, late of Blakeley, in the County of Lancaster, Esquire, deceased, in and by his last will and testament, after stating that it was his wish and intention that a Blue Coat School should be erected at Oldham, and a Blind Asylum established at Manchester, under the management and direction of certain Trustees to be thereafter appointed; (and which Trustees were afterwards by a codicil to the said will duly appointed), did thereby give and bequeath £20,000. (in trust to the said Trustees) to each of the said charities, subject to such rules, regulations and conditions as should afterwards be determined for the government thereof; but he directed "that the said monies should not be applied in the purchase of lands, or the erection of buildings, it being his expectation that other persons would at their expence purchase lands and buildings for those purposes;" and the said Testator bequeathed all the residue of his personal estate to the Trustees of the said intended charities, to be equally divided; and by a codicil to the said will, he bequeathed to the Blue Coat School before-mentioned, the further sum of £20,000, empowering his Executors to fix the establishment of the said Blue Coat School at Manchester instead of Oldham, if they thought it more convenient:—And whereas the Trustees of the said charitable legacies being of opinion that the Blue Coat School is more likely to be beneficial to the public at Manchester than at Oldham, intend to establish the same at or near Manchester; and they are now prepared to enter upon the duties of their trust, and to appropriate the income arising from the before-mentioned legacies according to the intentions of the Testator; but in as much as they cannot legally appropriate any part of their funds to the purchase of land, or the erection of buildings, they are unable to proceed in carrying such intentions in effect, until some person or persons desirous of furthering the good designs of the Testator shall purchase and settle land and buildings proper for the purpose, or until a sum of money adequate to such purchase shall be given.

The undersigned individuals, being the present Trustees of the said charitable legacies, are under the necessity therefore of appealing to the liberality and public spirit of the opulent inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Manchester, and other charitably disposed persons, and as the large sums of money bequeathed by the said Testator will remain wholly useless and unapplied until land and buildings suitable for the objects of the charities are procured, they trust that they may rely with confidence upon being furnished by the public with the means of proceeding in the discharge of the duties reposed in them.

All communications on this subject are requested to be addressed to Messrs. Eccles, Critrie, and Slater, Solicitors, Manchester; or to Messrs. Clarke, Richards, and Medcalf, Solicitors, Chancery-Lane, London.
