

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

From Thursday March 1. to Monday March 5. 1682.

Genova, Febr. 24.

TWO days since arrived here the Edward and John Captain Bartlett, from Naples, having on board 250 Soldiers, who are going to serve in Milan; and yesterday she sailed for Recca, a place 15 miles to the Eastward of this City, to land them there. The 21 arrived here the Success. The James Gally is daily expected from Cadix. The Leghorn Merchant and the Rebecca will sail this week, the first for Leghorn, and the other for Lubon.

Vienna, Feb. 21. From Belgrade we have Advice. That five Batta's were arrived there with the Troops under their Command, from Smirna, Aleppo, &c. and that the Vizier of Offen had assigned them Quarters near Eseg, on the Rivers Sau and Drav; That great Magazines were providing at Belgrade, That a House was Building without the Town for the Grand Signior to Lodge in when he comes thither, and that at Eseg, as well as at Belgrade, they were building a great many small Vessels, which they intend to fill with Men, and to employ on the Danube. While the Turks are making these Preparations, Count Teckelej has by his Secretary, who is now here, assured the Emperor, That he endeavours all he can to dispose the Grand Signior to prolong the Peace with his Imperial Majesty, and that for that purpose he has sent to the Port the Sicurs Falgi and Schirmay; and the better to manifest his good intentions, he has caused the Baron Kobary, late Governor of Fillecke, and Count Herberstein, with 200 German Soldiers, who were his Prisoners, to be set at Liberty without any Ransome, and has (as the said Secretary declares) not only permitted Provisions to be carried to Zatmar, and other places possessed by the Imperialists in Upper Hungary, but has lent them Wagons for that purpose. In return to these fair Professions of Count Teckelej, the Emperor has sent a Gentleman to him with such Proposals on his part, as may confirm him in the Inclination he seems to have to an accommodation, but at the same time the Preparations for the War are carried on with all the diligence possible. Two Regiments of Foot are raising in the Hereditary Countries for the Service of the Dutchy of Milan, which are to be Commanded by the Count de Herberstein. The Marquis Videlli raises a Regiment of Cuirassiers for the Emperor, of which the young Arch-Duke is to be Colonel, and the said Marquis Lieutenant Colonel. A great many Boats are providing, which are to carry the Imperial Troops for Hungary.

Ratisbonne, Feb. 22. The Courier, which the French Minister, the Count de Cresy, sent for Paris this day three Weeks, is returned, but brings only a Confirmation of the Orders which we have already told you the Count de Cresy had received to Treat with the States of the Empire, assembled here upon the Proposals they should make to him, without any Limitation of time: On Wednesday last the Heer Straetman, one of the Emperor's Ambassadors at the Conference at Frankfort, from whence he lately arrived here; received a Letter from the Emperor, and having consulted with the other Austrian Ministers thereupon, he parted the next day in great haste for Vienna; from whence we have an account, That the Turks of Newbeusel, taking the opportunity of the Frost, had again made an attempt upon the Island Schuss, but that they were so warmly received by the Imperial Troops that are Quartered there, that they were forced to retire with loss; That the Dyet at Caschau was concluded, but that it was not known what they had done; That a Servant of Count Teckelej was arrived at Vienna, with Letters from him to the Hungarian Nobility that are there, wherein he makes several Proposals to them in order to the establishing the Peace of Hungary, and the preventing the War threatened by the Turks; which the said Nobility had communicated to the Emperor, and with his Leave had dispatched a Gentleman to Count Teckelej, to let him know their Sentiments upon the said Proposals, and that this Gentleman, after having been with Count Teckelej, was to go to Adrianople, whither the Count de Caprara has followed the Grand-Signior.

Liege, Feb. 27. There is every day less and less appearance of an accommodation between the Elector of Cologne and this City; the Commonalty here continue very obstinate, and in stead of doing things that may lead to a compofure, do more and more offend his Electoral Highness: The 32 Trades were at their last Meeting so far from giving his Electoral Highness any satisfaction, that they declared they would never submit to the Tax of the 60th Penny, imposed by him; That they were resolved to maintain their Priviledges and that they were of opinion their Deputies, who have been so long at Cologne to the great Charge of this City, ought to be forthwith recalled; and we are told, That the Magistrates, considering the temper the Commonalty here are at present in, have accordingly resolved to recall the said Deputies; and thus things are like to come to extremities.

Brussels, March 2. On Sunday last the Spanish Regiment that was here, marched for Namur, and as soon as the Italian Regiment arrives from Guelderland, the Dragoons that are at present in this Garrison will March to Mons, in which place there are already 3500 Soldiers, and the Count de Rasch, who is Governor of that City, and of the Province of Hainault, is taking all possible care to put things there into such a posture, as that he may be able to defend the place, in case it should be attacked; and among other provision he is making for its security, he has caused the Sluyces to be opened, for the Drowning the Country round it. The Chevalier de Savoy arrived here on Sunday last from Vienna, to visit his Mother, the Countess