From Thursday March 15. to Sunday March 19. 1682.

Genova, March 10.

THe fifth Instant arrived here the Good-Will Captain Edward Good, in 40 days from Tripoli, and brings an account, That that Government have broken the Peace with the French, having taken two Merchant Ships belonging to Marfeilles, and that eight of their best Men of War are now abroad with Orders to take all the French Ships they meet. The seventh Instant came in here the Fames Galley, Captain Shouell, from Cadix, Alicant, and Majorca,

Vienna, March 7. Two Expresses have arrived here since Sunday last from the Count de Caprara, the Emperor's Minister at the Port, by the way of Dalmatia; it is not yet publickly known what news they bring, but people do mistrust it is not very good. The Letters from Hungary give an account, That Count Teckeley had, through the Consecrations to which he had subjected the Estates of such of the Nobility as had not repaired, pursuant to his Summons to the Dyet at Caschau, raised a considerable Sum of Money, which he did employ in his Preparations for the Campaign, and that he had received Orders from the Grand-Vizier, to have his Troops in a readines to take the Field the next Month: And from Belgrade we have advice, That Bassa Saitan Ibrahim was ready to Match with 25000 Men, being the Vant-Guard of the Army, towards Hungary; That he was to be followed by 8000 Janizaries, and to be reinforced with the Troops that are Quartered on the Frontiers; That the Troops from Asfa were on their March, and that the Grand-Signior would himself be in the Field the beginning of May. While our Enemies are thus preparing for War, we are not idle on this side. The Emperor has appointed a general Rendezvous of his Troops to be held the 28th of this Month. Several Boats and Gallies are Building here, which when finished will be sent to Comorra, and are to be employed on the Danube, to prevent the Design which the Turks may have in fitting out the small Vessels which they are preparing at Belgrade. Great diligence is used to fit the Train of Artillery, which is taken out of the Arsenal here, and it's said it will in a very short time be in a readines to March. Quarters are assigned in the Suburbs of this City for 3500 Soldiers, and 5000 Peasants are appointed together with them, to work on the new Fortifications that are intended to be made for the Security of this City. The Count Erdeudy, Viceroy of Croatia, is arrived here, and has been in Conference with the Palatine of Hungary and the Ministers here, concerning the Militia of those Countreys, which are to be formed into Regiments, and to join the Imperial Army. We hope our next Letters from Poland will give us a good account of Count Wal-lastain the Emperors Ambassador's Negotiation at Warsaw. The Governor of Zendre, in Upper Hungary, has sent hither to acquaint the Emperor that Count Teckeley will not suffer any Provisions to be carried thither, and that by reason thereof the place began to be in great distress, which does not agree with the assurances Count Teckeley lately gave this Court, That the places in which the Emperor has Garisons, in Upper-Hungary, were at liberty to supply themselves with what Provisions they wanted. The Duke of Lorraine is suddenly expected here, being to command, as it's said, the Emperor's Forces in Hungary.

Cologne, March 16. It is the general opinion, That our Elector is drawing his Troops together, in order to employ them against the City of Liege, and that the Baron de Landberg, who is to command them as Major General, is come hither to receive his Electoral Highness's Orders therein. There is a discourse, That the Duke of Fruiers is sending a Body of Men, under the Command of Monsieur d'Avila, to the assistance of the Emperor against the Turks. The Minister which our Elector sent to the Conference at Soest, is come back, and it's said, That a League was concluded there between the King of Denmark, the Elector of Brandenburg, the Elector of Cologne, and the Bishop of Munster, for the Security of their respective Territories, against all Invasions whatsoever. The Commons of this City are still assembled, and talk of sending Deputies to the Emperor, to give him a right Information of their late Proceedings, which they say have been falsly represented to his Imperial Majesty, to their Prejudice.

Brussels, March 19. On Sunday last arrived here the Sieur Heinsus, Ambassador Extraordinary from the States-General of the United Provinces to the Most Christian King; he had a short Conference with his Excellency the same Evening, and the next day continued his Journey for France. The Captain that was brought from Mons, and is now a Prisoner in Vilvoord Castle, for holding an unlawful Correspondence, has been put to the Torture, which he endured 24 hours with great Constancy, and denied the matters he is accused of, which are however so plainly proved that it's not doubted but he will be condemned to die. We have had no account of the Prince de Chimay since his departure from hence for Luxemburg, but the Letters we have from thence Inform us, That they were very quiet again on that side, the French Troops that had given them the Alarm being retired to Arlon. The States of this Province have at his Excellency's desire, Farmed the Impost upon Wine and Beer, for six Months, for 74 thousand Florins, which is almost the Double of what the said Duty has hitherto raised, and in consideration thereof his Excellency has taken away the Priviledge that many pretend to have not to pay this Duty, Duty, which the Knights of the Golden Fleece have protested against, it not being, as they say, in his Excellency's Power to dispossess them of any of their Privileges. The Farmers of the Customs have not yet complied with the Obligation of their Contract, concerning the Monies they are to advance.

Brussels, March 23. Yesterday the Captain belonging to the Garillon de Mons, of whose Imprisonment we have already given you an account, was beheaded in Vivord Castle, for having held an unlawful Correspondence with some persons at Falenciennes. We have advice from the new Conquests, That Monsieur Pelesier, the French King's Intendant General in those parts, had forbid the Professors of Divinity in the University at Douay, to teach, or in any other thing to exercise their Functions, because they have refused to subscribe the Propositions of the Clergy of France; and that he had let them know, That his Most Christian Majesty was greatly offended, that when, all the Bishops of France had received this ancient Doctrine, they should refuse to teach the same, and that if they persisted therein, they must expect to suffer under the effects of his Majesties Displeasure. The Letters from Vienna do now assure us, That nothing but a War is to be expected with the Turks, and that Count Teckley, who has hitherto entertained the Court at Vienna with the hopes of Peace, begins to take off his Mask, and to let them see that his thoughts are wholly set upon the War, and that he is accordingly preparing for it; and that the Grand Signior would be very early in the Field at the head of 160000 Men.

Paris, March 24. The Court is returned to Versailles. Monsieur du Quefne will part hence the next Week for Toulon, to hasten the Equippage that is making there of the Ships he is to Command against the Algerines. It is said that the King will give the Government of Guyenne to the Count de Tolome, vacant by the Death of the Duke de Roqueflaure, and that the Marschal de Beffonds is to be the Kings Lieutenant-General there, during the said Count's Minority. The Doctors of the Sorbonne are divided in their opinions upon the Proposition that was lately handed to them by the Parliament here, which is the reason that they have not as yet made any determination therein.

Newmarket, March 16. This day a Committee of three Aldermen and six Commoners, appointed by the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled, waited on His Majesty, and presented the following Address, which his Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously.

To the Kings Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Petition and Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common-Council assembled.

May it please Your Sacred Majesty,

W^hereas Your Majesties most Loyal, Humble, and Obedient Subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common-Council assembled, being highly sensible of the great Happiness we enjoy under Your Majesties most Wise, Magnificent, and Gracious Government, and of the many Privileges and Immunities by Your Majesty and Your Royal Progenitors granted to this Your Imperial Chamber, most humbly prostrating our selves at Your Royal Feet, return our unfeigned Thanks and Acknowledgment, humbly begging Your Sacred Majesty to believe, That as none of our fellow Subjects have received larger Bounties from the Crown, so none shall be more ready to Sacrifice their Lives and Fortunes in the Service thereof, in the Defence of Your Sacred Person, (whom God long preserve) Your Lawful Heirs and Successors, and the Government as now by Law established in Church and State, than we Your Obedient and Dutiful Subjects of the Loyal City of London. And as we have lately received an Expression of Your Royal Grace and Favour to us, in Your Majesties being pleased to order a Stop to be put (until a farther hearing) to a Patent for the Grant of a Fair and Weekly Markets for live Cattel, in Conduit-Mead, which would be greatly prejudicial to the Inhabitants in and about Smithfield, Your Hospital of St. Bartholomew, and Your City of London in general, so we humbly conceive our selves obliged in Duty to return our hearty Thanks to Your Sacred Majesty, imploring the continuance of Your Royal Grace and Favour.

And Your Petitioners, as in Duty bound, shall ever Pray, &c.
