TUESDAY, MARCH 15, 1825.

India-Board, March 12, 1825.

DISPATCH has been received at the East India-House, from the Governor-General in Council at Fort William, in Bengal, with inclosures; of which the following are extracts:

Extract from a Letter from the Governor-General in Council to the Secret Committee of the Court of Directors of the East India Company, dated Fort William, 12th August 1824.

WE will not trespass on the time of your Honourable Committee with any detailed statement of the contents of Brigadier-General Campbell's dispatches* of the 16th June and 11th July, reporting the particulars of the brilliant affairs in which our troops have been engaged, but request leave to refer you to the dispatches themselves.

Your Honourable Committee will not fail to remark, with the highest satisfaction, the gallant behaviour of the native troops, who, on several occasions, have emulated the examples of intrepidity and valour set them by the Europeans. We have signified to Brigadier-Generals Sir Archibald Campbell and MacBean our highest approbation of all their proceedings, and have requested them to convey to the several Officers, whose services have been particularly adverted to, our thanks and acknowledgements for their gallant exertions. In the affair of the 10th June, against the fortified camp and stockades, at Kemandine, the flight of the enemy alone prevented the complete success of Sir Archibald Campbell's judicious and well concerted measures for striking a most impressive blow, by the destruction, which must have inevitably ensued, of the whole, or the main part, of their force, had they ventured to abide the assault; but still a great point was gained by that and the previous attacks on the several fortified positions of the Burmese, it being evident, from their subsequent abandonment of all the stockades in the neighbourhood of our army, that the enemy was now convinced those strong holds were no security against the British bayonet, or the force of our artillery. The result of the operations on the 8th ultimo was peculiarly decisive and brilliant; on that day ten stockades were carried at the point of the bayonet, thirty-eight pieces of artillery, forty swords, and three hundred muskets captured, and upwards of eight hundred of the enemy's best troops, including some Chiefs, left dead upon the ground,

From the dispatches referred to, your Honourable Committee will also learn that, on the 1st of July, an attempt was made by the enemy, under positive orders from the Court of Ava, to make a general attack upon our line, and drive us at once out of the country; and that this mighty attack was repulsed by three weak companies of sepoys, and two pieces of artillery. From some prisoners who were taken on that occasion, Brigadier-General Sir Archibald Campbell learnt that the enemy's force, on this occasion, consisted of twelve thousand men.

On our north eastern frontier few events of any consequence have occurred, since the date of our last address. In Assam, the Officer commanding has fallen back, and concentrated his force at Gowahatti. The detachment on the frontier of Sylhet, has taken up its quarters at Budderpore and the neighbourhood, after an unsuccessful attempt to shell the enemy out of their fortified position on the hill of Tiloayn. The particulars of this affair are contained in letters, copies of which are numbers in the packet, Extract from a Letter from Lieutenant-Colonel Innes, C. B. commanding the Sythat Frontier, to Lieutenant-Colonel Nicol, Adjutant-General of the Army, dated on the River before Tiloayn, 6th July 1824.

I HAVE the honour to report that a battery was opened on the stockaded position of Tiloayn this morning at six o'clock.

The shells from both howitzers and six pounders were thrown with the greatest precision, but the round shot from the latter I regret to say had scarcely any effect on the strong palisades surrounding the work, the palisades in question being heavy trunks of trees. I regret also to add that the carcasses when thrown from the howitzers went wide of the mark, and consequently the firing of the huts on the sides and summit of the hill which I expected has not been accomplished: the guns are now posted on a rising ground about six hundred yards to the southwest of the stockade, but I purpose to-morrow carrying the six pounders to a small hill directly south of the enemy's position.

Extract from a Letter from Lieutenant-Colonel Innes to the Adjutant-General, dated before Tiloayn, 7th July 1824.

IN continuation of my last dispatch, I have the honour, for the information of his Excellency the Commander in Chief, to report that on the afternoon of yesterday, about five o'clock, the enemy made an attempt to turn the right of my position, by occupying a high hill in the rear of a rising ground, where a working party was employed in clearing the jungle, for the purpose of enabling me to place my guns in battery on it this morning. I directed the Rajah Gumbheer Sing, whose local knowledge is excellent, with a body of his infantry, to take the enemy in rear, and at the same time threw forward a strong detachment to support the working party: after a short skirmish the enemy were driven from their position, and I succeeded in retaining the spot I had fixed on for the guns: during the night a breast work was thrown up, and this morning at day break the guns opened from it at the distance of four hundred yards.

Three natives of Cachar, who this morning made their escape from the enemy, state their loss from the effects of yesterday's shells to be very considerable, though they screen themselves in a measure from the severity of the file by burrowing in the ground.

The only casualties consequent to the skirmish of yesterday were one man killed and three wounded of the Rajah Gumbheer Singh's infantry, and one recruit of the 16th or Sylhet local battalion wounded.

Although the artillery has been playing on the enemy's works with the greatest steadiness during the day, the fire has not had the desired effect, and the enemy still continue in possession of the place; many of them have been killed, and many more wounded; but till further reinforcements join me to enable me to extend my operations, I am not sanguine in my hopes of carrying the position.

Extract from a Letter from Lieutenant-Colonel Innes to the Adjutant-General, dated on the Barak River, off Juttrapore, 9th July 1824.

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you, for the information of His Excellency the Commander in Chief. that on the morning of yesterday, a little after daylight, the enemy, in great numbers, made a suddenand unexpected attack on the height immediately in rear of the battery, which had been occupied by Gumbheer Sing's followers, and succeeded in driving them from it; I immediately sent off a party to endeavour to get on the hills on their flank, but I regret to say this attempt failed, as it was discovered, on approaching, that the enemy had occupied the whole line of hills in immense numbers, and that there was no prospect of attacking them with any chance of success; the party was therefore recalled, and the battery being no longer tenable, it being so entirely commanded by the heights now in the occupation of the enemy, I was under the necessity of drawing off the guns. I have however to observe, that this measure was determined on before, in consequence of the howitzers having become unserviceable, and the exhausted state both of the artillery and infantry of my detachment, the former having been in the batteries. from the morning of the 6th till the 8th instant. I think it my duty to bring to the notice of His-Excellency the very zealous exertions of this arm of the service; the practice was beyond praise, and the shot and shells were thrown with a precision which could not be surpassed, but the six-pounder. shot were found to have no effect on the enemy's works, although the shells must have done considerable execution.

The carcasses, from being damp, did not, as E before reported, ignite, and consequently were useless.

I feel myself much indebted to Captain Smith for his great exertions during the three days the battery was open, and to Lieutenant Huthwaite, who, though labouring under a severe fever, rendered me the most essential service.

I regret to say, that, from the commanding position of the heights the guns were not withdrawn, from the battery without some slight loss on our part, and which from the advantages possessed by, the enemy might have been much greater, had, they not been kept in check by the stendiness of the troops in the battery, under the command of, Captain Cowslade, of the 39th regiment, whose conduct was particularly conspicuous.

I deemed it advisable to re-embark my detachment yesterday afternoon, and to fall back upon. Juttrapore, where I have taken up an eligible position on both sides of the Barak river, and within two miles of the enemy's works, where I shall remain till re-inforced, and then act as circumstances.

Enclosed I have the honour to forward a return, of the killed and wounded of the detachment undermy command in the affair of yesterday.
