SATURDAY, JUNE 11, 1825.

India-Board, June 11, 1825.

A DISPATCH has been received at the East India-House from the Governor-General in Council at Fort William, in Bengal, dated 31st January 1825, with an inclosure, of which the following is a copy:

Copy of a Letter from Brigadier-General Sir Archibald Campbell, K. C. B. to George Swinton, Esq. Secretary to the Bengal Government, dated Headquarters, Rangoon, 14th January 1825.

SIR,

SOME peasants that have come in, state Bundoolah's late army as still dispersing, and himself, with only a few thousand men, at Donabue; but using every exertion in his power, not only to stop the fugitives, but issuing orders for fresh levies, said to be little attended to.

When the Burmese grand army were here, they uncovered some of the walls of the old Portuguese fort and factory at Syriam, and, by throwing up parapets, &c. rendered it a tolerably strong post, which had since continued to be occupied by a small force of the natives of the Syriam district; and I have reason to think they had been joined by some of the men who deserted from their chiefs, when ordered to go and retake Martaban. Although this post did not offer us any annoyance whatever, yet I did not wish to leave it occupied, from the facility its contiguity to the river afforded of being troublesome to our boats, on the breaking up of the British army from Rangoon; I therefore, on the morning of the 11th instant, detached a small force against it, consisting of two hundred men from His Majesty's 47th regiment, with a detachment of seamen and marines from the Royal Navy and the Honourable Company's flotilla, under the command of Lieutenant-Colonel Eltrington, with orders to scour that part of the country, as far as Syriam Pagoda, of any enemy to be met with. The Lieutenant-Colonel in the course of a few hours came before the fort, and the bridge over the nullah leading to it from the landing-place having been broken down, much labour and some delay was occasioned in repairing it, during which the enemy, from behind the works, kept up a smart and well directed fire on the head of the column, which caused some loss; but no sooner were the troops able to cross, than they rushed on, and gallantly carried the place by storm. The Lieutenant-Colonel afterwards went on to the Syriam Pagoda, also found to be occupied by a small force of the enemy, who fled after the discharge of one volley, and seeing the British troops rush on to the assault.

Lieutenant-Colonel Eltrington speaks in the highest terms of the gallant and good conduct of every individual composing his little detachment, and the Lieutenant-Colonel himself merits my best thanks for the performance of this duty.

To prevent the enemy from again finding security in those posts, the chief Engineer is now employed in blowing them up.

Herewith I beg to enclose a return of killed and wounded, and also of the ordnance captured on this occasion.

I have, &c.

A. CAMPBELL, Brig. Gen.

AT the Court at Carlton-House, the 23d of March 1825,

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council

WHEREAS the time limited by His Majesty's Order in Council, of the fourteenth of August last, for prohibiting the exportation of gun-powder or salt-petre, or any sort of arms or ammunition, to any port or place on the Coast of Africa (except to any ports or places within the Straights of Gibraltar), has expired; and whereas it is judged expedient that the said prohibition should be continued for some time longer, His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, doth therefore hereby order, require, prohibit, and command, that no person or persons whatsoever (except the Master-General of the Ordnance for His Majesty's Service), do, at any time during the space of six months (to commence from the date of this Order), presume to transport any gun-powder or salt-petre, or any sort of arms or ammunition, to any port or place on the Coast of Africa (except to any ports or places within the Straights of Gibraltar) or ship, or lade any gun-powder or salt-petre, or any sort of arms or ammunition, on board any ship or vessel, in order to transporting the same into any such ports or places on the Coast of Africa (except as above excepted), without leave or permission in that behalf, first obtained from His Majesty or His Privy Council, upon pain of incurring and suffering the respective forfeitures and penalties inflicted by an Act, passed in the twenty-ninth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Second, intituled "An Act to empower His Majesty to prohibit the exportation of gun-powder, or any sort of arms or ammunition, and also to empower His Majesty to restrain the carrying coastwise of salt-petre, gun-powder, or any sort of arms or ammunition;" and also by an Act, passed in the thirty-third year of His late Majesty's reign, cap. 2, intituled "An Act to enable His Majesty to restrain the exportation of naval stores, and more effectually to prevent the exportation of salt-petre, arms, and ammunition, when prohibited by Proclamation or Order in Council:

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, the Commissioners for executing the Office of Lord High Admiral of Great Britain, the Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, the Master-General and the rest of the Principal Officers of the Ordnance, and His Majesty's Secretary at War, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.

THE Creditors of G. K. Kent, late of Oakingham, Berkshire, Druggist, are requested to send particulars of their claims on his estate to Mr. Thomas Marsden, 36, Queen-Street, Cheapside, London, on or before the 25th June, as a final dividend will then be made for the benefit of the Creditors.

BLANDFORD, DORSET.

Most eligible situation for Trade, and an excellent opportunity for the Investment of Capital.

TO be sold by auction, on Wednesday June the 15th 1825, at the Crown Hotel, in Blandford, by R. Rickman, between the hours of Four and Six o'Clock in the Afternoon, subject to an annuity of 24l. per annum to a female aged fifty-nine years, and to such other conditions as will be then and there produced, by order of the Commissioners of Bankrupts,

All that very desirable freehold dwelling-house and premises, most eligibly situated for trade, in the centre of the Market-Place, Blandford, containing on the attic story three very good servants' bed-rooms; on the chamber floor four good airy bed-rooms; on the principal floor a cheerful and pleasant drawing-room (commanding a view of the market-place), and three pleasant bed-rooms; on the ground floor is an excellent front shop calculated for any business, a large and comfortable dining-room which opens into the shop, a very convenient breakfast-room, a private passage which leads from the front door into an open airy court adjoining, a convenient kitchen, scullery, coal-house, and brew-house, in which is a pump of excellent water, over the kitchen are two very good servants' bed-rooms; on the basement story three very large strong and small beer cellars, a front and back stair case, with extensive landing places, closets, cupboards, and store-room.

Contiguous is a large and productive high walled garden stocked with a choice assortment of fruit trees and now in full bearing; at the top of the garden three good stables, with three stalls in each, and hay-lofts over, and underneath two capital arched cellars.

To the whole of these premises is a back entrance by way of Short's-Lane, the dimensions are nearly three hundred and fifty feet in length, thirty feet in front, and fifty-six feet at the back, the whole standing on nearly half an acre of grounds.

For a view of the premises apply to Mr. Harry Biggs, Blandford; and for further particulars to John Tilleard, Esq., Old Jewry, London, or the Auctioneer, Blandford St. Mary.

Cotton-Factory, Bankside, Oldham.

TO be let by ticket, at the Angel Inn, Oldham, on Friday the 24th of June 1825, at Four in the Afternoon, under the direction of Mr. Henry Kelsall, the Receiver appointed by the Court of Chancery, in a certain Cause intitled Ainsworth v. Ainsworth, with the approbation of John Edmund Dowdeswell, Esq. one of the Masters of the said Court, to the highest bidder, for a term of 14 years certain, from the 23d day of April 1825, and to be entered upon immediately, upon a lease, the covenants in which may be seen by application as under;

All that well known cotton-factory, with two steam-engines, both in excellent working condition, one of Boulton and Watts 30 horse power, and the other of Ormrod's, nearly new, 17 horse power, both abundantly supplied with water; together with the house, gardens, outbuildings, stables, and grounds, adjoining the mill, situate at Bankside, Oldham, Lancashire, built and formerly occupied by the late Daniel Lees, Esq.

The factory is now filled with machinery, a considerable portion of which is modern.

A valuation, which may be seen by application as under, has been made of the same, and the person taking the factory will be required to take such part of the machinery as is therein considered modern, at the valuation which has been put upon it, and will have the option of taking the remainder of the machinery at a similar valuation, or of declining to take it, in the latter of which cases it will be sold by auction.

The whole of the premises are now in excellent repair.—There is an old established connexion, which regularly takes all the yarn spun.

The premises may be seen at any time; and further information will be given on application to the aforesaid Receiver, Mr. Henry Kelsall, Rochdale, Lancashire; Messrs. Duckworth and Dennison, Solicitors, Manchester; Mr. James Taylor, Solicitor, 15, Farnival's-Inn, London; or Messrs. Freshfield, Kaye, and Freshfield, Solicitors, New Bank-Buildings, London; at either of whose offices the valuation above referred to, and the draft of the lease may be seen 14 days prior to the letting.
