Admiralty-Office, June 22, 1826.

VICE-ADMIRAL Sir Harry Neale has transmitted to John Wilson Croker, Esq. a letter from Captain Hamilton, of His Majesty's ship Cambrian, inclosing a report from Captain George Hope Johnstone, of His Majesty's sloop Alacrity, of the destruction of four piratical vessels, on the 9th and 10th of April last, under the Greek islands of Ipsera and Andros.

The Alacrity having left Smyrna Bay on the 6th of April, was passing the island of Ipsera on the morning of the 9th, when two misticoes, deceived by the manner in which Captain Hope Johnstone had disguised her being a brig of war, came out from under Autipsera, and gave chase to her. The Captain allowed them to near the Alacrity, but when within about two miles of her, they discovered that she was a vessel of war, and did their utmost to get away with sweeps and sails. The Alacrity made all sail to cut them off; and the boats were sent in chase of them, under the orders of Lieutenant Triscott, First of the Alacrity. After pulling more than thirteen miles, the boats forced the pirates to ground their vessels, and to fly on shore in Ipsera Mole, where they took up a position in front of some ruined houses near the Mole. The pirates were about fifty in number, more than double the number of the Alacrity's party; and on being asked to send their Leader to the Commander of the boats, they answered with a volley of musketry, which was promptly returned from the boats; Lieutenant Triscott, with his Officers and men, then leaped on shore, and the pirates fled, availing themselves of the shelter of the houses to escape to the hills. The boats returned to the Alacrity, bringing with them the two misticoes, which Captain Hope Johnstone caused to be burnt and scuttled, and two prisoners, a man and a boy, who reported that two of the pirates were wounded. No person of the Alacrity's party was hurt.

Early in the morning of the following day, the Alacrity being in the Doro Passage, Captain Hope Johnstone discovered two misticoes standing out from a bay in the island of Andros to cut her off; and observing them shortly after tack and stand back, he made all sail in chase, and sent the cutter to pursue them, under the command of Lieutenant Triscott. The crews of the misticoes, upwards of sixty in number, landed, and took possession of an old tower, situated on a rock, which commanded the creek into which they had run their vessels; and as the cutter came near, they opened a very heavy fire of musketry on her, which was instantly and smartly returned, the boat pushing on in a most gallant and judicious manner. The Alacrity covered her with her guns, and fired several broadsides, which assisted to drive the pirates from the rocks. Lieutenant Triscott and his men, eighteen in all, landed, and pursued the pirates up the hills, keeping up a sharp fire on them; whilst the Alacrity anchored, and the Captain sent the other boats to assist. Shortly after the boats returned, and brought with them the two misticoes, which were burnt and scuttled, and three prisoners, one of them severely wounded. Two seamen and one marine were wounded in the Alacrity's cutter; and in setting one of the misticoes on fire, an explosion unfortunately took place, by which Lieutenant Wheatley was severely burnt.

Captain Hope Johnstone, in his report, expresses the highest approbation of the conduct of his Officers and men; and in transmitting the report, Sir Harry Neale, as well as Captain Hamilton, commend the active and spirited exertions of Captain Johnstone, and of Lieutenant Triscott, on those occasions.

Upon the receipt at this Office of a regular declaration in any of the cases aforesaid, a certificate, setting forth the names, rank, occupation, and description of the Alien, and his or her place of abode, will be immediately made out, and transmitted to him or her by post; and if any Alien shall, by his or her default, not be possessed of such certificate, or shall without any lawful excuse reside in any other place than that expressed in such certificate, every such Alien shall for every such offence forfeit twenty pounds; and if any Alien, being required by any justice of the peace to produce such certificate, shall refuse or neglect so to do, he or she shall be deemed not to be possessed of any certificate.

The Act further provides, That if any certificate issued to any Alien shall be lost, mislaid, or destroyed, and such Alien shall produce to one of His Majesty's justices of the peace proof thereof, and shall make it appear to the satisfaction of such justice that he or she hath duly conformed with the Act, such justice shall testify the same under his hand, and such Alien shall thereby be entitled to demand a fresh certificate.
