May the Arm of Omnipotence support your Majesty under this great and trying calamity, and may the Almighty Disposer of Events long continue to the British Empire the mild and paternal reign of your Majesty, and long grant to your Majesty the happiness of ruling over a prosperous, a grateful, and an affectionate people.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Town of Beverley, in the County of York, in Common Council assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of your Majesty's ancient and loyal Town of Beverley, at this time of general affliction, humbly approach your Majesty's Throne, to condole and sympathize with your Majesty and the Royal Family on the visitation of Providence, which has taken from your Majesty, His Royal Highness the Duke of York, a Brother to whom your Majesty was attached by the strongest ties of affection.

We would convey to your Majesty our deepfelt sorrow, and mingle our poignant grief with the country at large, for the loss the Nation has sustained in the death of the Heir Presumptive to your Majesty's Crown and Dominions.

We deplore the loss that has befallen the British army, in the demise of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, as Commander-in-Chief, whose well digested, progressive, and salutary regulations, have not only improved the moral condition of the soldier, so as to render him at all times a good citizen, but also ameliorated the hardships inseparable from a soldier's life.

Given under our common seal, at Beverley aforesaid, the 24th day of January, in the seventh year of your Majesty's reign.

To the KING's Most Gracious Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Dean and Chapter of Rochester, your Majesty's loyal and faithful subjects, humbly presume to approach your Majesty's Throne, and to offer to your Majesty our sincere condolence on the lamented decease of His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

It has pleased Divine Providence to deprive your Majesty of a beloved and affectionate Brother, who was ever anxious to uphold the principles that seated the House of Brunswick on the Throne of these Realms. We bow with humble submission to the will of Heaven. We enter fully into the feelings of your Majesty on the late melancholy event, and participate in the general sorrow for the loss of a Prince, whose eminent services to his country, whose many excellent qualities, and whose just, impartial and benevolent conduct, in his high office, have ever been the theme of public approbation and praise.

We trust that your Majesty will be pleased to accept this our sincere condolence, and likewise our fervent desire, that your Majesty may long continue to wield the sceptre of these kingdoms, with the same clemency and justice that have hitherto distinguished your Majesty's reign.

Given under our chapter seal, this 1st day of February 1827.

Unto His Sacred Majesty, George the Fourth, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, KING, Defender of the Faith.

The loyal Address of the Faculty of Physicians, and Surgeons of Glasgow, in their Hall assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most loyal subjects, the Faculty of Physicians and Surgeons of Glasgow, beg leave to approach the Throne in humble, but sincere, condolence, for the late breach with which it has pleased Divine Providence to afflict your august House. We deplore, with unfeigned sorrow, that signal calamity which has, at once, excited the regrets of a whole people, and the fraternal anguish of the King. When we recall the memory of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, it is, nevertheless, matter of some consolation that we recall also, and with proud satisfaction, that high and efficient condition of the British army, which grew up and flourished under his auspices; nor will the Nation soon forget that unswerving rectitude of administration which, superior to party predilections, ever secured to the officer his just rank and promotion, while it guarded, at the same time, as with a father's care, spite of his humble station, the rights, comforts, and interests of the private soldier. We would hold it disrespectful were we to intrude farther on your Majesty's sorrows, by commemorating that undaunted courage which ever distinguished His Royal Highness in the field, the common attribute of the House of Brunswick; or were we to extol that kindness of heart, that peculiar graciousness and condescension of manners, which, in their most happy union with rank all but regal, endeared His Highness as a man, in the circle of domestic life, and called forth, as is well known, the warmest feelings of affection and regard, from all those who enjoyed the honour of his intercourse, or friendship.

That your Majesty may long wear, in glory and prosperity the Crown of these Realms, and that the inhabitants of the British Isles may ever enjoy the blessings of public virtue, liberty, and happiness; under the mild and parental sway of the august House of Brunswick is, and always will be, our most earnest prayer.

Signed in our name by the Preses and Visitor, and sealed with our common seal, this 25th day of January 1827.

*Richard Millar, M.D., President.
Duncan Blair, Visitor.*

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Lieutenant-Governor, Council, Deemsters, and Keys of the Isle of Man, beg leave to lay at your Majesty's feet the dutiful expression of our condolence on the lamented death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

In contemplating the eminent qualities which distinguished the character of His Royal Highness; the transcendent talents and virtues displayed in the chief command of your Majesty's army, hold a conspicuous place; the masterly principles of discipline, order, and unbending justice introduced into that army under the auspices of His Royal Highness, are recorded in the proudest triumphs of national victory; while the rare example has been exhibited of introducing into the conduct of a great and complex department of the State, the plain sincerity of private life, a quality which in its effects infused confidence and veneration into the bosom of almost every family in your Majesty's dominions, and has converted into private mourners the great mass of your Majesty's subjects.

These considerations, calculated in their first impression to aggravate the poignancy of grief, will ultimately, as we trust, operate as the purest consolation to your Majesty's pious and enlightened mind, by suggesting the assurance of that unfading reward, in comparison with which all earthly praise sinks into insignificance.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council of your ancient City of Exeter, in Chamber assembled, beg most respectfully to offer to your Majesty our heartfelt condolence on the afflictive loss your Majesty and the Nation have sustained by the death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

It is with deep regret we have to approach your Majesty on this melancholy event, and to lament the loss of a Prince so truly deserving the love, esteem and gratitude of all your Majesty's loyal subjects.

The indefatigable, impartial and most able exertions of His Royal Highness, in exercising the high authority delegated to him by your Majesty as Commander-in-Chief of the forces, will not only be ever most gratefully remembered by all classes of your Majesty's subjects, but must be universally allowed to have been the means of establishing the discipline and constitution of that army, which for valour and military achievement history may be justly challenged to excel, and has raised a monument to His Royal Highness' name, which will be handed down to posterity among the patriots and statesmen of the age.

We humbly trust your Majesty will, by the Divine assistance, be enabled to sustain with fortitude and resignation this painful dispensation of Providence; and we most fervently implore the Almighty will long, very long continue your Majesty's life, rendered most precious to all your Majesty's subjects by your wise administration and paternal Government, and the undeviating solicitude your Majesty constantly displays in promoting the welfare and prosperity of the Empire.

Given under our common seal at the City of Exeter, the 3d day of February 1827.

To His Most Excellent Majesty George the Fourth, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, KING, Defender of the Faith.

The loyal and dutiful Address of the Merchant Company of Leith.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Incorporation of Merchants of Leith, ever actuated by the most unfeigned and ardent attachment to your Majesty, our Most Gracious Sovereign, beg leave, on the present occasion, to offer to your Majesty the tribute of our most sincere sympathy and condolence on the late melancholy affliction with which it has pleased Almighty God to visit your Majesty, your illustrious House, and the whole Nation, in the death of your Royal Brother, His Royal Highness Frederick Duke of York and Albany.

In the death of this Prince your Majesty's illustrious Family have lost a Member whose virtues and affections were of no ordinary kind; the British army a Commander-in-Chief, whose fatherly care and protecting hand were extended alike to every rank, and by whose skill and indefatigable exertions in his official station, the glory of the British arms has been rendered deservedly pre-eminent in every quarter of the world.

We sincerely trust that your Majesty may be enabled to support this dispensation of Divine Providence with fortitude, and we most earnestly pray that your Majesty may long experience how close and endearing the connection is between the feelings of the King and those of his people.

Signed in our name, and by our appointment, at a meeting of the Incorporation, specially called for the purpose, and the seal of the Incorporation is hereto affixed at Leith; the 30th day of January 1827 years. John Macfie, Master

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen and Capital Burgesses of the Borough of Congleton, in the County Palatine of Chester, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, beg leave most humbly to offer to your Majesty the expression of our sincere and heartfelt condolence on the decease of His late Royal Highness the Duke of York and Albany, your Majesty's illustrious Brother.

We deeply sympathize with your Majesty and the other branches of the Royal Family in your present severe affliction and irreparable loss, and participate most sincerely and unfeignedly in the national sorrow, occasioned by the lamented death of His Royal Highness, and with mingled feelings of grief and gratitude we offer this record of our respectful admiration of the virtues and charities which adorned his character, and of our lasting remembrance of his services to a country largely indebted to his unwearied exertions and unbending and strict impartiality and justice, by which the character of the British soldier has been raised pre-eminently high, and before whose valour and consummate skill the haughty conqueror of nations fell, exalting England to that enviable rank she so justly holds amongst the kingdoms of the earth.

In the midst of our grief we cannot but feel most gratefully the many blessings we enjoy under the mild and free Government of your Majesty, and we earnestly pray that your Majesty's reign may continue long and prosperous; and we beg your Majesty will be graciously pleased to accept the tender of our unalterable duty and attachment to your Majesty's most sacred Person and Government, and allow us to express our fixed determination to support and defend the honour and dignity of the Crown, and to maintain inviolate our invaluable Constitution.

By order and on the behalf of the said Mayor, Aldermen and Burgesses,

[Delivered by John Woolley, Esq.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sire,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Denbigh, beg leave, with the most profound sentiments of veneration and respect, to offer up the sincere and heartfelt expression of our sorrow for the recent melancholy loss which your Majesty has sustained by the demise of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, your late illustrious Brother.

In common with every class of your Majesty's subjects in this kingdom, we deplore this lamented event as a great public calamity, not less afflicting to the individual happiness of your Majesty, than important to the interests of the Nation at large.

The invaluable services rendered to his country by that illustrious Prince, while discharging the arduous duties of that department at the head of which he had so long and so ably distinguished himself, have not alone embalmed his memory in the heart of every soldier, as the pride and ornament of the army, the liberal, benevolent, and upright distributor of its patronage and honours, but secured to his vigilance and judgment, in directing the energies of this powerful arm of our strength, the unanimous approbation of your Majesty's people.

We reflect, Sire, with the conscious pride of an ancient people, fond of their liberties and their glory, on the brilliant annals of your venerated Father's reign, when this great country, contending in a foreign land for every thing dear to Britons, and to civilized humanity, your late magnanimous brother, with that energy which belonged to his character, had improved the discipline of our army to an unparalleled degree of vigour and efficiency, and thus enabled the distinguished general who led them in the field, to achieve those victories which at once rescued Europe from the grasp of tyranny, and placed England not only the first in political station, but the first also in military renown among the nations of the world.

For these and numerous other services rendered to his country by that illustrious Prince, during an active life of public duty, we willingly offer this tribute of admiration to his virtues, and honour to his memory; and while anxious to mingle our voice in the lamentations of a grateful and admiring people, for the loss of so invaluable an appendage of your Majesty's Crown, we fondly hope the multiplied testimonies of condolence, poured in from every quarter of your dominions, will afford the most gratifying of all human consolations, in soothing the anguish and alleviating the sufferings of your royal heart on this melancholy occasion.

Signed and passed at a public meeting of the Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Denbigh, the 25th day of January 1827, at the request and on behalf of the meeting.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most attached and loyal subjects, the Protestant Nobility, Clergy, Gentry, and Inhabitants of the County of Cavan, with sentiments of deep sorrow approach the Throne, to offer to your Majesty our expressions of condolence on the heavy affliction which your Majesty and the Kingdom have lately sustained.

In this calamity, a Nation shares in your Majesty's bereavement, and sympathises in your Majesty's sorrow; society mourns the loss of a bright ornament, a Prince, not more distinguished by his lofty station, than by the urbane condescension of his manners, and the kindly charities which uniformly embellished his life; the British army deplores the loss of a Commander, whose exertions to prepare his battalions for victory, were not more calculated to attach the hearts of the brave men than his paternal solicitude for the humblest soldier, and his assurance that the widow should not be left desolate, nor his orphan without a father.

We lament that the Constitution, in Church and State, has lost a Protector, whose steadfast and uncompromising devotedness to a cause which involved his country's best interests, was well befitting a Member of the illustrious House from which he sprang, and a supporter of the Throne which he revered.

We have always regarded His Royal Highness the Duke of York as a boon granted to the nation for a special and most important purposes; and we shall never, in the enjoyment derived from the blessings bestowed upon us, forget the instrumentality through which our country was preserved.

Could the sincere and fervent prayers of faithful and affectionate hearts have averted a grievous calamity, we should not have to deplore the loss of the illustrious departed. The language of panegyric is inadequate to describe our sense of his service to the State: the voice of lamentation cannot express our grief. May the Great Being who gave, and who hath taken away, be gracious to console your Majesty in the heavy affliction which He hath sent; and may He dispose the hearts of all your Majesty's subjects to honour the name of him whose loss they will long deplore, by continuing to support, and by studying to adorn those principles of loyalty and patriotism, of which the lamented Prince was at once the bright example, and the constitutional and uncompromising defender.

Signed on behalf of the Protestant Nobility, Clergy, Gentry, and Inhabitants of the County of Cavan.

To His Most Gracious Majesty King George the Fourth.

The Address of the Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, Commissioners of Supply, and Heritors of the County of Nairn.

WE, your Majesty's faithful subjects, the Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, Commissioners of Supply, and Heritors of the County of Nairn, beg leave humbly to approach your Majesty with the expression of our heartfelt condolence on the lamented death of your Royal Brother, the Duke of York and Albany, an event which we deeply deplore.

As Commander-in-Chief of your Majesty's forces the merits of His Royal Highness shone pre-eminent, and to his unremitting exertions this country is mainly indebted for the unrivalled discipline of your Majesty's troops, and for those splendid victories achieved by their bravery and good conduct in every quarter of the globe where they have been engaged: while the unwearied attention of His Royal Highness to whatever might tend to promote the comfort and welfare of every rank in the army, will for ever embalm his memory in the grateful recollection of the British Nation.

That Almighty God may support your Majesty under this afflicting dispensation of His Providence is our sincere prayer.

Signed in our name and by our appointment, by
H. Rose, P.

[Transmitted by the Vice-Lieutenant of Nairnshire, H. Rose, Esq.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council of the City of Bristol, in Common Council assembled, humbly beg leave to approach your Majesty, under feelings of deep affliction, to offer our heartfelt tribute of condolence on the mournful occasion of the death of your Majesty's beloved Brother, His late Royal Highness the Duke of York.

We regret, in common with all your Majesty's faithful subjects, that we are deprived of those eminent talents and indefatigable exertions whereby the British army has been brought to its present unrivalled state of discipline and excellence; and we feel assured that it is to the wise and discreet regulations adopted by the late Commander-in-Chief, that we are greatly indebted for the glorious victories which have elevated this kingdom to its present exalted state among nations.

It is also in the character of a Christian soldier that we have to deplore the loss of this illustrious Prince, and we reflect with sentiments of the deepest veneration and respect on his unwearied efforts for the support of our civil liberties, and the maintenance of the Protestant Religion, as established by the wise policy of our ancestors. But, although the grief of the country is so universally manifested on this melancholy event, we ought not to forget the unparalleled blessings with which we are surrounded, and the continued enjoyment of which is secured to us under your Majesty's wise and paternal Government. We feel the deepest gratitude to the Almighty for having preserved your Majesty's invaluable health, and extended that support which alone could have sustained your Majesty under the late dispensation of His providence.

Permit us, gracious Sire, humbly to express our most anxious solicitude that your Majesty may long continue to govern your faithful and attached people in the enjoyment of health and every earthly happiness, and to assure your Majesty that there is no part of your extended dominions in which sentiments of gratitude, and attachment to your Majesty's Person and illustrious House are more warmly felt and cherished than in this ancient and loyal City of Bristol.

[Transmitted by R. Hart Davis, Esq. M. P., and Henry Bright, Esq. M. P. for the City.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Admiral and Resident Magistrates of your Town and Port of Leith, beg with the most profound respect to approach your Majesty's Throne, to tender our deep and sincere condolence in the afflicting dispensation with which it has lately pleased Almighty God in His unerring wisdom to visit your Majesty, and your Royal House.

The uniform and uninterrupted attachment, which subsisted between your Majesty and your late illustrious Brother, His Royal Highness the Duke of York, must render the feelings of separation more intense, and in which we beg leave to express our deep and sincere sympathy.

By the death of His Royal Highness, your Majesty has not only lost an affectionate brother, a dutiful subject, and a warm and much attached friend, but the nation at large has lost one of its greatest and best benefactors.

The condescension and kindness with which he received all who had occasion to approach him, and the unshaken fidelity and uncompromising steadiness with which he discharged every duty of public life, endeared him to the whole of your Majesty's subjects; but more particularly in his character of Commander-in-Chief, a situation which he held for so many years, his name will stand recorded in the brightest page of this nation's history; to his unwearied attention to the varied duties of that important situation; to the wisdom with which he planned, and to the firmness with which he executed the various improvements in our army; to the minute attention which he paid to the comforts of the soldiers, from the private to the highest officer; to the obliging condescension with which he listened, and the impartiality with which he judged of all applications, from whatever rank of the army they came; and to the liberal and benevolent institutions which His Royal Highness founded for the education of youth, the relief of the veteran and wounded, and the protection of the widows and orphans of soldiers: to these, under the Government of your Majesty, this nation is principally indebted for the high state of military glory in which it at present stands: these called forth the admiration and the affection of every individual in the country, and while they made the character of His Royal Highness beloved when in life, they will be handed down to posterity as the most honourable monument to His Royal Highness' memory.

If, in the midst of such an afflicting dispensation, your Majesty can derive any consolation from reflecting on the talents, the virtues, and the exalted character of your late illustrious brother, it may add to that consolation to be assured, that his memory is embalmed in the hearts and the affections of your people.

That Almighty God may bless your Majesty; that He may comfort and support you under this afflicting bereavement; and that He may prosper and prolong your reign, over a free, loyal and happy people, are the fervent prayers of, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Admiral and Resident Magistrates of Leith.

Signed in our name, in our presence, and by our appointment, and the seal of the Town affixed, at Leith, the 13th day of January, 1827 years.
