To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, High Steward, Recorder, Capital Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of the Borough of Dorchester, beg leave to approach your Majesty with the liveliest feelings of condolence and sympathy on the irreparable loss your Majesty and the British Nation have sustained, by the death of that illustrious and ever-to-be-lamented Prince, His Royal Highness Frederick Duke of York and Albany.

We feel that this melancholy event has at once deprived the civil and religious institutions of this Protestant country of a firm and undaunted defender, the army of a steady friend and most able director, public and private charities of a zealour advocate and generous benefactor, and your Majesty of an honest counsellor and kindly affectionate brother,

Whilst we, in common with all your Majesty's faithful subjects, deeply deplore this national calamity, we would renew to your Majesty the assurance of our unabated attachment to your Majesty's Royal Person and Government, most ardently praying that your Majesty, through Divine Providence, may long be preserved to wield the sceptre of these realms and receive the love and gratitude of a loyal and devoted people.

To His Most Excellent Majesty George the Fourth of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, KING.

The humble Address of the Noblemen, Lieutenancy, Freeholders, Landholders, Justices of the Peace, Commissioners of Supply, and other Gentlemen of the County of Banff.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Noblemen, Lieutenancy, Freeholders, Landholders, Justices of the Peace, Commissioners of Supply, and other Gentlemen of the County of Banff, beg leave to approach the Throne with the expression of our deepest condolence on the afflicting loss which your Majesty and the Nation at large have sustained by the demise of your illustrious brother, His Royal Highness the late Duke of York.

By this lamented event, your Majesty and the Royal Family have been bereaved of a most affectionate relative, to whom they were attached by the most endearing ties. The Nation have to mourn a Prince who was the pride and glory of his country, whose ear was never deaf to the call of humanity, and who was ever foremost in promoting all objects of benevolence and public utility. But chiefly have the army to deplore the death of a Commander, who, while he raised the character of the British arms to a degree of unparalleled lustre, was the steady and unwearied friend of the humblest soldier, ever ready to reward his merits, redress his wrongs, and to provide for his wants.

While we thus mingle our sincerest sympathies with those of your Majesty, and all ranks of your subjects, in this afflicting bereavement, we beg to renew our assurances, that under all circumstances, whether of national sorrow or rejoicing, we shall ever cherish a grateful veneration for your Majesty's sacred Person and august House, and an unalterable attachment to our glorious and happy Constitution.

Signed in name, in presence, and by appointment of general meeting assembled at Banff, this 30th day of January 1827. Fife, P. and S.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, the Master, Wardens, and Brethren of the Masonic Lodge, No. 18, Newry, impressed with the most sincere attachment to your Majesty's Person, Family, and Government, beg leave humbly to offer to your Majesty our deep felt sentiments of sympathy and regret on the death of your much lamented royal brother the Duke of York.

We humbly beg leave to express our unfeigned condolence and sympathy on this melancholy event, an event conveying to the breast of every good and loyal subject in your Majesty's dominions, the most poignant feelings of heartfelt sorrow.

We deplore the loss the nation at large has sustained by this awful calamity, the loss of him who gave life and spirit to our army; whose unwearied exertions rendered that army invincible; whose influence cheered the soldier on the day of conflict, conscious that if he fell, his widowed wife and orphans would find solace and support in him who was the soldiers' friend.

With the memory of a prince indelibly stamped on our hearts, whose endearing qualities in private life, blended with the above sad, but yet triumphant recollections, we humbly request your Majesty to accept this sincere testimony of our loyalty, attachment and sympathy.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Chancellor, Rector, Principals and Professors of the University of St. Andrew's, crave leave humbly to approach the Throne with sentiments of veneration for your Majesty's sacred Person, and of cordial attachment to your Family and Government.

Feeling deeply interested in every event, calculated to affect the welfare and happiness of your august House, we have beheld, with heartfelt sorrow, the breach which Providence has seen fit to make in the Royal Family, by the death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York; a Prince beloved by your Majesty with tender affection, and endeared to the Nation by his devotedness to its interests, and by the highly important services which he had rendered to it; placed at the head of the British army, at a period when the reins of discipline were greatly relaxed, he commenced, and successfully conducted the arduous task of its reformation, by such an impartial administration of its affairs as left no just claim unsatisfied, no prominent merit unrewarded, and no real grievance unredressed, and which procured for the illustrious deceased, the enviable title of the soldier's friend. Under his superintendance the army soon assumed an appearance which excited the envy, and raised the admiration of surrounding nations; and a spirit was infused into the whole system which produced the most beneficial results; which, under your Majesty's auspices, covered the British arms with glory, and led to the restoration of the liberties of Europe.

The loss of His Royal Highness we regard as a national calamity of the most afflictive description; and it must be a consolation to your Majesty to know that it is so regarded; that you mourn not alone for the brother whom you loved, but that your affliction is shared with a loyal people, and that th most unequivocal marks of attachment to his person, and grief for his loss, and of respect for his memory, are exhibiting throughout every corner of this great empire.

That Almighty God may bless, console, and sustain your Majesty, and that, after a long and a prosperous reign over an earthly, you may be received into that heavenly kingdom where departed friends meet again, and where the voice of sorrow is heard no more, are our earnest prayer.

Signed in our name, by Melville, Chancellor; George Buist, Rector.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Noblemen, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Perth, approach your Majesty with the homage of our most sincere and respectful condolence on the loss which your Majesty, your august Family, and the British Nation have recently sustained by the death of your Majesty's Beloved brother, His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

To the zeal with which His Royal Highness discharged the duties of his important station; to the talent which he displayed in framing, and to his firmness in enforcing a strict adherence to the military system he introduced; to the impartial protection which he extended to real merit; to his attention to the interest and comfort of the soldier; are to be attributed the high reputation for military talent, which the British officers have so justly acquired, and that moral discipline which, united with native courage, has shed new lustre on the British army.

May it be some alleviation to your Majesty's sorrows to be assured, that a deep sense of the exalted qualities and princely virtues of the beloved brother your Majesty deplores, are permanently engraven on the hearts of your Majesty's faithful subjects, and that the sentiments which pervade every class of the British people, are grief for the loss, and gratitude for the services of him who was equally the benefactor of his country and the soldier's friend.

That it may please the Almighty long to preserve your Majesty to be the Father of a loyal and affectionate people is our most earnest prayer.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please our Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's loyal subjects, the Inhabitants of the Town and Borough of Brecon, participating in the sympathy now generally felt throughout the whole of your United Kingdom, venture to approach your Majesty's Throne, with the dutiful expression of our sincere condolence on the lamented demise of His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

Remembering the very eminent services rendered to your Majesty and the British Empire by His late Royal Highness as Commander-in-Chief of your Majesty's land forces; remembering the very useful establishments which have been founded and brought to maturity under the auspices of His Royal Highness, for the instruction of the British Officer, the comfort of the British soldier, and the education and welfare of the orphan families of those who have died in their country's service; remembering also the unremitted firmness, zeal and integrity with which His Royal Highness has at all times discharged his public duties, both in Church and State, we cannot but feel that in lamenting his demise, we deplore a great national calamity.

But while our feelings are thus excited by the admiration and gratitude so justly due to the memory of His Royal Highness from all your Majesty's faithful subjects, we are fully aware that the kind and amiable qualities of his heart must have peculiarly endeared him to his Royal brethren.

We trust that the recollection of these qualities will contribute hereafter, with the hopes which religion inspires, and the sympathy and attachment of a loyal and afflicted nation, to bring consolation to the mind of your Majesty.

May that Divine Providence which has so graciously been pleased to place this highly favoured land under the mild and auspicious guidance of the House of Brunswick, and has made your Majesty's Government and Reign so pre-eminently conspicuous in the annals of our country, be your never failing stay and support under every trial, and long continue to preserve your Majesty to the prayers and wishes of a grateful people, to the safety and welfare of those who shall come after us, and to the liberty and happiness of all the civilized world.

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and most dutiful subjects, the Magistrates and Council representing the Community of the Royal Borough of Burntisland, beg leave, on the occasion of the mournful loss which your Majesty has so recently sustained, by the lamented death of your Majesty's Royal Brother, the late Duke of York, to approach your Majesty with our most respectful expressions of condolence, sympathy and grief. This sad event has, at once, bereft your Majesty of a most justly valued relative, and deprived our country of an ornament and a prop. We sincerely pray that the poignancy of your Majesty's grief will pass away, and that your Majesty will long be spared to reign over a loyal and a faithful Nation. We most respectfully assure your Majesty of the firm continuance of our loyalty, duty, and attachment to your Royal Majesty, and your Majesty's Royal Dynasty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's ever dutiful and loyal subjects, the Magistrates and Council of the Burgh of Kilmarnock, in the County of Ayr, in Common Council assembled, most humbly approach your Royal presence on the present melancholy occasion, to condole with your Majesty on the affecting loss which you and the nation have sustained by the death of your illustrious Brother, the late Duke of York and Albany.

Sensible of the many virtues, both of a public and privatenature, which adorned this distinguished Prince, and aware of the highly judicious and creditable manner in which he administered the affairs of the army as Commander-in-Chief; and, at the same time, of the pious regard which he always evinced for the preservation of the Constitution of these Realms, in Church and State, we cannot but participate with the country in general in feelings of the deepest regret and sorrow for the lamentable event, by which the Crown and the Nation are deprived of the services of a Prince so amiable and estimable.

Most sincerely, therefore, do we now tender our heartfelt condolence and sympathy to your Majesty, and all the branches of the Royal Family, beseeching you graciously to accept of this tender as an instance of our constant and inviolable attachment to your Person, Family, and Government; and assuring you that it shall be our earnest prayer to the Great Disposer of Events, that your Majesty's reign may continue long and prosperous over a free, loyal and religious people.

To His Most Excellent Majesty George the Fourth, by the Grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, KING, Defender of the Faith.

The loyal, dutiful, and affectionate Address of Condolence of the Convener and Seven Incorporated Trades of the City of Aberdeen.

May it please your Majesty,

The Convener and Seven Incorporated Trades of the City of Aberdeen, beg leave humbly to offer to your Majesty their sincere expressions of unfeigned condolence on the mournful dispensation of Divine Providence, which has called from hence your Majesty's beloved Brother, His Royal Highness Frederick Duke of York and Albany.

The many public and private virtues of the illustrious deceased endeared His Royal Highness to all classes of your Majesty's subjects; and they have to mourn the loss of one, who listened to the just complaints of all ranks and stations of the British army, and unceasingly and successfully endeavoured to promote its discipline and comfort, and whose important services have been the means of raising the character of the British arms in an unparalleled degree.

The Convener and Seven Incorporated Trades of Aberdeen also join in the general expression of grief for the decease of His Royal Highness, looking to his conduct, in another particularly important point of view, viz. his having been a firm friend to the Protestant Religion, and his having unequivocally expressed his determination to protect the Protestant ascendancy, as one of the fundamental principles of the British Constitution.

The Convener and Seven Incorporated Trades of Aberdeen, while they lament the heavy loss of an affectionate relative, which your Majesty and the Royal Family have sustained, trust and pray, that the cheering influence of our Holy Religion may enable your Majesty and the Royal Family to suffer this bereavement with Christian resignation to the Divine Will; and they pray that your Majesty may long be permitted to reign in the affections of a free people.

Signed and sealed in presence of a general meeting of the Seven Incorporated Trades of Aberdeen, held within the Trinity Hall of Aberdeen, the 29th day of January, in the year 1827, in their name, and by their appointment,

The dutiful Address of the Court of Mayor, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses of the ancient Borough of Maldon, in the County of Essex, in Common Council assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, feel ourselves called upon at this crisis of universal sorrow and affliction, to offer our renewed assurances of attachment to your Majesty's illustrious House, and respectfully to present the dutiful expression of our condolence on the lamented death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York and Albany, by which your Majesty has sustained the loss of a most affectionate brother, distinguished by the enjoyment of his Sovereign's fondest attachment, the Country one of its brightest ornaments, the British Constitution one of its most faithful adherents, and the Protestant Religion one of its ablest and most zealous supporters:

We beg further to assure your Majesty, that we deeply participate in the poignancy of those feelings so universally expressed by all ranks of your Majesty's subjects, on the severe loss the nation and army have sustained by the death of the illustrious Commander-in-Chief, under whose auspices the military renown of these Realms has been raised to the highest degree of splendour and glory.

We appreciate most highly that excellence of personal dispositions and temper, which endeared so justly and so intensely His Royal Highness to your Majesty's affection, and at the same time we unite cordially in feeling, along with all your Majesty's subjects, that the ability and integrity, and signal public benefit, with which His Royal Highness discharged the important duties of the high office he filled, render his loss a heavy national calamity.

May your Majesty receive, by the blessing of God, all that consolation upon this trying occasion, which reason and religion afford to the pious and virtuous mind, under even the severest dispensations of Divine Providence.

The humble Address of the Guild or Brotherhood of Masters and Pilots, Seamen of the Trinity House of Kingston-upon-Hull.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Guild or Brotherhood of Masters and Pilots, Seamen of the Trinity House of Kingston-upon-Hull, humbly beg leave to offer our sincere and heartfelt condolence in that affliction with which it has pleased Divine Providence to visit your Majesty, by the death of your late Royal Brother Frederick Duke of York and Albany.

We unite with your Majesty's subjects in the deep affliction occasioned by this lamented event, which has deprived your royal and illustrious House of so distinguished a Member, and the Nation of a Prince, whose undivided attention as Commander-in-Chief to the interests of the British army, and whose firm and steady attachment to the Protestant Religion, as by law established, had justly gained for him the most unqualified respect and affection of all ranks among your Majesty's subjects, and will endear his memory to the latest posterity.

May your Majesty be pleased to accept this our humble tender of condolence, and that your Majesty's life may be long preserved to us, and your Royal Family to latest ages sway the sceptre over a free, loyal, and happy nation, is the sincere and fervent prayer of your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects of this Guild or Brotherhood.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of the Borough of Reading, in the County of Berks.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of the Borough of Reading, respectively beg leave to offer our condolence in the deep affliction occasioned to your Majesty by the death of your Royal Brother, the Duke of York, an event which we deplore as a national calamity, as well as an individual loss.

The ability displayed by His Royal Highness in the high office which he held, so much to the honour and advantage of the country, and the conciliating qualities which marked his administration of it, have been long the theme of universal admiration: that they were justly so is recognized by the sorrow which the army has shed over the grave of a beloved and highly valued Commander.

This mournful dispensation of Providence has also deprived the Church of a sincere and manly defender, but while, as members of that Church, we deplore this unexpected visitation, we reflect with feelings of consolation and gratitude on his zealous and unalterable regard for the Protestant Establishment.

We trust that the Mighty Disposer of all things, will shortly heal those wounds which it hath pleased Him, in his inscrutable wisdom, to inflict upon your Majesty and the Country: and that He will grant a long duration to the benignant reign of your Majesty, is the fervent prayer of your Majesty's devoted subjects.

Sire,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Bishop of Bath and Wells, the Dean, the Chapter and Clergy of the Cathedral Church of Wells, beg leave most humbly to approach your Majesty, and to tender our united and heartfelt condolences on the lamented death of His late Royal Highness the Duke of York.

None can be more sensible than we are of the many and splendid qualities which adorned the character of His Royal Highness, and conferred such important benefits on this Empire. We witnessed with delight the judicious regulations established by our Commander-in-Chief for enforcing a spirit of discipline and efficiency throughout the army; by these salutary improvements our troops became what they now are, and achieved those glorious victories which will ever adorn the annals of British History.

In effecting these regulations, His Royal Highness, in a peculiar manner, tempered discipline with kindness. Truly may it be said that he was the soldier's friend; and over no one of late has the grave closed with a more general or a deeper feeling of affection and regret.

We should, however, be wanting to the cause of truth; as well as to ourselves and the illustrious deceased, if we did not bear our willing testimony to that attachment and devotedness which was always evinced by His Royal Highness, in support of our excellent Constitution in Church and State.

Suffering, as we now do, under such a national privation, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, feel, as they ought to feel: the hearts of the people of England are bowed down as the heart of one man.

But though we grieve as men, yet still, as Christians, we grieve not as those without hope.

May Almighty God graciously support your Majesty's fraternal feelings under your present severe bereavement; and may His good Providence long preserve you, to the wishes and prayers of a grateful and a loyal people.

WE, the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy and Freeholders of the County of Northampton, beg leave to approach your Majesty with the sincerest sentiments of sorrow and condolence on the loss your Majesty and the Country have sustained by the death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

Attached by every principle of loyalty to your Majesty's Person and Family, and knowing, as we do, the affection which ever subsisted between your Majesty and His Royal Highness, we deeply participate in the affliction of your Majesty on this melancholy event.

We acknowledge with gratitude the obligation this Country owes to His Royal Highness for his great public services in the administration of the important department intrusted to his care during a long period of peculiar difficulty.

To him we are indebted for a temperate and judicious code of regulations, and for the steady pursuance of the same, which has raised the British army to the highest pitch of military glory, and by establishing a system of impartiality and assiduity, been the means of showing the real character of our gallant troops, and saving the country in the time of most imminent danger. His eye alike watched over the comfort and welfare of the highest officer and lowest private, so that, in truth, it may be said he was the soldier's friend.

We must also bear testimony to the excellent qualities and virtues of His Royal Highness, which endears his memory to all, and more particularly to those who had constant access to him. We now beg to add our earnest prayers, that the Almighty may bless your Majesty with a continuance of health, and that your Majesty's reign may be prolonged in peace and happiness for many years.

WE, the Noblemen, Deputy-Lieutenants, Freeholders, Justices of Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Aberdeen, in General Meeting assembled, beg leave, with the most loyal and dutiful respect, to approach the Throne, to express our sincere condolence with your Majesty on the late dispensation of Providence, which, by the demise of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, has deprived your Majesty of an exemplary and affectionate brother, and his Country, of one of its most approved, most attached, and estimable friends. We feel called upon by every principle of public and private gratitude to the person and character of our departed Prince and Benefactor, as well as, by our feelings of loyal attachment to your Majesty's Person and Family, to offer the sincere, though humble assurance of our heartfelt participation in the concern which is so universally manifested for the loss of a Prince, whose eminent public services, and whose generous and patriotic feelings, and above all, whose unremitting and impartial discharge of the duties of his high office, had so much endeared him to all descriptions of your Majesty's subjects. We humbly trust that the contemplation of the character of our lamented Prince, and of the talents which he so zealously and ably devoted to the service of his country, cannot fail to fix the admiration of posterity, and to hold forth a bright and lasting example to future ages. That the Almighty Ruler of Events may open every source of consolation to your Majesty on this painful occasion, and long enable you, in health and glory, to sway the sceptre of this Empire over a loyal and happy people, is, may it please your Majesty, the earnest prayer of your Majesty's faithful servants and subjects.

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen and Capital Burgesses of the Burgh of Kirkby in Kendal, in the County of Westmorland, most humbly beg leave to offer to your Majesty our sincere condolence on the lamented death of His Royal Highness the late Duke of York and Albany ; an event which has deprived your Majesty of a most affectionate brother and subject ; your people of a Prince (Heir presumptive to the Throne) whose well known firm attachment to our glorious Constitution, in Church and State, rendered him dear to every sincere friend of his country ; and your army of a Commander-in-Chief, whose effectual and unremitting attention to the arduous duties of that important office, and whose active benevolence in the discharge of those duties have so materially contributed not only to raise the character of that army to its present unexampled eminence, but to promote the individual comfort and happiness of every member of it.

We beg to embrace this opportunity of renewing to your Majesty assurances of our ardent loyalty and attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government, and our most sincere wishes that your Majesty may long continue to reign not only over, but in the hearts of a free, happy and loyal people.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Presbytery of Ayr, met in Presbytery, beg leave humbly to approach your Majesty with sentiments of respectful and sincere condolence on occasion of the lamented death of your Majesty's Royal Brother, the late Duke of York and Albany.

Attached to your sacred Person, no less by affection than by duty, we are deeply interested in whatever concerns our Gracious Sovereign ; and are most sensibly touched with an event which, to the cares inseparable from royalty, adds the feeling of domestic affliction.

Admiring, in the character of your late illustrious Brother, the strenuous and undeviating support of those principles which placed your August Family on the Throne of these Realms, we are at the same time convinced, that it is to the enlightened efforts of His late Royal Highness alone we are indebted for that distinguished eminence, both in point of military discipline and moral principle, to which the British army has attained, and by which, under Providence, it has achieved the deliverance of Europe.

While, therefore, we mourn his departure as a public calamity to the State, we cannot contemplate without admiration that strict impartiality by which, in the distribution of military preferment and rewards, party distinctions were forgotten ; nor can we survey without affection that Princely generosity which was invariably exercised in patronizing those who had nothing but friendless merit to recommend them to his gracious notice.

That the God of Grace and Father of Mercies may, on this occasion, pour into your Royal heart those consolations which flow from sentiments of reverence for the Divine Government, and of dutiful submission to the Divine Will, that He may sanctify this natural affliction, and by graciously prolonging your valuable life, may afford us the happy prospect of continuing to enjoy the distinguished blessings by which we are favoured under your beneficent sway, are the earnest prayers of, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's most faithful, most obedient, and most loyal subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Presbytery of Ayr, met in Presbytery.

We most humbly assure your Majesty, that the example thus set by the excellent Prince, whose death we, in common with the rest of our countrymen, so unfeignedly lament, is deeply impressed on the grateful minds of your Majesty's dutiful subjects ; and we fervently pray that the blessings which we have received from the paternal care of your Majesty's illustrious House, may long be continued to us and our posterity.

To His Most Gracious Majesty.

The humble Address of the Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Bolton-le-Moors.

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Bolton-le-Moors, beg leave to present to your Majesty our most unfeigned testimony of grief and regret on the demise of His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

We feel tenderly for your Majesty, and deeply for ourselves ; for not only have you, our beloved Sire, to deplore the loss of a good and faithful brother, but the Country at large is bereaved of the services of a kind and trusty friend.

The name of His Royal Highness was venerated throughout your Majesty's dominions, in civil as well as in military life ; and we believe that his memory is embalmed, with many a grateful tear, in the hearts of the people of England. The army has lost an unrivalled Commander-in-Chief ; the widow and the orphan have lost a most benenolent and powerful patron ; the Protestant Religion has lost one of its mightiest protectors.

We desire, however, to bow with acquiescence to the dispensation of an all-wise and gracious Being, to whom we beg, with all humility and affection, to commend your Majesty under this and every trial ; and we remain, as ever, your Majesty's obliged and devoted servants.

To the KING'S Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council of the City of Bath, in Common Council assembled, beg leave most sincerely to offer our heartfelt condolence on the loss which we have experienced by the death of your Majesty's illustrious Brother, His Royal Highness the Duke of York and Albany.

We pay this homage at the foot of your Majesty's Throne, in the full assurance that, as British subjects, we are presenting such sentiments as must be agreeable to your Majesty, and the august Family of our deceased Prince, as well as consistent with the honour and interest of the whole British Nation. It is as unnecessary for us to dwell on the happy results arising from the valour of our military and naval establishments, as it would be needless for us to expatiate on the evident fact of the high state of discipline to which the British army has been brought by the transcendent exertions of its late Commander-in-Chief; but whilst we thus most gratefully acknowledge these exertions, we have, with unmixed feelings of gratitude, beheld His Royal Highness' benign solicitude in the cause of our established Religion, so accordant with the spirit of our excellent Constitution, and the paternal vigilance and care of your Majesty's supreme authority. These considerations lead us humbly to pray that your Majesty may long live to cherish those blessings which have hitherto, under Divine Providence, brought this country to so high a state of glory, and so unfettered by the shackles of religious superstition and persecution, and that your Majesty's Councils may direct that we should be a bright example to all the nations of the earth of rational liberty, pure and reformed religion, and become the rallying point of all that is great and honourable in the world.

Given under the common seal of the said City, the 22d day of January, in the seventh year of your Majesty's reign.

[Transmitted by Lord John Thynne and the Earl of Brecknock.]

To the KING'S Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, High Steward, Recorder, Aldermen and Citizens of the City of Chichester, beg leave to approach your Majesty with assurances of our full participation in that feeling of grief, so unequivocally manifested throughout your Majesty's dominions, at the decease of his late Royal Highness the Duke of York, by which heavy calamity your Majesty has been bereaved of a most valuable servant and beloved brother, the Constitution of a most vigilant and anxious supporter, and the Country of a tried and honoured friend.

Upon this melancholy occasion it would become us to dwell on his distinguished merits; the army is his best memorial, the tears of his fellow-countrymen his highest eulogy. We cannot, however, permit this opportunity to pass without expressing our sincere gratification that, in the ardour of the soldier, His Royal Highness never forgot the duties of the Christian and the man: to him charity never appealed in vain, and from his impartiality merit met with its just reward: kind and generous himself in all his sentiments, he inculcated the principles of discipline and mercy; and whilst, by his exertions, war was robbed of half its horrors, the courage of the soldier remained unabated: his glory is identified with the prosperity of his country; the present age acknowledges and records his virtues and his services with gratitude; posterity will remember them with the same feeling.

In humbly offering this tribute of our condolence, we beg further to assure your Majesty, that the loss we now deplore will draw more closely around your Majesty those ties of affection and attachment which your Majesty's subjects invariably feel for your Majesty's sacred Person and august Family, and also to express our earnest prayers that your Majesty's life may be lengthened in all health and honour, and attended with uninterrupted prosperity and peace.

In testimony whereof we have caused the common seal of our City to be hereunto affixed, this 3d day of February in the year of our Lord 1827, and in the eighth year of your Majesty's reign.

The humble Address of the Magistrates and Town Council of the Royal Burgh of Rothesay.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Magistrates and Town Council of the Borough of Rothesay, in Council assembled, most humbly approach your Majesty, to offer the dutiful expression of our sincere condolence and sympathy on the recent afflicting loss which your Majesty and the Nation have sustained, in the death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York. This melancholy event we, in common with your Majesty's other faithful subjects, most deeply deplore, reflecting as we do, on the many valuable and important services His late Royal Highness has rendered to the country at large, as well as to the army, and by his uniform support of our invaluable Constitution.

We fervently implore Almighty God to pour down upon your Majesty the blessing of patient resignation to this dispensation, and while He may be pleased to grant to your Majesty health, happiness and long life, He may also confer on the United Kingdom prosperity and a continuance of peace, under your Majesty's august Councils, Signed in name and by appointment of the Magistrates and Town Council, at Rothesay, the 30th day of January 1827.

To the KING'S Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, Sheriff, and Common Councilmen of your ancient City of Canterbury, in Burghmote assembled, beg to assure your Majesty that our deep regret is identified with the feelings of every branch of the Constitution, for the severe loss this Country has sustained by the death of your Majesty's Brother, His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

At the same time that we deeply sympathize with your Majesty on the severe public loss which we have sustained, in common with the great departments of the State; we feel convinced it must afford a great alleviation to the mind of your Majesty, on this melancholy occasion, to know that such was the estimation in which your Majesty's Royal Brother was held, that all ranks have been, with one consent, most anxious to testify their sorrow to the utmost extent, and which token your Majesty must be assured will prove a lasting monument of the goodness and excellence of the character of your Majesty's Royal Brother.

We approach your royal presence, with assurances of the most ardent and constant attachment to your Royal Person and Government.

Given under our common seal, this 30th day of January 1827.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Bailiffs and Burgesses of the Borough of Leicester.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Bailiffs and Burgesses of the Borough of Leicester, in Common Hall assembled, presume to approach your Majesty's Throne with the expression of our sincere sympathy and condolence on the melancholy event by which it has pleased the Almighty to deprive your Majesty of a beloved and affectionate Brother, and your Majesty's loyal subjects of an illustrious Prince, towards whom they justly cherished feelings of the most ardent attachment.

In private life, no one of His Royal Highness' high rank ever conciliated more of personal esteem and affection; brave, generous, and noble-minded, he was alike an ornament to his rank, and a splendid example of firmness in principle, constancy in friendship, and of kindness and condescension towards all who sought to approach him.

In a public view, the British Empire has sustained a loss irreparable. As your Majesty has most truly and emphatically observed the able administration of the command held by His late Royal Highness; his assiduous attention to the welfare of the soldier; his unremitting exertions to inculcate the true principles of order and discipline; his discernment in bringing merit to the notice of the Crown, and the just impartiality with which he upheld the honour of the service, have, indeed, endeared him to the army, and will cause his virtues and his services to live in the grateful remembrance of the latest posterity.

By the indefatigable exercise of these and other high qualities, His Royal Highness elevated the moral character of the British army, and gave to it an unity and force which, under Providence, enabled it after a series of brilliant triumphs, to bring to a glorious and happy termination the great and eventful struggle in which the world had been so long engaged.

The profound grief with which this heavy dispensation has filled the British Empire must necessarily be felt by your Majesty's affectionate heart with peculiar and painful severity; but we trust that the fortitude which your Majesty has so eminently displayed on former occasions of afflicting trial, will again be your support, and that your Majesty will not permit your sorrow to prey upon that health which is so essential to the prosperity and happiness of your Majesty's faithful subjects.

That your Majesty may long be spared to the prayers of your affectionate people, is our earnest supplication to the Divine Disposer of all human Events.

Signed by the unanimous order of a Common Hall. Thomas Burbidge, Town Clerk.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Portreeve, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the Borough of Loughor, in the County of Glamorgan, with feelings of real sorrow for the great national calamity which has so lately visited these realms, in the lamented decease of His Highness, your Majesty's Royal Brother, the Duke of York and Albany, whom it has pleased the Almighty Disposer of all things, to call hence (we sincerely hope and trust), to another and a better world, take leave humbly to address your Majesty on this melancholy event.

It is not for individuals such as we are, to attempt enumerating the many virtues which adorned, and the great merits which were possessed, by the Royal personage whose death has occasioned such a melancholy void in the Government and Councils of these Realms; but, may it please your Majesty, we cannot refrain from adding, that it is too evident that the Protestant ascendancy has been deprived of one of its chief supporters; that your Majesty has to mourn for an illustrious, amiable, and affectionate brother; that the Nation at large has to deplore the great change which has taken place; that the Established Church must be deeply and sensibly effected at being bereaved of so firm, zealous, and unchangeable a defender; and that the whole army has to lament for the loss of paternal anxiety for its welfare, and for a just and impartial Commander-in-Chief.

We, therefore, with unabated loyalty towards your Majesty and all the Royal Family, (under whose auspices the British dominions have attained the summit of fame and unrivalled power,) trust that your Majesty will graciously be pleased to accept our unfeigned and sincere tribute of condolence and heartfelt sympathy on this most solemn and distressing occasion.

We devoutly hope that the Almighty Distributer of all Comforts will pour down on your Majesty, and all the Royal Family, the blessing of patient resignation on this awful visitation of Divine Providence; and we fervently pray that your Majesty may enjoy the inestimable blessings of health for years yet to come, and that prosperity may ever attend the descendants of the illustrious House of Brunswick.

Loughor, 5th Feb. 1827.

By order of the Corporation of Loughor,
R. Jones, Portreeve of Loughor.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and very dutiful subjects, the Aldermen, Common Council, Burgesses and other Inhabitants of the Town and Borough of Ruthin, in the County of Denbigh, ever anxious to testify our loyalty and unalterable attachment to your Majesty, humbly approach the Throne with feelings of deep condolence, sincerely to sympathize with your Majesty on the late melancholy event, the death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York and Albany. In contemplating the rare and amiable qualities which distinguished his illustrious character, in the discharge of the various duties attached to his exalted station, we have ample opportunities of estimating the severe and heavy loss which we have sustained, and which, therefore, we so deeply deplore the strenuous and indefatigable exertions invariably displayed by His Royal Highness, in upholding and maintaining the best interests of our Protestant Establishment in Church and State, are written in deep and indelible characters upon our hearts, and will be long treasured in grateful remembrance.

That Divine Providence may fortify your Majesty on this mournful occasion, and may long preserve your Majesty's valuable life for an admiring and a loyal people, is, and ever will be, our fervent and unceasing prayer to heaven.

On the behalf of themselves, and the Common Council, Burgesses, and other Inhabitants, numerously assembled at a public meeting in the Council Chamber of the Town Hall, the 27th day of January 1827.
