Published by Authority.

FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1827.

Heralds-College, February 28, 1827.

IN reference to the order for a general mourning for His late Royal Highness Frederick Duke of York and of Albany, next Brother to His Majesty, which was announced in the Gazette of the 9th January; these are to give notice, that it is not desired or expected, that the public should any longer continue to appear in mourning.

NORFOLK, Earl Marshal.

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Robert Peel, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, were presented by him to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Mayor, Jurats, and Commonalty of the Town and Port of Sandwich, in the County of Kent, at the Guildhall of the said Town and Port assembled, beg leave to offer to your Majesty our most sincere and respectful sentiments of regret and condolence on the very heavy loss which your Majesty and the Nation have sustained by the demise of your Majesty's beloved and august Brother, His Royal Highness Frederick Duke of York and Albany, an event which cannot but be powerfully and universally felt and lamented by all your Majesty's faithful subjects.

That, by the favour of Divine Providence, your Majesty may long live and reign in the hearts and affections of all your Majesty's subjects, and enjoy, in the fullest extent, to the latest period of human existence, every blessing that can insure private happiness and national confidence, honour, and prosperity, is our ardent wish and most fervent prayer.

Given under our common seal, the 12th day of February 1827.

[Delivered by Rear Admiral Sir Edward W. C. R. Owen, K.C.B., and Joseph Marryat, Esq. M.P.]

To His Most Excellent Majesty King George the Fourth, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, KING, Defender of the Faith, &c.

The loyal and dutiful Address of the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council of the Royal Burgh of Forres, in North Britain.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Provost, Magistrates, and Town Council of the Royal Burgh of Forres, beg leave to approach the Throne, with the expression of our unfeigned condolence on the mournful event of the death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York and Albany.

When we advert to the transcendent services of the illustrious deceased, to the uniform tenour of his character and actions, and to the elevated and encouraging influence of his numerous virtues, we cannot but feel that the Nation and the Army have to deplore the loss of a Prince, the memory of whose exalted merits will be recorded in the annals of the country, and cherished in the recollection of a grateful posterity.

Deeply sympathizing in the affliction inseparable from so severe a visitation, it is our earnest prayer that a Gracious Providence may administer consolation to the mind of your Majesty, and long preserve a life which has added so much lustre to the British name, and will ever be identified with the happiness and best interests of a loyal and affectionate people.

Signed in our name, by our appointment, and in our presence, at Forres, this 8th day of February 1827. J. A. Grant, Provost.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor and Burgesses and Inhabitants of the Borough and Town of Marlborough, in the County of Wilts, beg leave to approach the Throne with sentiments of profound respect, and with feelings of the most sincere sympathy and condolence with your Majesty on the late mournful event of the death of your Royal Brother, His Royal Highness the Duke of York and Albany.

All classes of your Majesty's subjects have long acknowledged, by their unanimous and cordial approbation, the high sense they have entertained of the exalted character of His Royal Highness, and their heartfelt gratitude for the important benefits which the Nation has derived from the firm yet mild exercise of the arduous duties inseparable from the high office of Commander-in-Chief of your Majesty's forces, an office which His Royal Highness performed, not only with indefatigable exertion, but also with unexampled impartiality, and with unremitting attention to the comforts, as well as to the discipline of the army, to which we are greatly indebted for the triumphant termination of the late eventful war, and for the proud situation this country still maintains amongst the military establishments of Europe.

The page of history will never cease to record the amiable virtues and unshaken sincerity of character of His Royal Highness in private life, the benevolence of his heart, by which he endeared himself to every officer and soldier in the army, and the kind and unaffected condescension with which he attended on all occasions to applications from all ranks of society.

Whilst we participate with your Majesty, and the other Members of your august Family, in the mournful feelings which pervade the whole Kingdom, we beg to renew our expressions of dutiful attachment to your Royal Person; and we humbly pray that it may graciously please Divine Providence to enable your Majesty long to dispense the numerous and inestimable blessings which your Majesty's subjects enjoy under your truly beneficent and paternal reign.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Bailiffs, and Commonalty of the City of Oxford, in Common Council assembled, beg leave to express our heartfelt sorrow, and to offer our sincere condolence on the melancholy event of the death of your Majesty's illustrious Brother, His Royal Highness the Duke of York, the late Commander-in-Chief, whose affectionate attachment to the person of your Majesty, and whose amiable disposition and exalted virtues were as much the objects of universal admiration, as his services to his country, and his steady and firm support of the British Constitution, in Church and State, were eminently great and meritorious. The able and impartial manner in which His Royal Highness discharged the duties of his high office has long been felt and acknowledged by your Majesty's subjects at large, but more particularly by those who were within the sphere of his power and protection. Deeply as we deplore the loss which your Majesty and the Nation have thus sustained, we are not without hope that your Majesty's grief may be alleviated in some degree by the proofs of attachment which your Majesty daily receives from a faithful and loyal people.

Given under our common seal, this 2d day of February 1827. So it is. Robinson, Town Clerk.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, the Provost, Magistrates, and Councillors of the Burgh of Jedburgh, humbly approach your Majesty to express our condolence upon the late lamented event of the death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, Commander-in-Chief of the army.

While affability and kindness of disposition adorned his character, and engaged the affectionate attachment of the social and domestic circles with which he was habitually conversant, the fidelity, zeal, and impartiality with which he discharged the duties of the most important station, obtained the public esteem and confidence, and rendered His Royal Highness the instrument of the most important patriotic services.

The wise and vigorous measures adopted for correcting every existing abuse in the military department, for promoting the comfort, honour, and efficiency of the British army, and the happy and brilliant effects of the improvements in the late Continental war, by the skill of our generals, and bravery of our soldiers, have excited the grateful acknowledgment of your Majesty's subjects of every rank and party, and will transmit the name of our late Commander-in-Chief to the admiration and praise of succeeding generations.

That your Majesty may long reign in the hearts and affections of a loyal and prosperous people is our most fervent prayer.

Signed and sealed in presence and by appointment, the 7th day of February 1827.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and faithful subjects, the Freeholders, Clergy, Justices of the Peace, Commissioners of Supply, and Heritors of the County of Wigton, beg leave to approach your Majesty to express our sympathy, and offer our condolence on the death of your illustrious Brother, His Royal Highness Frederick Duke of York and Albany.

We lament this bereavement, and pray that your Majesty and every Member of the Royal Family may be enabled to bear it with the firmness and resignation of Christians.

In common with the whole nation, we join in deploring the loss which the British army has sustained by the death of its Commander-in-Chief. We are sensible of the able, upright, and impartial manner in which he administered that great department of your Majesty's service. The love and gratitude of the army follow His Royal Highness to the tomb; his name, as connected with their mighty achievements, will live in the grateful recollection of your Majesty's people, and be recorded in the brightest page of British history.

That your Majesty may long reign over a free, happy, and affectionate people, is our sincere prayer.

Andrew Agnew, Preses.

[Transmitted by Andrew Agnew, Esq.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Warden and Society of the Royal Town of Sutton Coldfield, in the County of Warwick, venture to approach the royal presence, offering the unfeigned tribute of our condolence with your Majesty on occasion of the loss sustained by the Nation, and in an especial manner by your Majesty, in the demise of His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

We shall feel thankful and happy, should it prove any alleviation of your Majesty's sorrow, to be assured that the general voice, with which ours claims to be heard, bears most honourable testimony, both to the public character, and to the eminent services of the late Commander-in-Chief.

To speak for ourselves, while we can sensibly appreciate the affability, benignity and patient attention to cases of difficulty and distress in the private discharge of his high office, we are most alive to feelings of obligation for the benefit derived to the nation at large, from the improvement effected by the personal and indefatigable labours of His Royal Highness, in the discipline, the character, and the consequent effectiveness of the British army.

But we feel, that, as faithful subjects of the British Constitution, we should omit one grand claim upon national gratitude, were we not to refer, distinctly and strongly, to the memorable and manly avowal made by the illustrious deceased, of those Protestant principles which form the surest and only sure foundation, both of the peculiar government of this favoured empire, and of the reigning family under whose auspices we have so long and so happily enjoyed it.

[Transmitted by Lord Middleton, the High Steward.]

Unto the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Lord Lieutenant, Deputy Lieutenants, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Caithness.

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Lord Lieutenant, Deputy Lieutenants, Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Caithness, most humbly beg leave to tender to your Majesty our sincere condolence on the death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, an event which has diffused a feeling of deep regret on the minds of all who have observed and duly estimated the services of that illustrious personage in the important station so long occupied by him.

The indefatigable zeal of His Royal Highness in the discharge of the duties of his high station, his unremitting attention to the wants and to the discipline of the army, his uniform preference of the claims of merit over those of party, his liberal patronage of every beneficial institution calculated to promote the comfort of those who have spent their lives in the military services of their country, and above all, that kind condescension which suffered him not to neglect or overlook the claims of the meanest individual who sought his protection or assistance in any matter connected with the department over which he presided, are features in the character of His Royal Highness which have established his reputation on the finest basis, and will serve to hand down his name to posterity as a benefactor of his country.

In the national calamity which we now deplore, your Majesty has to sustain a still more afflicting share, and we desire to unite our prayer with that of all your loyal subjects, that your recollections of the event so wounding to your feelings, may be soothed by the reflection, that the name of your illustrious brother will be handed down to future ages with that honour which his public services and private virtues have so justly merited and so universally obtained.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and faithful subjects, the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of Hereford, beg leave to approach your Throne with unaffected heartfelt sorrow, to offer the tribute of our condolence with your Majesty and the Nation, on the afflictive loss we have to sustain in the demise of your illustrious Brother, the Duke of York.

While we reflect with admiration on that exemplary attention to the discharge of his high duties, which he manifested to the close of his life; while we acknowledge with gratitude the state of superiority to which the British army is advanced, through his unwearied zeal and assiduity, we review, with particular respect, that benevolent concern for the welfare and comfort of the meagrest of the military, which justly gained him the title of "The Soldier's Friend;" his friend not only as to personal wants and distresses, nor only in charitable regard to his widow and orphans, but, what comes nearer home to our professional sentiments, the soldier's best friend, in the provision made for his religious instruction, a boon of the most extensive charity, not less conducive to the interests of morality and the community than to the soldier's own happiness, present and future.

As members of a church, reformed from those corruptions which in former times perverted and disgraced religion, as well as government, we should be wanting in due respect for the merits of His Royal Highness, if we did not express our most grateful sense of that patriotic and solemn declaration which proclaimed the pure and uncompromising spirit of his constitutional principles, principles which he inherited from your most honoured Father, our late highly-revered and ever-beloved Sovereign; principles which placed your august Family on the Throne of these Realms; and to which, under Divine Providence, this Nation owes the enjoyment of true practical liberty, and an establishment of religion unsophisticated by the fallacies and unfettered by the traditions of men or the mandates of foreign powers, but limited and guided by the Word of God alone.

That these great blessings may continue to be guarded and preserved to this Empire, and transmitted to posterity, as received from our brave ancestors; guarded with the same vigilance and firmness which have immortalized the memory of your most venerated Father and illustrious Brother, and distinguished your Majesty's own Councils, we constantly pray the Almighty Governor of the Universe long, very long, to extend your Majesty's valuable life, and now, in alleviation to your family afflictions, to give you the comfort of beholding your loyal people enjoy all possible prosperity, together with these superior blessings.

In testimony of this our humble and cordial Address, we have affixed the seal of our chapter, this 10th day of February, in the eighth year of His Majesty's reign.

[Transmitted by the Lord Bishop of Chichester, Dean of Hereford.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Nobility, Gentry, Clergy, and Freeholders of the County of Antrim assembled, most humbly beg to convey to your Majesty the expression of our deepest sorrow on the recent and most lamented death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York and Albany.

If sorrow can be mitigated in the Royal bosom by the sympathy of the people, your Majesty will feel the poignancy of grief assuaged by the condolence of the nation, who sincerely participate with your Majesty in mourning an event which has deprived them of a Prince whom they loved, honoured, and respected, and your Majesty of a Brother whose dutiful affection and sincere attachment to your Majesty was unbounded.

In the career of glory, which attended your Majesty's arms during a long and eventful war, much of the success, under Providence, is to be ascribed to the indefatigable exertions of your late illustrious Brother, by establishing a system of discipline in your Majesty's forces which rendered your Majesty's arms the terror of its enemies, and the admiration of the world.

It has pleased God to call that august Prince from his earthly career, leaving to the nation the consolation of knowing his life was directed to the service of his King and Country, and that his exertions have been crowned with public benefits.

We again presume to offer at the foot of the Throne our sincere condolence, which, from a loyal and devoted people, we humbly trust may, in the hour of affliction, be some consolation to your Majesty.

Signed by order of the meeting,

Alexander M'Manus, High Sheriff.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, the Noblemen, Gentlemen, Clergy, Freeholders, and other Inhabitants of the County of Armagh, beg leave to offer to your Majesty the expression of our most sincere sorrow for the loss recently sustained by your Majesty, the Royal Family, and the British Empire, in the lamented death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York.

Attached as we are to your Majesty's Person and Government, we must deplore any calamity, which, while it affects your Majesty with grief, diminishes to your subjects the assurance of a continuance of that royal succession to which they are accustomed to look for the preservation of their constitutional liberties. On the present melancholy occasion, however, we are penetrated by personal considerations of the eminent services rendered to the Empire by the illustrious personage whom we lament.

We cannot cease to remember that, in the long and most arduous struggle, in which it was the fortune of the British Empire to be engaged, almost singly, against revolutionary France, we have experienced the effectual services of an army which had been fostered by the vigilant and paternal superintendance of the late Commander-in-Chief. When the maritime force of the Empire had annihilated the navies of its enemies, and it had become necessary that we should encounter on land the implacable foes of national independence, then was an army required, which could wage with energy a contest foreign from the ordinary habits of a maritime state, and then, too, was witnessed the efficacy of the provident care, which had long been silently exercised in preparing the means of finally securing the safety, and vindicating the honour of our country: nor is our sensibility to the public loss, which has been specially sustained in the decease of that great personage, limited to a consideration of the military distinction of the forces which he superintended: the soldiers of the British Empire, while they were rendered formidable to the enemies of their country, were also, under his direction, rendered so orderly and moral that, when at the restoration of peace, a large portion of the army was necessarily reduced, the public tranquillity never experienced any interruption: we know, too, that while these important services were effected, the army looked up to the Commander-in-Chief as their common friend and protector, the humblest individual was certain of finding an opportunity of making known his case, and of experiencing, with prompt and kind attention, all the consideration, and of receiving all the relief which circumstances would permit; the widow and the orphan of him who had fallen in fighting the battles of his country were well assured that they might appeal with confidence to the sympathies of a princely heart.

These are great and glorious distinctions which must indeed augment our sorrow, but yet suggest the gratifying and consoling sentiment, that the high personage whom we lament has not existed in vain, but has entwined our recollection of his services with our sense of the public safety and glory, of the benefits of public order, and of the best interests of the Empire.

To this testimony of our heartfelt concern in the calamity to which your Majesty has, by the visitation of Divine Providence, been subjected, in common with the whole Empire, we beg leave to add an assurance of our unaltered attachment to a Sovereign, under whose Government this Nation has not only maintained its independence, in a crisis of difficulty wholly unexampled, but has been exalted to be the common model of every people aspiring to the enjoyment of the blessings of freedom. We anxiously hope that your Majesty will, in the general and warm affection of your grateful subjects, experience some alleviation of a pressure of a domestic sorrow; and we earnestly explore the Almighty that you may long continue to govern an attached and faithful people, and to preside over the Councils of an Empire which has, under your sway, attained its highest glory.

Signed on behalf of the meeting,

Achison Saint George, High Sheriff.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sire,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Masters, Wardens and Brethren of the Guild of Merchants, Dublin, humbly beg leave to approach your Majesty with our heartfelt condolence, at this moment of great and general affliction, at the death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York. We, who have in him lost an esteemed and honoured Prince, our tried and valued friend, can well appreciate the sorrows of our gracious Monarch, who, by the same calamitous infliction of Providence, has also lost a beloved and affectionate Brother.

We should not so soon have intruded on your Majesty's afflictions, did we not conceive that after such a loss, your Majesty would derive some gratification from beholding the sorrowing sympathy of so many of your Majesty's loyal and loving subjects, for we feel that your Majesty will have turned your thoughts to the only consolation which a mind like your Majesty's can now receive, to the pure fountains of our true religion; to those great sources of comfort, in the most trying circumstances, we confidently commit your Majesty to regain that peace of mind, which, under the blessing of Almighty God, will ensure to your Majesty your people's wish—a long, a happy and a prosperous reign.

In testimony whereof the common seal of our Guild is hereunto affixed, this 15th day of January 1827.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Archdeacon and Clergy of the Archdeaconry of Bath, humbly and dutifully approach your Majesty, with the most sincere expression of sorrow and condolence, on occasion of the deeply lamented death of your Majesty's Royal brother, the late Duke of York and Albany: we feel that your Majesty has lost a firm supporter and comforter, amidst the cares of a crown as weighty as it is illustrious; and this Nation a steady and devoted friend to the welfare of all your Majesty's faithful subjects. We lament the loss of a Commander-in-Chief, who had raised the character of the officers and soldiers of your Majesty's armies, to a height far above any which they had before attained, and who had rendered them so efficient and complete at all points as to be the dread of the enemies of our country, while he provided for the comfort and well-being of them all, and especially for the religious instruction of the soldiers and their children. But, as Ministers of the Protestant Religion, as by law here established, we cannot sufficiently express our heartfelt grief at the late fatal stroke, by which we have been deprived of a Prince, who stood as a tower of strength to the Protestant Faith, and a steady and effective maintainer of the Established Religion of your Majesty's United Kingdom.

Amidst the deep and painful feelings of a visitation of such severe affliction, we yet derive consolation from the conviction, that the Protestant Religion, and the Church, to which we are devoted in conscience no less than in profession, may ever confidently look up to your Most Gracious Majesty's protecting and fatherly care; and we earnestly pray that it may please the King of Kings long to preserve your Majesty to us, to be a nursing father of our holy faith and worship, as by law established in this realm.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sire,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Archdeacon and Clergy of the Archdeaconry of Taunton, in the Diocese of Bath and Wells, beg leave most humbly to approach your Majesty, and to tender our united and heartfelt condolence on the lamented death of His late Royal Highness the Duke of York.

None can be more sensible than we are of the many and splendid qualities which adorned the character of His Royal Highness, and conferred such important benefits on this Empire: we witnessed with delight the judicious regulations established by our Commander-in-Chief, for enforcing a spirit of discipline and efficiency throughout the army: by these salutary improvements our troops became what they now are, and achieved those glorious victories which will ever adorn the annals of British history: in affecting these regulations His Royal Highness, in a peculiar manner, tempered discipline with kindness; truly may it be said he was the soldier's friend, and over no one of late has the grave closed with a more general, or a deeper feeling of affection and regret: we should, however, be wanting to the cause of truth, as well as to ourselves and the illustrious deceased, if we did not bear our willing testimony to that attachment and devotedness, which was always evinced by His Royal Highness in support of our excellent Constitution in Church and State.

Suffering, as we now do, under such a national privation, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects feel as they ought to feel: the hearts of the people of England are bowed down as the heart of one man; but though we grieve as men, yet still, as Christians, we grieve not as those without hope.

May Almighty God graciously support your Majesty's fraternal feelings under your present severe bereavement; and may His good Providence long preserve you to the wishes and prayers of a grateful and a loyal people.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Noblemen, Gentlemen, Freeholders, Heritors and Magistrates of the County of Argyll, beg leave to approach the Throne with sentiments of heartfelt and sincere condolence on the affliction with which it has pleased Providence to visit your Majesty and the British Empire, by the lamented death of your Royal Brother, the Duke of York and Albany.

Connected, as the Inhabitants of the county almost all are, with the profession of which he was the brightest ornament, and, therefore, most sensible of, and duly appreciating the entire devotion of his lifetime to the service of his country, we must view the high and pre-eminent state to which his exertions have raised the British army as a proud and lasting monument to his memory, whilst the affable and conciliating manner in which he discharged the arduous duties of his exalted situation, gained not only the deserved respect, but also the love and regard of every class of your Majesty's subjects, and fully entitled him to the endearing appellation of the soldier's father, and the poor man's friend.

That your Majesty may long continue to enjoy the blessing of health, viewing and directing the rising branches of your illustrious House, in emulating the example thus set before them by their ever-to-be-lamented relative, is our sincere wish and prayer.

Dan. Campbell, Preses, General in the Army.

The humble Address of the Inhabitants of the County of the Town of Carrickfergus.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Sheriffs, and the Inhabitants of the County of the Town of Carrickfergus, deeply sensible of the irreparable loss which your Majesty has sustained, in the premature removal by death of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, humbly beg leave to approach your Majesty on this melancholy occasion with the tender of our most sincere and heartfelt condolence.

Your Majesty has been bereaved by the Almighty Disposer of all Events, of a most beloved and affectionate brother, and the Throne of these Realms has been deprived of an heir, who gave the fairest promise of perpetuating that glory and renown with which your Majesty's reign hath already invested it.

But this lamentable dispensation has not only been deeply afflictive to your Majesty and your Royal House, but is felt by your Majesty's loyal subjects as a national loss, for by it the Protestant religion has been deprived of a most intrepid defender, who, at a period of peculiar interest, avowed himself its uncompromising adherent; and the British army, from the highest to the humblest of its members, must ever deplore him as their indefatigable friend; his judicious administration of the department in the state over which he so long presided: his unwearied zeal for the honour, comfort and discipline of the military service of the empire, while they have rendered the British army the most efficient and illustrious in the world, have justly procured for him the lasting respect and gratitude of every subject, no less than of every soldier.

That your Majesty may be supported by Him who woundeth, but whose hands make whole; that your Majesty may be blessed and long preserved; and that your Majesty's reign may continue to be glorious, happy, as it has already beyond measure proved, is the prayer of, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Sheriffs, and Inhabitants of the County of the Town of Carrickfergus.

Signed in our name, and by our authority, at a public meeting held in the Court House of the County of the Town of Carrickfergus, this 5th day of February 1827.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses of the Borough of Stamford, in the County of Lincoln.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses of the ancient Town or Borough of Stamford, in Common Hall assembled, most humbly beg leave to approach your Majesty, and offer our sincere condolence on the melancholy loss your Majesty has sustained by the death of His late Royal Highness the Duke of York.

The deep and general sorrow evinced on this awful dispensation of Divine Providence, will afford an indelible proof that the benevolent disposition of the late illustrious Prince, and the eminent manner in which he discharged every function of his high official duties as Commander-in-Chief, not only contributing to the comfort of the British soldier, but in an unparalleled degree exalting the military character of this great empire, secured to him the admiration of surrounding nations, and the just praises and affectionate regard of all classes of your Majesty's grateful and loyal subjects.

That the extreme grief which now so heavily afflicts your Majesty, may speedily find some alleviation, and that the Almighty Disposer of Events may guard your sacred life, and secure to your Majesty a happy and prosperous reign, we implore your Majesty to believe is our ever constant and sincere prayer.

Given at the Town Hall, under the common seal of the said Borough, this 12th day of February, in the year of our Lord 1827.

William Hunt, Mayor.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Magistrates, Clergy, Gentlemen, and Freeholders of the County and Town of Carlow.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, beg to approach your Majesty's Throne with expressions of sincere respect and condolence on the late much-to-be-regretted event, by which it has pleased the Almighty to deprive your Majesty of an attached and affectionate Brother, and your Majesty's loyal subjects of an illustrious Prince, towards whom they justly cherished feelings of ardent attachment.

No exalted personage ever conciliated more personal esteem and affection; high-minded and brave, alike the ornament of his rank, the example of constancy in friendship, and unaffected kindness and condescension towards all who sought to approach him.

In a public point of view the Empire has sustained an irreparable loss, the able administration of command established by His late Royal Highness; his watchful attention to the wants and welfare of the soldier; his exertion to inculcate an order and discipline heretofore unknown; the impartiality and strict discernment with which it was his unremitting pride to uphold the honour of the service that he was justly at the head of, alike endeared him to the army, and will cause his memory and his virtues to live in grateful remembrance of after ages.

The indefatigable exercise of His late Royal Highness' high qualification to preside over, have greatly elevated the moral character of the British army, have given to it a power and strength, enabling it, under Providence, after unnumbered brilliant and glorious triumphs, to bring to a happy, and we trust lasting, termination the eventful struggle in which Europe had been so long engaged.

This heavy dispensation has filled the British Empire with unaffected and profound grief, and must consequently be felt by your Majesty with affectionate but painful severity; however, we your Majesty's consoling and loyal subjects beg you will call to your support your fortitude under so afflicting a trial, and that your Majesty will not permit your sorrow to pray upon that health, so essential to the prosperity and happiness of your Majesty's faithful subjects; and that your Majesty may be long spared to the prayers of an affectionate people, is our earnest supplication to the Divine Disposer of all human events.

Walter Newton, High Sheriff.

Henry Seymour, Esq. to be Captain, vice Lord Dudley Stuart. Dated 5th January 1827.

Whitehall, February 22, 1827.

The King has been pleased to give and grant unto William-Lyde Wiggett, of the Middle Temple, London, Esq. second son of the Reverend James Wiggett, Clerk, Master of Arts, Vicar of Crudwell, and Rector of Hankerton, both in the county of Wilts, His royal licence and authority, that he, the said William-Lyde Wiggett, and his issue may (in compliance with a condition contained in the last will and testament of his cousin, the Reverend Thomas-Vere Chute, late of South Pickenham, in the county of Norfolk, Clerk, deceased) take and use the surname of Chute, in addition to and after that of Wiggett, and that he and they may bear the arms of Chute quarterly, in the first quarter, with his and their own family arms; such arms being first duly exemplified according to the laws of arms, and recorded in the Heralds' Office, otherwise the said licence and permission to be void and of none effect:

And also to command, that the said royal concession and declaration be registered in His Majesty's College of Arms.

Whitehall, February 27, 1827.

The King has been pleased to give and grant unto the Reverend Anthony Lister, late of Gargrave, in the county of York, Clerk, but now of Hornby-castle, in the county of Lancaster, His royal licence and authority, that he, the said Anthony Lister, and his issue may (in compliance with an injunction contained in the last will and testament of his relation; John Marsden, late of Hornby-castle aforesaid, Esq. deceased) forthwith take and use the surname of Marsden only, in lieu of his and their present surname of Lister, and that he and they may bear the arms of Marsden; such arms being first duly exemplified according to the laws of arms, and recorded in the Heralds' Office, otherwise the said licence and permission to be void and of none effect:

And also to command, that the said royal concession and declaration be registered in His Majesty's College of Arms.

Exchequer Bill-Office, March 2, 1827.

THE Exchequer Bills dated in the months of January, February, and March 1826, viz. 58 Geo. 3, cap. 45, for building additional churches; 3 Geo. 4, cap. 86, for carrying on public works and fisheries; 6 Geo. 4, cap. 70, £10,500,000, 1825, with the interest due thereon, will be paid off on the 28th day of March instant, when the interest will cease. Such bills will be received daily (holidays excepted), from ten o'clock till one, until and including the 23d day of March, at this Office, where lists are to be obtained, containing instructions for arranging the bills. The bearers must endorse each bill with their usual signatures, and write their names and residences at the bottom of each list; and where the names of holders are inserted in bills, the bearers, not being such holders, must previously obtain their endorsements. The bearers must attend to give receipts for the payment.

Payment may be obtained, if required, previous to the said 28th day of March, upon leaving the bills for examination one day prior to that on which such payment is desired.

New bills, bearing an interest of two pence by the day upon every one hundred pounds, and dated the said 28th day of March, may be obtained in whole or in part payment of principal, upon stating the required amount on the lists, delivered on or before the said 23d day of March, which new bills, with the interest on the bills exchanged, will be issued on the 29th day of March.

N. B. All Exchequer Bills, dated prior to January 1826, have been advertised to be paid off.

PURSUANT to an Act of Parliament, passed in the fortieth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Third, the Provost and Senior Fellows of Trinity College, Dublin, do hereby publish and declare their direction, that Dr. James Macartney shall continue to hold the Professorship of Anatomy and Surgery in the University of Dublin, for the term of seven years, to commence on the 21st day of June next.

Robert Phipps, Register, Trinity College, Dublin.

Peruvian Mining Company.—Fifth Instalment.

No. 9, King's Arms-Yard, Coleman-Street, February 24, 1827.

THE Directors of the Peruvian Mining Company hereby give notice, in conformity with the deed of settlement, that they have come to a resolution to call for a further instalment of £5 per share from all the Proprietors of shares in the capital of the said Company, and that the said instalment is fixed by the said resolution to be paid by the Proprietors on the 26th day of March next; and the same instalment is to be paid at the Banking-house of Messrs. Frys and Chapman, in St. Mildred's-court, Poultry, London; and in further conformity with the deed of settlement, the Proprietors are hereby informed, that if the said instalment be not paid within ten days after the day appointed for payment thereof, interest, after the rate of £5 for every £100 by the year, will be payable on such instalment from the day fixed up to the time when the same shall be actually paid; and that if the said instalment be not paid within two calendar months after the day fixed for the payment thereof, the share or shares in the capital of the Company of the Proprietor who shall so make default, and all the benefits and advantages whatsoever attending the same, will be liable to be forfeited to the Company; but, notwithstanding such liability, the Directors are, by the said deed of settlement, vested with full power and authority to enforce the payment of the said instalment, instead of declaring shares to be forfeited.

By order of the Directors of the Peruvian Mining Company,

F. G. Tabart, Secretary to the Company.

The two last mentioned lots are leasehold for the remainder of a term of 999 years, commencing on the 16th May 1780, subject to an annual chief rent of £1 4s. which will be apportioned between these lots.

Lot 8. A chief rent of £1 5s. payable by John Henthorn, and secured upon a public-house and premises, known by the sign of the Moor Cock, situate near Ogden Edge aforesaid.

Lot 9. A chief rent of 7s. payable by the Executors of the late Benjamin Whitehead, and secured upon a farm-house and buildings, situate at, or known by the name of, White Slack, near Ogden Edge aforesaid.

Lot 10. All that capital mill, called Wood-Mill, now used as a carding-mill, with the water-fall; reservoirs, water-wheel, drums, shafts, and heavy gear thereto belonging, and late in the occupation of the said Edward Ainsworth.

The mill is 71 feet 6 inches long, and 37 feet wide, and is three stories high, and the water-wheel 21 feet in diameter.— This lot is held by lease for the term of 887 years, from the 8th day of September 1803, subject to the payment of the annual chief rent of £10, and has a constant supply of water of 22 feet fall, equal to about eight horse power.

Lot 11. All that other capital mill, called Ogden-Mill, now used as a fulling-mill, with one cottage, drying-house; stoves, and the water-fall, reservoirs, water-wheel, drums, shafts, and heavy gear thereto belonging; and also four pairs of stocks, with three gigs of perching barrels and apparatus; also 1000 yards of out tenters, and 6 tenters in the stove of about 150 yards thereto belonging, and now in the occupation of Mr. Thomas Heap.

This lot is held by lease for the remainder of a term of 19 years, commencing on the 1st May 1823, subject to the payment of the yearly rent of £70 4s.

Lot 12. All that water-fall or water-stream on the River Tame, situate at Denshaw, in Saddleworth, in the County of York, and now enjoyed by Mr. James Whitehead, at a yearly rent of £30.

The above stream has a fall of 20 feet, equal to about eight horse power.

The whole of the above property is tithe free, and is situated between the two populous Market Towns of Rochdale and Oldham, being four miles distant from the former, and five from the latter, and eleven miles from Manchester, where all kinds of produce find good sale, and to which there is communication by good turnpike roads. The Rochdale Canal runs within an easy distance, and the estates are capable of much improvement. The mills are situated almost in the centre of the woollen-manufactory, to which they are particularly adapted, and, being supplied with strong springs of fine water, they are also suitable either for printing or bleaching-works, or other branches of trade where water is requisite.

For further particulars application may be made to John Vavasour, Esq. of Crossfield; Henry Kelsall and John Roly, Esqrs. (the Assignees of the said Bankrupt's estate), or Mr. Edward Ainsworth, all of Rochdale aforesaid; to Mr. James Grimshaw, of Manchester, Merchant, the Mortgagee of the premises; to Mr. Highton, Solicitor, Rochdale; to Mr. Henry Wood, Land Surveyor, of Brown-Lodge, near Rochdale; or to Messrs. Sergeant, Milne, and Sergeant, Solicitors, Manchester, at whose Office, and at Mr. Highton's, plans of the estates may be seen.
