TUESDAY, MARCH 20, 1827.

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Robert Peel, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, were presented by him to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously :

To His Most Excellent Majesty George the Fourth,
KING of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, Assistants, Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of the Town and Neighbourhood of Shrewsbury, beg leave to approach your Majesty, and to offer our sincere condolence for the great and heavy loss sustained by this country, upon the lamented death of your Majesty's Brother, His Royal Highness the Duke of York and Albany : and we beg leave, at the same time, to assure your Majesty of our sincere and unalterable attachment to your Majesty's Person and Family.

Richard Corfield, Mayor.

[Transmitted by the Earl of Powis, Panton Corbett, Esq. and Robt. Aglionby Staney, Esq.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Rector, Churchwardens, Vestrymen, and other Inhabitants of the Parish of Saint George Hanover-Square, beg leave to offer to your Majesty our sentiments of sincere condolence upon the heavy calamity which your Majesty and the Nation at large have sustained by the decease of His Royal Highness the Duke of York, a calamity which has clothed the Throne and Kingdom in mourning, and excited general and unfeigned sorrow : we enter deeply into your Majesty's feelings, upon the loss of a brother who had so justly endeared himself to your Majesty and every Member of the Royal Family ; and whilst, in common with the rest of our fellow countrymen, we deplore his death as a great national misfortune, we are anxious to express the sense we entertain of the qualities and services which placed him so deservedly high in public opinion : the manly openness and generosity of his disposition ; his uniform urbanity, courtesy and condescension ; the total exclusion from his mind of little views and motives in the administration of his high office ; his anxiety to promote in every way the welfare of all, (without distinction of rank or party) under his command, his earnest and successful endeavours to perfect the discipline and raise the character of the British army, these were his peculiar merits ; and so long as such merits are held in estimation his memory will be cherished, and his name will be mentioned with admiration, gratitude, and affection by the people of this country. It is our earnest hope and prayer, that it may please the Supreme Disposer of all Things, to support and comfort your Majesty under the present and every other affliction, and to continue to this Kingdom for many years the blessings of your mild and paternal Government.

[Delivered by the Very Rev. the Dean of Carlisle, Rector.]

Unto the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The loyal and dutiful Address of the Freeholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Ross.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, the Frecholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Ross, are anxious respectfully to present to your Majesty a loyal and dutiful Address of Condolence on the ever-to-be lamented death of His late Royal Highness the Duke of York and Albany, next Brother to your Majesty.

Deeply do we sympathize with your Majesty on the loss of a Brother, so early, so long, and so justly endeared to your fraternal heart ; but it is not your Majesty alone that has cause to deplore this afflicting event. In His Royal Highness the Nation have lost a Prince worthy of the stock from which he sprung, and of the nation of which he formed so distinguished an ornament : in him the army and the Country have lost a Commander-in-Chief, who, by an accurate knowledge of the various important duties of his office, a firmness and unremitting perseverance in the discharge of them, an acute discrimination in the discovery of merit, and an open-
