The Earl Marshal's Order for a General Mourning for Her late Majesty the Queen Dowager of Wurtemberg.

In pursuance of His Majesty's commands, these are to give public notice, that upon the present melancholy occasion of the death of Her late Majesty the Queen Dowager of Wurtemberg, His Majesty's Sister, it is expected that all persons do put themselves into deep mourning; the said mourning to begin on Sunday next the 19th instant.

NORFOLK, Earl Marshal.

Horse-Guards, October 14, 1828.

His Majesty does not require that the Officers of the Army shall wear any other mourning, on the present melancholy occasion of the death of Her Majesty the late Queen Dowager of Wurtemberg, than a black crape round their left arms with their uniforms.

By command of the Right Honourable the General Commanding in Chief,

HERBERT TAYLOR, Adjutant-General.

Admiralty-Office, October 14, 1828.

His Majesty does not require that the Officers of the Fleet or Marines should wear any other mourning, on the present melancholy occasion of the death of Her Majesty the late Queen Dowager of Wurtemberg, than a black crape round their left arms with their uniforms. JOHN BARROW.
