This day a Deputation from the Protestant Dissenting Ministers in and about the Cities of London and Westminster, waited upon His Majesty to present to His Majesty the following Address, which (being on the occasion of His Majesty's Accession) His Majesty was graciously pleased to receive on the Throne:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Protestant Dissenting Ministers in and about the Cities of London and Westminster, humbly approach your Royal presence, to express our sincere condolence on the demise of your Royal Brother, our late revered Sovereign, and to offer our heartfelt congratulations on the accession of your Majesty to the Throne of these Realms.

We call to mind with devout thankfulness to the Supreme Ruler in the kingdoms of the earth, that the reign of His late Majesty was distinguished by the unspeakable blessing of peace; we rejoice in the remembrance that under his auspicious sway all the useful arts were encouraged and promoted, science and literature were extended in a degree beyond example in the history of nations, reforms were made in the civil and criminal jurisprudence of the country, by which our legal institutions were brought still nearer to the evangelical standard of justice and mercy; the claims of humanity and Christian benevolence were enforced by the power of this great kingdom, in all the quarters of the globe, and the rights of conscience were invariably respected, and the boundaries of religious liberty greatly enlarged. We are also impelled by gratitude to acknowledge especially, that, under the liberal government of our late beloved Sovereign, the Protestant Dissenters of the United Kingdom were relieved from various disqualifying statutes, and were confirmed by express laws in their rights and privileges.

Your Majesty's faithful subjects, the Protestant Dissenting Ministers, have ever been devoted in their attachment to your Majesty's illustrious House, under whose gracious rule they have enjoyed blessings far beyond the experience of their forefathers, and they entreat you, Sir, to accept their sincere and ardent congratulations on your accession to the Throne of your Ancestors.

The known disposition of your royal mind assures them of your protection and favour, and they pledge themselves in your august presence, to promote amongst the people committed to their charge, loyalty to your Majesty's Person, Family, and Government, obedience to the laws, and all those virtues by which, under the Divine Providence, nations are rendered great and prosperous.

Our fervent prayers ascend continually to the King of Kings, that it may please him to pour down his merciful blessing upon your Majesty's Government, and to make your Majesty's reign long, peaceful, and happy; that he may give to your Majesty to rule in the affections of your subjects, throughout the wide extent of your Majesty's dominions, and to receive the satisfaction and delight, dear to the heart of a patriotic Prince, of seeing your people united in the bands of Christian charity, and contented and piously thankful in the enjoyment of the bounties of the supreme Providence, that so your Majesty's happiness may be increased and multiplied in the happiness of your people; that he may grant that your Majesty and your illustrious Consort, our most gracious Queen, may enjoy together all earthly felicity; and that he may hear and answer the united supplications of your people, and vouchsafe, that, after a reign of virtuous glory, your Majesty may exchange an earthly for a heavenly crown.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

"This public demonstration of your attachment to my Person and Government, is entitled to my warmest thanks.

"The justice which you have rendered to the memory of my lamented Brother, and the gratitude which you express for the full measure of relief granted during his reign, to the Protestant Dissenters of the United Kingdom, are highly consolatory and satisfactory to my feelings.

"I place entire confidence in the fulfilment of your engagements, to promote among those of my people who are committed to your spiritual charge, loyalty to the Throne, and obedience to the Laws; and I assure you in return, that it will be one of the first objects of my solicitude, to maintain inviolate the civil rights and privileges of all my faithful subjects."

St. James's Palace, July 28, 1830.

THIS day a Deputation from the Religious Society of Friends waited upon His Majesty, to present to his Majesty the following Address, which (being on the occasion of His Majesty's accession), His Majesty was graciously pleased to receive on the Throne:

To WILLIAM the FOURTH, KING of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and the Dominions thereunto belonging.

May it please the King,

WE, thy dutiful and loyal subjects, Members of the Religious Society of Friends, commonly called Quakers, and representing that body in Great Britain and Ireland, are anxious to avail ourselves of the earliest opportunity, after thy accession to the Throne of these Realms, to convey the assurance of a faithful and cordial attachment to our King.

We have sensibly felt the loss of our late beloved Sovereign, thy Brother. We gratefully acknowledge the uniform protection which our Religious Society has experienced from the reigning Family, in our conscientious endeavour to uphold our views of the purity and simplicity of the Gospel of Christ.

We regard the late reign as one happily distinguished in a remarkable manner, by the extension of religious liberty, and the preservation of the blessing of peace, measures truly in accordance with the principles of the Christian Religion, and eminently conducive to the happiness and prosperity of a Nation. May these blessings be continued under thy paternal government to us and to our children.

Permit us, O King, to intreat thy royal patronage and support on behalf of those various benevolent efforts, so conspicuous in this day, to promote the moral and religious welfare of all classes of thy subjects; may an increase of true piety and of every Christian virtue be known in this kingdom; may the pure and holy precepts of the Christian Religion be exalted in the administration of thy government, and thus may the gospel of life and salvation be commended to this and to surrounding nations; may God Almighty enable the King and his Council to rule in wisdom and righteousness.

Be pleased to accept the warm and sincere desire of a Christian people, that the blessing of Heaven may rest upon thee our King, and upon our Queen, thy Royal Consort, and that, living in the fear of God, you may, through the efficacy of the blood of Christ, and the sanctifying power of the Holy Spirit, be fitted, at the solemn close of life, to exchange an earthly crown for one that fadeth not away, eternal in the Heavens.

Signed by us, Members of a Meeting appointed to represent the said Religious Society in Great Britain and Ireland.

London, the 21st day of the 7th month, 1830.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

"I thank you, sincerely, for your condolence with me on account of the loss which I have sustained, in common with my people, by the death of my lamented Brother, His late Majesty.

"The assurances which you have conveyed to me, of loyalty and affectionate attachment to my person, are very gratifying to my feelings.

"You may rely upon my favour and protection, and upon my anxious endeavours to promote morality and true piety among all classes of my subjects."

St. James's-Palace, July 21, 1830.

THIS day the following Address was presented to His Majesty on the Throne, by Sir Harry Neale, Bart. which His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Corporation, and Inhabitants of the Borough and Neighbourhood of Lymington, beg to approach your Majesty with the expression of our unfeigned sorrow, for the death of our late lamented Sovereign, your Majesty's revered and beloved Brother, under whose glorious and auspicious reign the character of the British Empire has been eminently maintained abroad, and this Country, under Divine Providence, restored to the blessings of peace, after trials unparelled in the annals of history.

The paternal solicitude evinced by our lamented Sovereign, for the welfare and happiness of his subjects, has deeply endeared his memory to an attached and loyal people.

In offering our condolence to your Majesty, we most sincerely sympathize in every feeling that can affect your Royal mind upon this afflicting occasion; we humbly beg at the same time to approach your Majesty with our most heartfelt congratulations on your Majesty's accession to the Imperial Throne of these Kingdoms, and to assure your Majesty that it will ever be our ardent desire to testify, upon every occasion, our warm and devoted attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government.

It is a source of great gratification to your Majesty's faithful and loyal subjects to reflect, that in the Person of their Sovereign are not only united the high and important qualifications requisite for the government of a great empire, but that your Majesty also possesses the eminent advantage of a long and useful experience, acquired in the active and zealous discharge of a distinguished professional public duty.

It was with feelings of gratitude that your Majesty's faithful subjects received your Majesty's gracious declaration, that, being now called upon, under the Divine dispensation of Providence, to administer the government of this great empire, it was your Majesty's most anxious desire to maintain the reformed religion established by law, to protect the rights and liberties of your subjects, and thus to promote the prosperity and happiness of all classes of your Majesty's people.

That your Majesty may long continue to reign over this happy country, in the enjoyment of every blessing, is the sincere and fervent prayer of your Majesty's dutiful, attached, and loyal subjects, who humbly beg, in thus addressing your Majesty, to express their dutiful and devoted attachment to their most gracious Sovereign, Queen Adelaide, whose distinguished virtues and dignified condescension, will ever endear her to a faithful and affectionate people.

Town Hall, Lymington, 16th July 1830.

Signed on behalf of the meeting;

H. Neale, Recorder.

Whitehall, July 30, 1830.

THE following Addresses, having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Sir Robert Peel, Bart. one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, by the several persons whose names are respectively subjoined to each Address, were by him presented to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Whilst we deplore the loss of our late most gracious Sovereign, we most heartily congratulate ourselves upon the accession to the Throne of these Realms of a Monarch who has already evinced so kind a regard for the welfare and prosperity of his people; and we pray that Almighty God may grant to your Majesty a long and happy reign.

We likewise beg to make known to your Majesty the happiness we feel, that Providence has blessed your Majesty with a Consort, whose amiable qualities and virtuous conduct are not only a pattern to the nation, but will endear her to the hearts of your Majesty's loving subjects.

Impressed as we are, with a just sense of the loss we have sustained, we derive our best consolation from the accession of your Majesty to the Throne of these Realms, confident that under your Majesty's Government, and the free institutions of a Constitutional Monarchy, the rights and liberties of your Majesty's subjects, and the honour and security of the nation, will be maintained and protected. We therefore, as in duty bound, beg leave to offer to your Majesty our fervent wishes, that, under the blessing of Divine Providence, your Majesty's reign may be long and happy.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Magistrates and Town Council of the Royal Burgh of Queensferry, in Council assembled, humbly beg leave to approach your Majesty with our sincere offers of condolence, upon the death of your Majesty's august Brother, George the fourth, of blessed and glorious memory, whose prosperous and illustrious reign, under an over ruling providence, was the means of suppressing a tyranny the most fierce and cruel that ever desolated the earth, and of giving peace to the world; and while we deeply lament the loss of a Sovereign so amiable, and universally beloved, we rejoice that he is now succeeded by a Prince endowed with such exalted virtues as your Majesty is known to possess.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, Bailiffs, Burgesses, Vicar, Recorder, Town Clerk, and other Inhabitants of the Ancient Borough of New Windsor, in the County of Berks.

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, Bailiffs, Burgesses, Vicar, Recorder, Town Clerk, and other Inhabitants of the Borough of New Windsor, presume to approach your Majesty, and to offer the expression of our sincere and loyal sympathy with your Majesty's feelings upon the loss of your Royal Brother, our late lamented Sovereign. Of him it will be remembered, that a successful war and a durable peace were the results of his wise and vigorous government. It will be recorded that His late Majesty directed the inexhaustible energies of this nation to the triumphant conclusion of the most tedious and extensive warfare which this country has witnessed, and was in the latter years of his prosperous rule beneficently and happily occupied in realizing the blessings of peace, in the improvement of our laws, and the advancement of the social comforts which grow to perfection in periods of public tranquillity.

On the accession of your Majesty, we beg to renew to your Royal Person the profession of that loyal and devoted attachment which the inhabitants of this favoured residence of royalty must ever so warmly feel towards your illustrious House and Name.

From your Majesty's devotion, from the earliest youth, to a service which is a main support of the national honour, and from the well-known kind and benevolent character of your Majesty, we feel assured that the glory of the country, and the happiness of your subjects, will be the constant purposes, and the best rewards of your Royal cares.

That your Majesty may long dispense and enjoy every earthly blessing, is the earnest and affectionate wish of us, your faithful and loyal subjects.

The loyal and dutiful Address of the President and Fellows of the Royal College and Incorporation of Surgeons of the City of Edinburgh.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the President and Fellows of the Royal College and Incorporation of Surgeons of Edinburgh, beg leave humbly to offer to your Majesty our sincere and respectful condolence on the lamented death of our late beloved Sovereign, who, by his kingly virtues, and benevolent deportment towards all ranks and classes of his subjects, had, during the period in which he swayed the sceptre of these realms, secured to himself the respect and affection of a loyal people, and who, by his steady administration of the government, in times of difficulty and danger, has justly earned the character of a wise, a pacific, and a beneficent Sovereign.

While we have to deplore the calamity which your Royal House and the Nation have sustained, by the demise of a Sovereign, so much and so deservedly beloved, permit us, Sire, to express our thankfulness, that, by the favour of Providence, the Crown has now descended to a Prince of the same illustrious race, who, by his zealous devotion to the service of his country, has given the best presage of the future glory and happiness of his reign.

We beg now respectfully to offer to your Majesty our sincere congratulations on your accession to the Throne of these Realms.

That your Majesty, and your Royal and Gracious Consort, may long reign over a free, a happy, and a loyal people, is the fervent desire and prayer of your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Noblemen, Frecholders, Justices of the Peace, and Commissioners of Supply of the County of Selkirk, desire to approach your Royal Presence, to offer our tribute of condolence, on occasion of the heavy affliction sustained by your Royal House, and by the Nation at large, in consequence of the recent death of our late beloved Monarch, under whose auspices the British Empire enjoyed, in so high a degree, the blessings of internal tranquillity, and external prosperity; while we gratefully cherish his memory, and look back with pride and satisfaction on the glories of his reign, it is with feelings of bright hope and confident anticipation, that we contemplate the future prospect, when we behold the Throne filled by a Prince who has already endeared himself to the nation, by his example as a faithful and patriotic subject, and in whom we recognise the worthy representative of that Royal Stock, which has been for more than a century the pride and the ornament of the British Nation.

That your Majesty may be long spared to enjoy the grateful attachment of a loyal people, and that your reign may be lengthened and eminently prosperous, is the ardent prayer of your Majesty's attached and faithful subjects, who have now the honour of conveying to the foot of the Throne these the expressions of their loyal feelings.

The humble and dutiful Address of the Deacons and other Members of the United Incorporations of Skinners and Furriers of the City of Edinburgh.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Deacons and other Members of the Incorporation of Skinners and Furriers of the Metropolis of Scotland, beg leave humbly to approach your Majesty, to offer, in common with your Majesty's other loyal subjects, our condolence on the afflicting event which has at once deprived your Majesty of an affectionate Brother, and our beloved Country of a justly revered and much lamented Sovereign.

We would also beg leave most humbly to congratulate your Majesty on your Majesty's accession to the Throne of these Realms—an event which we hail with sincere pleasure, in the humble confidence that your Majesty may be enabled to pursue such measures in the government of this great empire, as, under the guidance and by the blessing of Divine Providence, may effectually secure to us, and hand down to the latest posterity, those civil and religious privileges which, as a nation, we have so long been favoured with, and through which we have enjoyed such prosperity and comfort, especially under the auspicious reigns of your revered Father, and illustrious Brother.

We only now beg leave to assure your Majesty of our humble and earnest prayer, that Almighty God may bless your Majesty and your Royal Consort, Queen Adelaide, and make your reign long, prosperous and happy, over a free, a loyal, and an affectionate people.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sir,

WE, your Majesty's faithful and loyal subjects, the Mayor and Commonalty of the City of York, in Common Hall assembled, approach your Majesty with our condolence on the recent death of your illustrious Brother. In him we have lost a King deeply revered whilst living, and who will long survive in the hearts and minds of his people.

It was not the ambition of conquest, or the aims of external greatness, which characterize the reign of our late beloved Sovereign—the true honour and happiness of his people were the objects of his more solid glory.

To His Majesty's care and duties you, Sir, succeed, and we have no doubt you will succeed also to that truly royal course of domestic government, which, in the happiness and love of the people, firmly fixes the stability of the Throne.

Under your illustrious Family the subjects of this kingdom have attained a height of prosperity which in other countries would be looked for in vain. May you long live to reign over them in the enjoyment of the honour due to a patriotic King, and in the full possession of that private happiness which the virtues and graces of your amiable Consort cannot fail to secure.

Given under our Common Seal, the 19th day of July, in the year of our Lord 1830.

Under the dispensation of Divine Providence, which has called your Majesty to supreme authority in the State, we desire most respectfully to tender to your Majesty the willing homage of faithful subjects, and our unfeigned assurances of ardent attachment to your Royal Person.

In offering to your Majesty our humble congratulations on your Majesty's accession to the Throne of these Realms, we reflect with grateful satisfaction on your Majesty's memorable declaration, on entering upon your Regal functions, and confiding in your Majesty's most gracious expressions of concern for the rights and liberties of your subjects, we look forward with hope and expectation, and earnestly pray, that your Majesty's reign may be eminently conducive to the happiness and prosperity of the United Kingdom.

Long may your Majesty be preserved to preside over the Councils and direct the energies of the nation, and by a wise and successful administration of its momentous affairs, may your Majesty live in the hearts and affections of a grateful and loyal people.

[Transmitted by the Earl of Rosslyn.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses, of the Borough of Harwich, in the County of Essex.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Capital Burgesses, of the ancient Town and Borough of Harwich, most respectfully request permission to approach your Majesty, and to present our cordial sympathies with the deep affliction in which your Majesty has been involved, by the death of your lamented Brother, and humbly to condole with your Majesty on the departure of a Sovereign, whose memory will ever remain dear to us all. We cannot forget, as Britons, the pre-eminence which we now enjoy among the civilized nations of the world. We cannot forget that our arts, our arms, our honour, are unrivalled; and our civil and religious institutions are unequalled, and we trust we never shall forget that, under Almighty God, we owe this proud pre-eminence to the mild and paternal kindness, the generous and noble patriotism, the exalted character of George the Fourth, for whom the nation mourns, with grateful remembrance, as sincere as it is universal.

Cheered by the well-known character of your Majesty, we earnestly entreat you to accept of our cordial congratulations on your accession to the Throne of your Ancestors; and assure your Majesty of our cordial attachment to your person, and of our utmost diligence, individually and collectively, to make every exertion to maintain and uphold the Government of our rightful King. We have entire confidence in the gracious assurance which your Majesty has been pleased to give to your subjects, and most loyally and cheerfully commit to your Majesty's protection, our religion, our laws, and every thing which is dear to us as Britons, confident that your Majesty, under Divine Providence, will continue to uphold the fabric of that glorious Constitution, in Church and State, which is the admiration of every other people, and the just security of the happiness and liberty of the subjects of this realm.

May your Majesty, and our gracious Queen Adelaide, long live to reign over us, in health, peace, and safety, the chief and seemly decoration of your Majesty's Royal Court, and the example of our own domestic happiness, blessed in your own august persons, and a blessing to a moral and religious people, whose cry is loud and sincere, "God save King William and Queen Adelaide."

Given under the Common Seal of the said Borough, at a Court of Common Council, held the 12th day of July 1830.

George Graham, Mayor.

[Transmitted by the Right Hon. J. C. Herries, M.P.]
