Sanders, of Exeter, Bankers, for the purpose of securing to them whatever sums might be due to them from the said Robert Dyer; and whereas the said Robert Dyer afterwards became Bankrupt; and a Commission of Bankrupt, bearing date at Westminster, the 24th day of April 1827, was issued against him, under which the Sanders to the said Assignees either to sell the benefit to be derived under the said policy of assurance, or to pay the premium in respect thereof; but the said Assignees considering the said policy not to be worth so much as the sum due to the said Messrs. Sanders, declined to interfere with the said policy, or to pay the premium in respect thereof, and virtually abandoned all right or interest in or to the said policy of assurance, and the moneys to be payable thereon, but never executed any assignment of their right and interest thereto; and whereas the said Messrs. Sanders have since paid the yearly premiums in respect of the said policy in order to secure to themselves the debt so due to them, and for the benefit, as they allege, of the said Robert Dyer and his family, and for no other purpose; and whereas there will be a balance due on the said policy of assurance to the amount of about £382 7s. 9d. to be received after payment of all sums due to the said Messrs.
