By the KING.

A PROCLAMATION.

WILLIAM, R.

WHEREAS by the advice of Our Council, We did ordain a certain Parliament to be holden at Our City of Westminster, on Tuesday the fourteenth day of September next; We, with the advice of our Privy Council, do hereby publish and declare, that Our said Parliament shall be prorogued, from the said fourteenth day of September next, to Tuesday the twenty-sixth day of October next; and We have given order to Our Chancellor of that part of Our United Kingdom called Great Britain, to prepare a writ patent for proroguing the same accordingly; and We do further hereby, with the advice aforesaid, declare Our Royal Will and Pleasure, that the said Parliament shall, on the said twenty-sixth day of October next, be held and sit for the dispatch of divers urgent and important affairs: And the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Knights, Citizens, and Burgesses, and the Commissioners for Shires and Burghs of the House of Commons, are hereby required and commanded to give their attendance accordingly, at Westminster, on the said twenty-sixth day of October next.

Given at Our Court at St. James's, the twenty-sixth day of August one thousand eight hundred and thirty, and in the first year of Our reign.

GOD save the KING.

(An alphabetical and numbered List of the Addresses presented to His Majesty, is printed at the end of the Addresses.)

Brighton Palace, August 30, 1830.

THIS day a Deputation of the Inhabitants and Visitors of Brighthelmston had the honour to wait upon the King to present to His Majesty the following Address, which His Majesty was pleased to receive very graciously:

No. 1.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Inhabitants and Visitors of Brighthelmston, humbly approach your Majesty, with the expression of our joy, upon being permitted to welcome your Majesty's arrival amongst us.

When our late Sovereign first visited Brighthelmston, it was a place of comparatively small importance. Your Majesty is now surrounded by forty thousand of your subjects. It may be said, therefore, that Brighthelmston almost owed its birth to the patronage of King George the fourth; and the many local charities which have sprung up under his countenance are standing memorials of the paternal care with which His Majesty watched over the interests of this Town.

Feeling, therefore, how much we owe to the residence of a Sovereign, we hail, with sentiments of the highest delight, the continuance of Royal favour towards us. It is our fervent prayer that your Majesty, with your gracious Consort, may long experience the benefit of our salubrious climate; and that Almighty God may bless your Majesty with increase of years, of honour, and of happiness.
