Whitehall, January 15, 1831.

The King has been pleased to give and grant unto the Right Honourable Edward Venables Vernon, Lord Archbishop of York, Primate of England and Metropolitan, and Lord High Almoner to His Majesty, His royal licence and authority, that he and his issue may (in compliance with a clause in the last will and testament of his first cousin, George Simon, second Earl Harcourt) henceforth assume and use the surname of Harcourt only, instead of those of Venables Vernon, and bear the arms of Harcourt quarterly with those of their own family; such arms being first duly exemplified according to the laws of arms, and recorded in the Heralds' Office, otherwise His Majesty's said licence, and permission to be void and of none effect:

And also to command, that the said royal concession and declaration be recorded in His Majesty's College of Arms.

Whitehall, January 14, 1831.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto the King, that, on the night of Saturday the 8th, or early on the morning of Sunday the 9th, day of January instant, the stacks standing in the farm-yard belonging to a farm in the parish of Aust, in the county of Gloucester, in the occupation of Mr. Alway, were wilfully and maliciously set on fire by some evil-disposed person or persons unknown, whereby two large ricks of hay, and two of corn, were destroyed;

His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the felony before mentioned, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person who actually set fire to the said stacks) who shall discover his accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.
