Monsieur Monal having with him three Battalions of Foot, and two Regiments of Horse, hath possessed himself of Thuin in the Bishoprick of Leige, which he intends to fortifie, having sent thither by Water six Pieces of Cannon, and a great many Palisadoes. He has likewise put a Garison into Walcourt and the Abby of Alne, and has ordered more Troops to come to him from Philipville, Avesnes, and Landrecy, in order, as is reported, to block up Charleroy. The French have plundered several Villages in the Province of Namur toward Huy, by way of Reprisals for what the Prince de Vaudemont lately did in Flanders. And as Gonde and Tournay they have arrested all the Vessels that are there belonging to Mons and St. Ghislain in return of the Spaniards having seized several French Vessels at Gaunt. They have put a Garison into the Castle of Roisin, between Bavay and Quevrain, and intend to fortifie it. Placarts have been published on both sides for the confiscating the Estates of the Subjects of France and Spain within their respective Territories. The Marquis de Grana has, it's said, declared that he will recruit the German and Walloon Regiments to 1000 in a Company, and the Horse to 40 in a Troop. Our Letters from Germany tell us, that the Armies in Hungary are in their Winter quarters, That the Turks make mighty Preparations for the next Campaigne, the Grand Signior intending to command his Army in Person; and that he received the Grand Vilier very well, who is in as great credit as ever.

Marseilles, November 20. By a Bark arrived from the Coast of Spain, we are informed, that four Algiering Men of War had met with six or seven New-found-land Men belonging to St. Malo's and bound hither, and had taken three of them, being Ships of about 20 Guns.

Paris, December 1. Monsieur d'Oppede, late Ambassador from this Crown in Portugal, is arrived at Rochelle in his return from thence. The Count de Thoulouze, whom the King made Admiral of France, upon the Death of the Duke de Vermandois, has the Small Pox, he has been very ill, but it's hoped the worst is past. We are told that several Troops march towards Luxemburg.

Vienna, November 22. Yesterday about Noon a Merchant Ship of 300 Tuns belonging to Emchuysen, run upon the Goodwin where she was soon after broke in pieces, but the men were all saved.

Westminster, November 27. There was yesterday in the Court of Kings Bench a great Tryal at Bar, upon an Action brought by His Grace the Duke of Beaufort, upon the Statute de scandalis Magnatum, against Sir Trevor Williams of the County of Monmouth Bar. The Tryal and Scandalous Words. And the Jury finding for the Duke, there was another Tryal in the Kings-bench, upon a like Action brought by His Grace against John Arnold of the same County Esq; The words which were very Scandalous, were fully and clearly proved upon them, and Ten thousand Pounds Damages were given His Grace in each Action.

Whitehall, November 23. His Majesty was this day pleased, as a mark of His Royal Favour, to confer the Honour of Knighthood upon Andrew Makdougall, Esq;

Whitehall, November 24. His Majesty having this Afternoon called an Extraordinary Council, was pleased to acquaint them, That the Duke of Monmouth did last night Surrender himself to Mr. Secretary Jenkins, having before writ a very Submissive Letter to His Majesty, wherein he resigning himself to His Majesties Disposal, humbly desired His Majesty and His Royal Highness would vouchsafe to intercede for him, to the End he might not be put to the Shame of a Trial, but that he might have the Honour to be heard before the Lords in Parliament; That His Majesty and His Royal Highness were pleased to grant his Request, and that accordingly he was brought to Whitehall, and there delivered to the Custody of the Yeoman of the Guard, and from thence sent to the Tower, where he now remains. That the Duke of Monmouth did likewise shew himself very sensible of his Crime in the late Conspiracy, making a full Declaration of it; but that having shewed an Extraordinary Penitence for the same, and made a particular Submission to His Royal Highness for his misbehaviour towards him; His Majesty and His Royal Highness received so much satisfaction, that upon this Royal Highnesses Desire and Intreaty, His Majesty was pleased to Pardon the said Duke, and thereupon did order My Attorney General to stop further Proceedings against him, but ordered he should proceed, notwithstanding, against all the rest of the Conspirators.

WHereas there is a considerable Sum of Money already paid in, to Mr. Child at Temple-Bar, towards the Lottery of the Jewels of His late Highness Prince Rupert. Now for the satisfaction of all such as have any doubt of the fair and equal Proceeding, in the drawing thereof: These are to give Notice, that it is intended to be drawn in manner following. As soon as the Money is all come in a day will be prefixed, and published for the drawing thereof, as has been formerly notified. In the Morning of which day His Majesty will be pleased, publickly in the Banqueting-House to see the Blanks told over, that they may not exceed their Number, and to read the Papers which shall be exactly the same size with the Blanks) in which the Prizes are to be written; which being rolled up in his presence, His Majesty will mix amongst the Blanks, as may also any of the Adventurers there present, that shall desire it. This being done, a Child appointed by His Majesty or the Adventurers, shall, out of the Mass of Lots so mixed, take but the number that each Person adventures for, and put them into little Boxes, (which shall be provided on purpose) on the covers whereof each Adventurers Name shall be written, with the number of Lots He or She adventures for; the Boxes to be filled in Succession as the Moneys was paid in. As soon as all the Lots are thus distributed they shall be opened as fast as may be, and the Prizes then and there delivered to those that win them; all which, 'tis hoped, will be done and finished in one day.
