FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1831.

St. James's-Palace, September 28, 1831.

THE following Address to the King and Queen, on the occasion of their Majesties' Coronation, has been presented to their Majesties and graciously received :

To their Most Gracious Majesties the KING and the QUEEN.

May it please your Majesties,

THE Inhabitants of South Shields, in a meeting duly convened, humbly beg to tender to your Majesties their most fervent and heartfelt congratulations, on the event of your having been invested with the Imperial Crown of those realms.

It is under a sense of the deepest gratitude that the Inhabitants of this Town approach the King's Majesty, acknowledging the benefits which His liberal and enlightened principles of government have conferred upon the kingdom since His accession to the Throne.

May the blessings of tranquillity at home and abroad continue during the reign of your Majesties, and may British arts and manufactures (which your Majesties are so anxious to encourage), continue to improve and to flourish ; may our commercial relations continue to extend ; may our learning and science increase ; and may all other circumstances combine that can add to our glory and greatness as a nation.

But should there arise any foreign commotion that may in the King's wisdom call for the interference of Britain, let us, trebly armed with a righteous cause, hesitate not to enter upon the contest with a full reliance on the prowess of our army and navy, which have hitherto, under Providence, accomplished such, and so many glorious achievements, and should any faction or party within those realms attempt to disturb our domestic peace (which may God prevent), your Majesties may rely on the faithful attachment of a loyal and grateful people.

In conclusion, the Inhabitants of South Shields humbly present an offering of homage to your Majesties, together with the fullest assurances of their regard and attachment to your Majesties, and to your illustrious House, and they beseech the King of Kings and Lord of Lords to take you under His especial protection, and that you may be favoured with health and long life to reign over a great and happy nation.

Signed on behalf of the meeting, in pursuance of a resolution to that effect, Nichs. Fairles, J. P. Chairman.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Mayor, Aldermen, Citizens, and other Inhabitants of the City of Chester, assembled in the Town-Hall, in consequence of a requisition to that effect, on this 21st day of September, joyfully avail ourselves of the opportunity of presenting our loyal and dutiful congratulations to your Most Gracious Majesty, on the happy occasion of your Majesty's Coronation.

We beg to express our strong and deeply rooted attachment to the Illustrious Family of which your Majesty is so distinguished a member ; a Family to which this country is indebted for so many and such lasting benefits.

We would especially record the feeling of personal attachment which we entertain towards your Most Gracious Majesty, an attachment founded in loyalty, and strengthened by gratitude for the various acts of your Majesty's Government.

We beg to express our grateful admiration of your Majesty's mild and paternal sway; of your Majesty's anxious solicitude to diminish the burdens, to extend the privileges and liberties, and to promote the happiness and virtue of your people; which adds so much to the glory of the Crown; which endears your Most Gracious Majesty to all your subjects; and will cause your Majesty's name and character to live in the grateful recollection of future ages.

It is our fervent wish that the life of your Majesty may be long spared, to promote the prosperity and happiness of your subjects; and that your Majesty may, whilst earning the gratitude and affection of your people, enjoy long continued and uninterrupted felicity.

THE following Addresses to the King, on the occasion of their Majesties' Coronation, having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Viscount Melbourne, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, were by him presented to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.
Sire,

WE, the Master, Wardens, Searchers, Assistants, and Commonalty of the Corporation of Cutlers in Hallamshire, the Town Collector and his Assistants, and the Twelve Capital Burgesses and Commonalty of Sheffield, in the same district, in the county of York, most humbly beg to approach your Majesty with our most sincere congratulations, in which we have the pleasure of knowing we are joined by all other your Majesty's devoted subjects in this town and neighbourhood, on your Majesty's Coronation, and that of your illustrious Consort Her most gracious Majesty the Queen, and to assure your Majesty that, in attempting to shew due honour on this occasion, all have united as became the people of so gracious and benign a Sovereign.

That the Crown, which, happily for these realms, is the undisputed right of your Majesty, may long be worn by one so worthy of it, and, at last, be resigned only for one of higher glory, is the fervent prayer of your Majesty's loyal subjects.

John Blake, Master Cutler; Thos. Asline Ward, Town Collector; Saml. Revell, Capital Church Burgess.

Unto His Most Gracious Majesty WILLIAM IV. King of Great Britain and Ireland, F. D. &c. &c.

May it please your Majesty,—Sire,

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, residing in the Village of Dunshalt, Parish of Auchtermuchty, Fifeshire, Scotland, again approach with becoming reverence to the Throne, to offer your Majesty our most sincere and hearty congratulations on your Majesty's Coronation; we are not wanting in the respect due by British subjects to the reigning Sovereign; but we will not conceal that we feel a special attachment and devotedness to your Majesty on account of the truly patriotic conduct of your Majesty, in consulting the wishes of the people respecting the great measure of reform. It is matter of universal rejoicing throughout the nation, that though the progress of that measure has been slow, the results, so far as the Commons are concerned, is now certain. We look forward with fond and trembling anxiety, to its reception in the House of Lords; much encouraged, however, by the confident hope which your Majesty's past decision and firmness embolden us to entertain that every thing constitutional will be done, on the part of your Majesty, to secure final success. And, fervently praying, as we do, that your Majesty may, through a long reign, enjoy, without disturbance at home or abroad, the united and grateful subjection of a nation made free, mainly by the generosity and courage of your Majesty, we beg to repeat our solemn declaration, that should any occasion require it, while the Government is conducted on the principles of the present Ministry, we will, with our lives and the whole of our means, defend and support your Majesty's Person and Crown.—We are, may it please your Majesty, Sire, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects and servants.
