

of the Gout at Posidam: That his Electoral Highness has given out Commissions for the raising several new Troops, resolving to put himself into a condition to bring an Army of 24000 men into the Field the next Spring, if there be occasion; and that it is the common discourse at that Court that a marriage is treating between the Electoral Prince, and the Princess of Hanouer.

Hamburg, December 14. There will be a great meeting the next week at Hanouer, of the Princes of Lunenburgh, to consult together upon the present juncture of Affairs. The Baron del Val, Envoy from the Marquis de Grana, Governor of the Spanish Netherlands, continues at the Court of the Duke of Zell, without having made, that we hear of, any considerable progress in his Negotiation.

Hague, Dec. 24. The States of Holland separated the 18 instant till the 22. when they reassembled, and the next day adjourned again till after the Holy-days, without coming to a resolution concerning the new Levy, which Amsterdam continues to oppose; and we are told that Delfe and some other Towns begin to be of the same opinion. The Heer Heinsius, who has resided some time at the French Court in the quality of Envoy Extraordinary from this State, being lately returned hither, has made report to the States General, of his Negotiation concerning the affairs of the Principality of Orange, &c. The Prince of Orange and the Council of State having drawn up a State of the Forces for the year ensuing, the same hath been communicated to the States General, who have ordered Copies to be sent thereof to the several Provinces, that they may consent thereunto; which it's believed they will readily do, it being upon the same foot as is that of this present year, without any alteration.

Brussels, December 21. The French Troops are marching towards Luxemburg, as is thought, to attack or block up that place. And from Flanders we have an account that between 10 and 12000 French having with them several pieces of Cannon, came on Saturday last to Deynse and Betteghem, between Gaunt and Courtray, intending, as we believe, to pass the Canal of Bruges, and to attack Damme, or to fall into the Country of Waes, but the sudden breaking of the Frost put a stop to their design. In the mean time they continue at Deynse and Betteghem, and the Marquis de Grana not knowing what they may attempt, has sent all the Officers that were here about their Recruits, to their several Garisons, and some Dutch Troops are ordered to march towards Flanders to joyn, if there be occasion, our Maistre de Camp General, who is at Gaunt. The Mareschal d'Humieres has caused a Placet to be published, whereby he declares, That being informed that several Villages within the Spanish Territories, which are under Contribution, pretend they are not able to pay the same, for that the most considerable Inhabitants, to avoid paying their part, are retired with their Goods and Families, he had commanded the Officers employed to raise the said Contributions, to burn the Houses and Farms which they shall find so abandoned. And that for every House or Village which the Spaniards shall burn within his most Christian Majesty's Dominions, he will cause a hundred to be burnt within the Spanish Territories. The French have put a Garison into Cheney between Namur and Bas- slogne, and it's believed they will do the like at Huy. We have several advices which say, that 14 Bassas having joyned in a complaint against the Grand Visier, the Grand Signior had caused him to be strangled, and had made Cupeoli, his Grand Visier, but we are unwilling to give credit to this news till it be confirmed.

Paris, December 25. The Spanish Ambassador is preparing for his departure; it's said he purpois to leave this place some time the next week. And we have advice that our Kings Ambassador in Spain, is likewise on his return. From Flanders we have an account that the Mareschal d'Humieres having drawn together between 10 and 12000 men, was marched with them towards the Canal of Bruges, and that his Majesty's Troops on the side of Luxemburg, are marching under the command of the Mareschal de Crequi. This day Te Deum was sung at Notre Dame for the Birth of the Duke d'Anjou, and in the Evening there was a very fine Firework before the Town-House, and the Streets were filled with Bonfires.

Deale, December 16. Yesterday in the Afternoon the Fleet of Dutch Merchant Ships, who were forced into the Downs by foul weather, sailed to the Westward.
