FRIDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1831.

St. James's-Palace, December 6, 1831.

THIS day His Majesty proceeded in state from St. James's-Palace to the House of Peers, where he arrived about a quarter past two o'clock; and, having alighted from the state coach, was received at the portico by the Great Officers of State and others, and proceeded to the robing-room in the customary manner.

His Majesty was there robed, and having put on the imperial crown, the procession moved into the House in the usual order.

His Majesty being seated upon the Throne, the Great Officers of State and others standing on the right and left, Sir Thomas Tyrwhitt, Knt. Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, was sent with a message from His Majesty to the House of Commons, commanding their attendance in the House of Peers. The Commons being come thither accordingly, His Majesty was pleased to deliver the following most gracious Speech to both Houses of Parliament:

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

I HAVE called you together that you may resume, without further delay, the important duties to which the circumstances of the times require your immediate attention; and I sincerely regret the inconvenience which I am well aware you must experience from so early a renewal of your labours, after the short interval allowed you for repose from the fatigues of the last session.

I feel it to be My duty, in the first place, to recommend to your most careful consideration the measures which will be proposed to you for a reform in the Commons House of Parliament; a speedy and satisfactory settlement of this question becomes daily of more pressing importance to the security of the State and to the contentment and welfare of My people.

I deeply lament the distress which still prevails in many parts of My dominions; and for which the preservation of peace, both at home and abroad, will, under the blessing of Divine Providence, afford the best and most effectual remedy. I feel assured of your disposition to adopt any practicable measures, which you will always find me ready and anxious to assist, both for removing the causes and mitigating the effects of the want of employment, which the embarrassments of commerce and the consequent interruption of the pursuits of industry have occasioned.

It is with great regret that I have observed the existence of a disease at Sunderland, similar in its appearance and character to that which has existed in many parts of Europe. Whether it is indigenous, or has been imported from abroad, is a question involved in much uncertainty; but its progress has neither been so extensive nor so fatal as on the Continent. It is not, however, the less necessary to use every precaution against the further extension of this malady; and the measures recommended by those who have had the best opportunities of observings it, as most effectual for this purpose, have been adopted.

In parts of Ireland a systematic opposition has been made to the payment of tithes, attended, in some instances, with afflicting results; and it will be one of your first duties to inquire whether it may not be possible to effect improvements in the laws respecting this subject, which may afford the necessary protection to the Established Church, and at the same time remove the present causes of complaint.

But in this and in every other question affecting Ireland, it is, above all things, necessary to look to the best means of securing internal peace and order; which alone seem wanting to raise a country, blessed by Providence with so many natural advantages, to a state of the greatest prosperity.

The conduct of the Portuguese Government, and the repeated injuries to which My subjects have been exposed, have prevented a renewal of My diplomatic relations with that kingdom. The state of a country, so long united with this by the ties of the most intimate alliance, must necessarily be to Me an object of the deepest interest. The return to Europe of the elder branch of the illustrious House of Braganza, and the dangers of a disputed succession, will require My most vigilant attention to events, by which not only the safety of Portugal, but the general interests of Europe, may be affected.

The arrangement which I announced to you at the close of the last session, for the separation of the States of Holland and Belgium, has been followed by a Treaty between the Five Powers and the King of the Belgians, which I have directed to be laid before you as soon as the ratifications shall have been exchanged.

A similar Treaty has not yet been agreed to by the King of the Netherlands; but I trust the period is not distant when that Sovereign will see the necessity of acceding to an arrangement in which the Plenipotentiaries of the Five Powers have unanimously concurred, and which has been framed with the most careful and impartial attention to all the interests concerned.

I have the satisfaction to inform you that I have concluded with the King of the French a Convention, which I have directed to be laid before you, the object of which is the effectual suppression of the African slave trade. This Convention, having for its basis the concession of reciprocal rights, to be mutually exercised in specified latitudes and places, will, I trust, enable the naval forces of the two countries, by their combined efforts, to accomplish an object, which is felt by both to be so important to the interests of humanity.

Regarding the state of Europe generally, the friendly assurances which I receive from Foreign Powers, and the union which subsists between Me and My Allies, inspire Me with a confident hope that peace will not be interrupted.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I have directed the estimates for the ensuing year to be prepared, and they will, in due time, be laid before you. I will take care that they shall be formed with the strictest regard to economy; and I trust to your wisdom and patriotism to make such provision as may be required for the public service.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

The scenes of violence and outrage which have occurred in the city of Bristol, and in some other places, have caused Me the deepest affliction.

The authority of the laws must be vindicated by the punishment of offences, which have produced so extensive a destruction of property, and so melancholy a loss of life; but I think it right to direct your attention to the best means of improving the municipal police of the kingdom, for the more effectual protection of the public peace against the recurrence of similar commotions.

Sincerely attached to our free Constitution, I never can sanction any interference with the legitimate exercise of those rights which secure to My people the privilege of discussing and making known their grievances; but, in respecting these rights, it is also My duty to prevent combinations, under whatever pretext, which in their form and character are incompatible with all regular government, and are equally opposed to the spirit and to the provisions of the law; and I know that I shall not appeal in vain to My faithful subjects to second My determined resolution to repress all illegal proceedings, by which the peace and security of My dominions may be endangered.

AT the Court at St. James's, the 7th day of December 1831.

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

THIS day the Right Honourable Thomas Erskine was, by His Majesty's command, sworn of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, and took his place at the Board accordingly.

At the Council-Chamber, Whitehall, the 13th day of October 1831,

By the Lords of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

C. C. Greville.

At the Court at St. James's, the 21st day of November 1831.

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the fourth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act to authorise His Majesty, under certain circumstances, to regulate the duties, and drawbacks on goods imported or exported in foreign vessels; and to exempt certain foreign vessels from pilotage," His Majesty is authorised, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, or by His Majesty's Order or Orders in Council, to be published from time to time in the London Gazette, to authorise the importation into, or exportation from, the United Kingdom, or from any other of His Majesty's dominions, of any goods, wares, or merchandise which may be legally imported or exported in foreign vessels, upon payment of such and the like duties only, and with the like drawbacks, bounties, and allowances, as are charged or granted upon similar goods, wares, or merchandise when imported, or exported in British vessels, provided always, that before any such Order or Orders shall be issued, satisfactory proof shall have been laid before His Majesty, and His Privy Council that goods, wares, and merchandise imported into, or exported from, the foreign country in whose favour such remission of duties, or such drawbacks, bounties, or allowances, shall be granted, are charged with the same duties, and are allowed the same drawbacks, bounties, or allowances when imported into, or exported from, such foreign country in British vessels, as are levied or allowed on similar goods, wares, and merchandise when imported or exported in vessels of such country:

And whereas by an Act, passed in the fifth year of the reign of His said late Majesty, intituled "An Act to indemnify all persons concerned in advising, issuing, or acting under a certain Order in Council, for regulating the tonnage duties on certain foreign vessels, and to amend an Act of the last session of Parliament, for authorising His Majesty, under certain circumstances, to regulate the duties and drawbacks on goods imported or exported in any foreign vessels," His Majesty is authorised (in certain cases), by and with the advice of His Privy Council, or by His Majesty's Order or Orders in Council, to be published from time to time in the London Gazette, to permit and authorise the entry into any port or ports of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, or of any other of His Majesty's dominions, of any foreign vessels, upon payment of such and the like duties of tonnage only as are or may be charged or granted upon, or in respect of, British vessels:

And whereas satisfactory proof has been laid before His Majesty and His Privy Council, that goods, wares, and merchandise, imported into, or exported from, the dominions of the Emperor of Austria, are charged with the same duties, and are allowed the same drawbacks, bounties, or allowances, when imported or exported in British vessels, as are levied or allowed on similar goods, wares, and merchandise when imported or exported from the said dominions of the Emperor of Austria, in Austrian vessels, and that British vessels are charged with no other or higher tonnage duties on their entrance into the ports of the dominions of the Emperor of Austria than are levied on Austrian vessels: His Majesty, by virtue of the powers vested in Him by the Acts above recited, and by and with the advice of His Privy Council, is pleased to order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the date hereof, Austrian vessels entering or departing from the ports of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, together with the cargoes on board the same, such cargoes consisting of articles which may be legally imported or exported, shall not be subject to any other or higher duties or charges whatever, than are or shall be levied on British vessels entering or departing from such ports, or on similar articles when imported into or exported from such ports in British vessels; and also that such articles when exported from the said ports in Austrian vessels shall be entitled to the same bounties, drawbacks, and allowances that are granted on similar articles when exported in British vessels.

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, are to give the necessary directions herein accordingly.

C. C. Greville.

WHEREAS at a Court of Mayor and Aldermen of the city of London, held in the Inner Chamber of the Guildhall of the said city, on Tuesday the 1st day of March, in the year of our Lord 1825, the said Court, in pursuance of an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the fourth year of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act for altering and amending two Acts passed in the eleventh and thirty-third years of the reign of His late Majesty King George the Third, for consolidating, extending, and rendering more effectual the powers granted by several Acts of Parliament, for making, enlarging, amending, and cleansing the vaults, drains, and sewers within the city of London and liberties thereof, and for paving, cleansing, and lighting the streets, lanes, squares, yards, courts, alleys, passages, and places, and preventing and removing obstructions and annoyances within the same," did appoint (among others) a certain
