Lord Chamberlain's-Office, January 2, 1832.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Drawing-Room to be held at St. James's-Palace, on Friday the 24th of February next, being for the celebration of Her Majesty's Birth-day, the Knights of the several Orders are to appear in their Collars.

Whitehall, January 7, 1832.

The King has been pleased to grant unto Christopher-Wilson Newberry, of Furnival's-inn, in the county of Middlesex, Gentleman, only child and heir of Thomas Newberry, late of Clapham, in the county of Surrey, Gentleman, deceased, by Harriet his wife, sister of Henry Wilson, of Upper Tooting, in the county of Surrey aforesaid, and of Bromhead-hall, in the county of York, Esq. his royal licence and authority that he and his issue may, in compliance with a proviso contained in an indenture of lease and release, made and executed by his maternal uncle, the said Henry Wilson, take and henceforth use the surname, and bear the arms, of Wilson only; such arms being first duly exemplified according to the laws of arms, and recorded in the Herald's Office, otherwise the said royal licence and permission to be void and of none effect:

And also to command, that the said royal concession and declaration be registered in His Majesty's College of Arms.

Whitehall, December 29, 1831.

The Lord Chancellor has appointed Samuel Edwards, of Chard, in the county of Somerset, Gent. to be a Master Extraordinary in the High Court of Chancery.

Whitehall, January 7, 1832.

The Lord Chancellor has appointed Frederic Fowell, of Hopton, in the county of Suffolk, Gent. to be a Master Extraordinary in the High Court of Chancery.

Whitehall, January 9, 1832.

The Lord Chancellor has appointed Parmenas Pearce, of Newton Bushel, in the county of Devon, Gent. to be a Master Extraordinary in the High Court of Chancery.

Whitehall, January 10, 1832.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto the King, that, on Saturday the 24th day of December last, upwards of one thousand pitmen riotously assembled together at or about Walldridge Colliery, near Chester-le-street, in the county of Durham, and, while from twenty to thirty men were at work in the mine, stopped the engine, necessarily kept going in order to pump out the water, and then threw large iron tubs, wooden cisterns, corves, and other articles down the shaft; by which stoppage of the engine, throwing down of tubs, &c. the aforesaid workmen were placed in the utmost danger;

His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the felony before mentioned, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person or persons who actually committed any of the aforesaid acts) who shall discover his accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of TWO HUNDRED and FIFTY POUNDS is hereby offered by the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, and an additional reward of TWO HUNDRED and FIFTY GUINEAS by the owners of Walldridge Colliery, to any person (except as aforesaid) who shall discover the said offender or offenders, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted of the said offence.

Admiralty-Office, January 11, 1832.

NAVAL HALF-PAY.

TO avoid the inconvenience and delay which has sometimes occurred in the payment of Naval Half-pay, by the irregular transmission of affidavits; the Commissioned and Warrant Officers of His Majesty's Navy, residing within the United Kingdom, and receiving their Half-pay through Agents, are hereby desired to transmit their affidavits to such Agents within ten days, at most, after the expiration of each quarter, so as to enable the Agents to receive the amount due on the days regularly appointed for the payment of the respective ranks.

George Elliot.

Admiralty-Office, December 28, 1831.

NOTICE is hereby given, that a Session of Oyer and Terminer and Gaol Delivery, for the trial of offences committed on the High Seas within the jurisdiction of the Admiralty of England, will be held at Justice-Hall, in the Old Bailey, London, on Thursday the 2d of February next, at eight o'clock in the morning:

And all Sheriffs, Gaolers, and Keepers of Prisons, in whose custody any prisoners, charged with offences committed on the High Seas, or within the said jurisdiction, may be, are hereby required to transmit a copy of the commitment of every such prisoner to Mr. Charles Jones, the Solicitor of the Admiralty, at his Office, No. 10, Lancaster-place, Strand, London, in order that the necessary measures may be taken, for removing all such prisoners to His Majesty's Gaol of Newgate, for trial at the said intended session. And all Mayors, Justices, Coroners, and other Officers, before whom any inquisitions, informations, examinations, or recognizances may have been taken touching any such offences, are required to transmit the same forthwith to Mr. John Clark, the Clerk of Arraignment of the High Court of Admiralty of England, at his Office, at the Sessions-house, in the Old Bailey, London.

George Elliot.

CONTRACT FOR CARRIAGE OF TIMBER.

Navy-Office, January 11, 1832.

THE Principal Officers and Commissioners of His Majesty's Navy do hereby give notice, that on Wednesday the 18th instant, at one o'clock, they will be ready to treat with such persons as may be willing to contract for

Conveying by Land and Water Carriage, to His Majesty's Dock-yard at Woolwich, about
174 Loads of Oak Timber from Sulcey Forest, and about
293 Loads of Oak Timber from Whittlewood Forest;

Also for conveying to Sheerness Yard, about 78 Loads from Whichwood Forest.

A form of the tender may be seen at this Office. No tender will be received after one o'clock on the day of treaty, nor any noticed unless the party, or an agent for him, attends.

Every tender must be accompanied by a letter addressed to the Navy Board, and signed by two responsible persons, engaging to become bound with the person tendering, in the sum of £400, for the due performance of the contract.

G. Smith.

Navy-Office, January 12, 1832

THE Principal Officers and Commissioners of His Majesty's Navy do hereby give notice, that on Wednesday the 25th instant, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, Commissioner Sir Michael Seymour, Bart. will put up to sale, in His Majesty's Dock-yard at Portsmouth, several lots of

Old Stores,
Consisting of old Canvas, Hammocks; Rope (Cable-laid and Hawser-laid), Rope in short pieces and Rubbish, all in Paperstuff; old Shakings, Boltrope, Ocham, Rubbish, Lignum Vitæ Shivers, Hemp Cuttings, Toppings, &c. &c. &c.

all lying in the said Yard.

Persons wishing to view the lots, must apply to the Commissioner for notes of admission for that purpose.

Catalogues and conditions of sale may be had here and at the Yard. G. Smith.

ARMY CONTRACTS.

Commissariat Department, Treasury-Chambers, January 1, 1832.

NOTICE is hereby given to all persons desirous of contracting to supply the following articles for the use of the Army, viz.

KEY, Mayor.

A Court of Mayor and Aldermen held in the Inner Chamber of the Guildhall of the City of London, on Tuesday the 3d day of January, in the year of our Lord 1832, and in the second year of the reign of William the Fourth, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith.

WHEREAS in and by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the second year of the reign of His present Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled "An Act to amend the laws relating to hackney carriages, and to waggons, carts, and drays, used in the metropolis, and to place the collection of the duties on hackney carriages and on hawkers and pedlars in England under the Commissioners of Stamps," it is, amongst other things, enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for the Court of Mayor and Aldermen of the city of London, from time to time, to appoint proper places in the said city of London, and liberties thereof, and in the borough of Southwark, where hackney carriages may stand and ply for hire, and to make such orders for regulating the number of such hackney carriages to stand in such places respectively, and the distances at which they shall stand from each other, and the times at and during which they may stand and ply for hire, and such other orders and regulations for the better ordering and regulating the said hackney carriages, and the drivers or other the person or persons having the management thereof respectively, as to the said Court of Mayor and Aldermen shall seem proper, and, from time to time, to alter, amend, or repeal such rules, orders, and regulations, and to make others in the room thereof; and the said Court of Mayor and Aldermen shall cause all the rules, orders, and regulations to be made by them as aforesaid, and any alteration, amendment, or repeal thereof respectively, to be advertised in the London Gazette, and in two or more newspapers circulated in the said city of London, and a copy thereof to be hung up for public inspection in the Town Clerk's Office, at the Guildhall of the said city, before the same, or any of them, shall be carried into effect, or be considered as repealed by the said Court of Mayor and Aldermen.

This Court of Mayor and Aldermen of the said city of London now here holden, that is to say, on this 3d day of January, in the said year of our Lord 1832, at and in the Inner Chamber of the Guildhall of the said city, doth, therefore, and by virtue and in pursuance of the said Act of Parliament, hereby appoint proper places in the said city of London, and liberties thereof, and in the borough of Southwark, where hackney carriages may stand and ply for hire, and make orders for regulating the number of such hackney carriages to stand in such places respectively, and the distances at which they shall stand from each other, and the times at and during which they may stand and ply for hire, in manner following, that is to say;

This Court doth hereby appoint that part of the street, called the Old Bailey, in the city of London, which extends from the pump at the north end thereof to, and opposite to, Fleet-lane, southward, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for eight hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said eight hackney carriages, or any less number than eight that shall happen at any time to be upon the said standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that each of four of the said eight hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after the first four of such carriages which shall be upon the said standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to the fifth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of such eight hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby also appoint that part of the street, called Holborn; in the said city, which extends from the city bars, at the west end thereof, to the east corner of the opening into Bartlett's-buildings, at the east end thereof, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for twenty-four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said twenty-four hackney carriages, or any less number than twenty-four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that every of four of the said twenty-four hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after every four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to every fifth, ninth, thirteenth, seventeenth, and twenty-first of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of such twenty-four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of West Smithfield, in the said city, which extends from the south east corner of Smithfield-bars, next West Smithfield aforesaid, to the opening into Long-lane, on the north side of West Smithfield aforesaid, to be a proper place for six hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said six hackney carriages shall stand in a direct line following each other, on the north side of West Smithfield aforesaid, and more than eight feet distant from the curb-stone of the pavement there; and that the first four, as well as the other two, of the said six hackney carriages, or any less number which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after the first four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to the fifth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing: and that the whole of such six hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing upon every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Saturday during the whole of the days and nights of the said Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Saturdays; and that none of such six hackney carriages shall stand or ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing from or beyond the hour of twelve on every Sunday night, until the hour of four on every Monday afternoon, nor from or beyond the hour of twelve on every Thursday night, until the hour of four on every Friday afternoon; but that the said six hackney carriages may stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, on every Sunday until the hour of twelve at night, and on every Monday after the hour of four in the afternoon, and on every Thursday until the hour of twelve at night, and on every Friday after the hour of four in the afternoon.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint the whole of the street, called Farringdon-street, in the said city, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for thirty hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said thirty hackney carriages, or any less number than thirty that shall at any time happen to be upon the said standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that every of four of the said thirty hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after every four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to every fifth, ninth, thirteenth, seventeenth, twenty-first, twenty-fifth, and twenty-ninth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of such thirty hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street, called Bridge-street, Blackfriars, in the said city, extending from the Obelisk, at the north end thereof, to, and opposite to, the north corner of Earl-street, southward, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for twenty hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said twenty hackney carriages, or any less number than twenty that shall at any time happen to be upon the said standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that every of four of the said twenty hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after every four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to every fifth, ninth, thirteenth, and seventeenth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of such twenty hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street or place on the south side of St. Paul's Cathedral, called St. Paul's Church-yard, in the said city, which extends from near the west gate leading to the said Cathedral Church, to that part of the said church-yard, opposite the corner of Watling-street, next the iron railing of the said church-yard to be a proper place for twenty-four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said twenty-four hackney carriages, or any less number than twenty-four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other next the iron railing of that part of the said church-yard, and that every of the said twenty-four hackney carriages, or any less number than twenty-four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing, and that none of such twenty-four carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall stand before the entrance gates of the portico of the said Cathedral Church, on the south side of the said church-yard; and that the whole of such twenty four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part on the east side of the said street or place, called St. Paul's Church-yard aforesaid, in the said city, extending from opposite St. Paul's School to within fifty feet of the entrance into Cheapside, next the iron railing of the said church-yard, to be a proper place for four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other next the iron railing of the said last mentioned part of the said church-yard; and that every of the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that the whole of such four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street, called Queen-street-place, in the said city, leading towards the bridge, called Southwark-bridge, extending from the south side of Upper Thames-street towards the said bridge, in the middle of the said street or place only, to be a proper place for three hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said three hackney carriages, or any less number than three that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street or place; and that every of the said three hackney carriages, or any less number than three which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand in a direct line, at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that the said three hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint the street, called King-street, Cheapside, in the said city, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for six hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said six hackney carriages, or any less number than six that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street, and that the first four, as well as the two others of the said six hackney carriages, or any less number which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand in a direct line, at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after the first four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to the fifth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of the said six hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street, called Cornhill, in the said city, which extends from opposite Birchin-lane to White Lion-court, in Cornhill aforesaid, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for six hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said six hackney carriages, or any less number than six that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that the first four, as well as the two others of the said six hackney carriages, which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand in a direct line at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after the first four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to the fifth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of such six hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street, called Bishopsgate-street within, in the said city, which extends from opposite St. Helen's-place, to opposite Camomile-street, Bishopsgate-street aforesaid, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for six hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said six hackney carriages, or any less number than six that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that the first four, as well as the two others of the said six hackney carriages, which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand in a direct line at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after the first four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to the fifth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of such six hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street, called Bishopsgate-street without, in the liberties of the said city, extending from opposite Liverpool-street to opposite Sun-street, in Bishopsgate-street aforesaid, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for twenty-four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said twenty-four hackney carriages, or any less number than twenty-four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other in the middle of the said street, and that every of four of the said twenty-four hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after every four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to every fifth, ninth, thirteenth, seventeenth, and twenty-first of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing and that the whole of such twenty-four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that other part of the said street, called Bishopgate-street without, in the liberties of the said city, extending from Sun-street to Norton Folgate, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for sixteen hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said sixteen hackney carriages, or any less number than sixteen that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that every of four of the said sixteen hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after every four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to every fifth, ninth, and thirteenth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of such sixteen hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

order and direct that the said eight hackney carriages, or any less number than eight that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that each of four of the said eight hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after the first four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to the fifth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of such eight hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the said street, called Aldersgate-street without, in the liberties of the said city, extending from opposite to Carthusian-street to the city bars, in Aldersgate-street aforesaid, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that every of the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said last mentioned standing; and that the said four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street, called Aldersgate-street, extending from opposite Little-Britain, in Aldersgate-street without, in the liberties of the said city, to that part of the same street opposite Bull and Mouth-street, in Aldersgate-street within, in the said city, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that every of the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said last mentioned standing; and that the said four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of Aldersgate-street within, in the said city, extending from opposite Bull and Mouth-street aforesaid to that part of the street continued therefrom towards Newgate-street, as far as opposite to the north side of the portico of the New Post-Office, formerly called Saint Martin-le-Grand, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that every of the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four that shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said last mentioned standing; and that the said four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the continuation of Aldersgate-street within aforesaid, in the said city, leading to Newgate-street, and formerly called Saint Martin-le-Grand, extending from opposite the south side of the portico of the said New Post-Office, to the lamp pillar next Newgate-street aforesaid, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that every of the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said last mentioned standing; and that the said four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street, called High-street, in the borough of Southwark, extending from opposite Union-street, to opposite Saint George's Church, in High-street aforesaid, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for sixteen hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said sixteen hackney carriages, or any less number than sixteen that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that every of four of the said sixteen hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing ; and that after every four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to every fifth, ninth, and thirteenth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing ; and that the whole of such sixteen hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of Blackman-street, in the borough of Southwark aforesaid, extending from opposite Saint George's Church to the end of Blackman-street aforesaid, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for twenty-four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other ; and doth hereby order and direct that the said twenty-four hackney carriages, or any less number than twenty-four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street ; and that every of four of the said twenty-four hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing ; and that after every four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to the fifth, ninth, thirteenth, seventeenth, and twenty-first of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing ; and that the whole of such twenty-four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street or road, at the stones' end, in the Borough of Southwark, opposite the King's-Bench Prison, extending from the stones' end, next Blackman-street aforesaid, for the space of one hundred and ninety feet along the said street or road opposite the said prison, in the middle of the said street or road only, to be a proper place for four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other ; and doth hereby order and direct that the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street ; and that every of the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said last mentioned standing ; and that the said four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street, called Bridge-street, in the borough of Southwark, leading southward from Southwark bridge, hereinbefore mentioned, towards Union-street, and extending from opposite the Vinegar-yard to the lamp-pillar, in Bridge-street aforesaid, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other ; and doth hereby order and direct that the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street ; and that every of the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said last mentioned standing ; and that the said four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street, called Free School-street, in the borough of Southwark aforesaid, extending from the east end of the said street to the west end of Thornton-street, in the said borough, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for four hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other ; and doth hereby order and direct that the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four that shall at any time happen to be upon the said standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street ; and that every of the said four hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said last mentioned standing, and that the said four hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street or place, called Prospect-place, in St. George's-fields, near the Elephant and Castle Inn, extending along Prospect-place aforesaid, for the space of two hundred and ninety-eight feet, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for eight hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there in a direct line following each other ; and doth hereby order and direct that the said eight hackney carriages, or any less number than eight that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street, and that each of four of the said eight hackney carriages or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing, and that after the first four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to the fifth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing, and that the whole of such eight hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the new approach to London-bridge, situate in the borough of Southwark aforesaid, extending from opposite the new street or opening next the abutment of the New London-bridge, leading into Tooley-street, to opposite York-street, in High-street, in the said borough, in the middle of the said street only, to be a proper place for eight hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said eight hackney carriages, or any less number than eight that shall at any time happen to be upon the said standing, shall stand in a direct line, following each other, in the middle of the said street; and that each of four of the said eight hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said last mentioned standing; and that after the first four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to the fifth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the said eight hackney carriages, allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street or road called the Old-Kent-road, extending from opposite the Inn called the Bricklayers' Arms, to the distance of two hundred and ninety-eight feet south eastward, in the middle of the said street or road only, to be a proper place for eight hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said eight hackney carriages, or any less number than eight that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street or road; and that each of four of the said eight hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after the first four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to the fifth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of such eight hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further appoint that part of the street or road, called Waterloo-road, in the said borough of Southwark, extending from the obelisk there, to the turnpike, in the middle of the said street or road only, to be a proper place for twenty hackney carriages to stand and ply for hire there, in a direct line following each other; and doth hereby order and direct that the said twenty hackney carriages, or any less number than twenty that shall at any time happen to be upon the said last mentioned standing, shall stand in a direct line following each other, in the middle of the said street or road; and that every of four of the said twenty hackney carriages, or any less number than four which shall at any time be upon the said last mentioned standing, next to each other, shall stand at the distance of two feet from the horse or horses attached to the next succeeding hackney carriage upon the said standing; and that after every four of such carriages which shall be upon the said last mentioned standing, there shall be left a clear space of ten feet from the horse or horses attached to every fifth, ninth, thirteenth, and seventeenth of such hackney carriages being upon the said standing; and that the whole of such twenty hackney carriages allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the said last mentioned standing, may stand and ply for hire upon the said standing during the whole of every day and night.

And this Court doth hereby further order and direct that no greater number of hackney carriages than is or are hereinbefore allowed to stand and ply for hire upon the several and respective standings hereinbefore appointed for that purpose, shall at any one time stand or ply for hire upon the said several and respective standings, or any of them.

And this Court doth hereby further order and direct that no hackney carriage shall stand or ply for hire upon such part of any of the standings hereinbefore appointed as shall be directly opposite to the entrance of any street, lane or alley leading to or from the streets or places wherein such standings are so appointed to be, but a width or space upon each such standing, equal to the width of the entrance to any such street, lane or alley, shall be left open, in order that no obstruction may be given to any other carriage whatever, passing or repassing from or into such streets, lanes or alleys leading to or from the said several streets and places wherein such standings are appointed to be, as hereinbefore mentioned.

And this Court doth, by virtue and in pursuance of the said Act of Parliament, hereby make orders and regulations for the better ordering and regulating the said hackney carriages, and the proprietors, drivers, or other the person or persons having the management thereof respectively, in manner following: that is to say,

This Court doth hereby order and direct that if the proprietor or driver of any hackney carriage, or other person or persons having the management thereof, shall happen to come with his hackney carriage to any of the standings hereinbefore appointed for the purpose of standing or plying for hire there, at any time when the full complement of other hackney carriages allowed by these orders shall be already standing or plying for hire thereon, every such proprietor, driver, or other person or persons having the management of such hackney carriage shall, on being required by any street-keeper, constable, patrol, watchman, or other person or persons, immediately drive away or remove the said last mentioned hackney carriage from such standing, and from and out of the street or place wherein such standing is appointed to be, without delay or loitering therein, under any pretence whatsoever.

And this Court doth hereby further order and direct that no proprietor, driver, or other person or persons having the management of any hackney carriage, or employed in or about any of the standings hereinbefore appointed for hackney carriages to stand or ply for hire, shall wilfully obstruct the free passage of any other carriage, or the foot pavements in any part of the streets adjoining or near to such standings, or the free passage of His Majesty's subjects passing and repassing in and along the same, or use any abusive, indecent, or other improper language, menaces or threats, to, or towards or in the hearing of, the person or persons hiring, or about to hire, or being conveyed in, or discharging, or being about to discharge, any such hackney carriage, or in his, her, or their being taken up, or being set down in or from the same, or any other of His Majesty's subjects being in the streets or places adjoining, or near to the said standings.

And this Court doth hereby further order and direct that the foregoing rules, orders, and regulations be forthwith advertized in the London Gazette, and in the two newspapers circulated in the city of London, called the Times and the Morning Advertiser; and that a copy of the said rules, orders, and regulations be forthwith hung up for public inspection in the Town Clerk's Office, at the Guildhall of the said city, pursuant to the directions contained in the said Act of Parliament for that purpose.

And this Court doth hereby further order and direct that the foregoing rules, orders, and regulations shall be in full force from and immediately after the same shall be advertized, and a copy thereof hung up in the Town Clerk's Office, as aforesaid, in pursuance of the directions of the said Act of Parliament.

In the Gazette of the 3d instant, page 17, the date of the Commission of Ralph Fogg and Thomas Sterndale Fogg should have been the 20th day of April 1826, and not the 1st day of August 1827.

Notice to the Creditors of Thomas Dodd, Candle-Maker, in Perth.

Edinburgh, January 10, 1832.

THE Lord Ordinary on the Bills this day sequestrated the estate and effects of the said Thomas Dodd, and appointed his Creditors to meet in the Salutation Inn, Perth, on Tuesday the 17th current, at One o'Clock in the Afternoon, to name an Interim Factor; and, at the same place and hour, on Thursday the 2d of February next, to choose a Trustee.

Notice to the Creditors on the sequestrated estate of the late John Pringle, Fleisher, Edinburgh.

Edinburgh, January 9, 1832.

IN terms of the 75th section of the Bankrupt Act, the Trustee on said estate hereby calls a general meeting of the said Creditors to be held within his Chambers, No. 3, Hart-Street, on Saturday the 28th of January current, at Twelve o'Clock, in order that they may give such directions, in regard to the Bankrupt estate, as shall appear to them proper.

Notice to the Creditors of Edward Boyd, in the County of Wigton, Underwriter and Cattle-Dealer.

Edinburgh, 17, Howe-Street, January 9, 1832.

WILLIAM PAUL, Accountant, in Edinburgh, Trustee on the sequestrated estate of Edward Boyd, hereby intimates, that his accounts have been audited and approved of by the Commissioners; and that the same, together with states of the affairs, lie at his Chambers for the inspection of all concerned.—No farther dividend at present.

Notice to the Creditors of John Kennedy, Painter, in Glasgow. Edinburgh, January 9, 1832.

JAMES WRIGHT, Accountant, No. 39, Brunswick-Place, Glasgow, has been appointed and confirmed Trustee on the sequestrated estates of the said John Kennedy; the Sheriff Substitute of Lanarkshire has fixed Tuesday the 24th January current, and Tuesday the 7th February next, at Eleven o'Clock in the Forenoon each day, within the Sheriff-Clerk's Office, Glasgow, for the public examinations of the Bankrupt and others connected with his affairs.

Two general meetings of the Creditors will be held, for the purpose of examining into the state of the Bankrupt's affairs, and the proceedings of the sequestration, within the Trustee's Office,—the one upon the 8th, at One o'Clock in the Afternoon, the other upon the 23d, days of February next, at the same hour and place, to name Commissioners and give directions to the Trustee in regard to the Bankrupt's estate.

The Trustee therefore requires the Creditors who have not already produced in his hands their claims or grounds of debt, with oaths on the verity thereof, to do so, previous to or at the said general meeting first above mentioned; certifying, that unless the said productions are made betwixt and the 10th September next, being ten months from the date of the sequestration, those neglecting will receive no share of the first dividend.

Notice to the Creditors of Hunter Thomas and Company, Merchants, in Glasgow, and William Henri Thomas, one of the Partners of that Company, as an Individual.

Glasgow, January 7, 1832.

PETER BROWN, Merchant, in Glasgow, hereby intimates, that he has been confirmed Trustee on the sequestrated estates of the said Hunter Thomas and Company, as a Company, and of William Henri Thomas, one of the Partners of that Company, as an Individual; and that the Sheriff of Lanarkshire has fixed Monday the 23d day of January current, and Monday the 6th day of February next, at Eleven o'Clock in the Forenoon each day, for the public examination of the Bankrupts and others connected with their affairs, in terms of the Statute.—the examinations to proceed within the Sheriff's Chambers, Glasgow.

The Trustee also intimates, that a general meeting of the Creditors will be held within the Office of Mr. Alexander Morrison, Writer, 74, Buchanan-Street, Glasgow, upon Tuesday the 7th day of February next, at One o'Clock in the Afternoon; and another general meeting will be held, at same place and hour, upon Tuesday the 21st day of said month of February, to name Commissioners, and for the other purposes mentioned in the Statute.

The Trustee farther requires the Creditors to produce in his hands their claims and vouchers or grounds of debt, with oaths of verity thereon, on or before the first of said meetings, immediately after the Bankrupts' examinations; certifying, that those who fail to do so, between and the 6th day of October 1832, being ten months after the date of the first deliverance on the petition for sequestration, will have no share in the first distribution of the funds of the estate.
