FRIDAY, APRIL 20, 1832.

Lord Chamberlain's-Office, April 19, 1832.

NOTICE is hereby given, that His Majesty's next Levee will be held on Wednesday the 2d of May.

Office of the Vice-Chamberlain to the Queen, Queen's-House, St. James's, April 16, 1832.

NOTICE is hereby given, that the Queen will hold Drawing-Rooms, at St. James's-Palace, on the 3d, 17th, and 28th of May.

The 28th of May being appointed for the celebration of the King's Birth-day, no presentations will take place on that day.

St. James's-Palace, April 18, 1832.

THIS day the following Addresses were presented to His Majesty at the Levee, and graciously received:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sire,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, Free Inhabitants of New South Wales, humbly offer our condolence on the loss which your Majesty, in common with the nation, has sustained, by the lamented decease of your Majesty's Great and Royal Brother, our late august Sovereign, George the Fourth, the memory of whose illustrious reign will long be associated with all that is glorious in the annals of British history.

Participating the feelings of your Majesty on this melancholy event, we rejoice that the Crown of Great Britain has devolved upon a Prince, whose life and character present an assurance, that the blessings of the British Constitution will be enjoyed in the present reign in their full plenitude; and we beg to approach your Majesty with the expression of our sincere congratulations on the accession of your Majesty to the Throne of your Royal Ancestors, together with our prayers, that Providence, in his infinite goodness, may guard your Majesty's person, and watch over a life, so highly important to the welfare and happiness of your dominions.

Your early service, Sire, in that navy which has raised Britain to such an eminence amongst nations, has afforded your Majesty an opportunity of visiting many of the colonies, which now form a portion of your empire, and your Majesty well knows, that distance forms no obstacle to the fervent attachment which prevails throughout the colonies towards the parent country, and towards the Sovereign.

Not one of the countries or islands, however, in the wide range of your Majesty's possessions, can boast a more devoted loyalty, or more sincere affection to your Majesty's person; and to the members of your illustrious family, than New South Wales.

Though placed at the utmost distance from the land which is gladdened by your Majesty's presence, we retain the most lively and inviolable regard for all that forms its greatest happiness and glory, its laws, its liberties, and its institutions. A deeply rooted love for these not only forms our greatest privilege, but is indeed the firm bond of our allegiance.

Hitherto your Majesty's Colonists of New South Wales have been too generally considered as a body of outcasts. This reproach, at first inseparable, from the penal origin of these settlements, has been in some degree removed, by Acts passed during the reign of our late Monarch, your Majesty's august brother, Acts which have combined, with penal provisions for the government of the prison population, some modifications of the free institutions of England. To your Majesty's equal and paternal solicitude for the prosperity of all your loving subjects, whether in the parent country, or in the colonies, we hope soon to owe the entire obliteration of this ancient stigma; and that to your Majesty will belong the happiness of extending to the only remaining colony of Britons, bereft of the rights of Britons, a full participation of the benefits and privileges of the British Constitution.

We cannot omit to express the high degree of gratification that pervades the whole body of colonists, on learning the strong attachment to your Majesty's person and government displayed by every class of our fellow subjects in Great Britain; convinced, as we are, that the firmest basis of a Monarch's Throne is the affection of his subjects, and that such affection can be attracted in real sincerity only by the practice of those popular virtues, by the manifestation of that paternal regard for the welfare and happiness of his people, which characterize a patriot Prince, and by which your Majesty's conduct is pre-eminently distinguished.

Not only is your Majesty's exercise of regal authority thus distinguished by all that forms the true glory of a Prince, but your pride is, to afford a bright example of the private and endearing virtues of domestic life: and we cannot close our humble address without associating the name of our most gracious and excellent Queen Adelaide in the prayers which we fervently offer for the continued health, prosperity, and happiness of your Majesties.

Whitehall, April 12, 1832.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto the King, that some evil-disposed person or persons unknown did, on the night of Sunday the 8th, or early on the morning of Monday the 9th, day of April instant, wilfully and maliciously set fire to and destroy a plantation of fir trees, containing about thirty acres, on New Moor, in the parish of Molland, immediately adjoining to Knowstone, in the county of Devon, the property and in the occupation of Robert George Throckmorton, Esq.

His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the felony before mentioned, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person who actually set fire to the said plantation) who shall discover his accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

MELBOURNE.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of ONE HUNDRED POUNDS is hereby offered to any person (except as aforesaid) who shall discover the said offender or offenders, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted of the said offence.—Such reward to be paid by Messrs. R. Leigh and Warden, Bardon, Somerset.

Whitehall, April 17, 1832.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto the King, that the bag of letters from Wakefield to London, of Monday the 12th of March last, was stolen from the mail coach on the road, supposed between Nottingham and Melton;

And whereas several of the letters enclosed in such bag contained remittances in bank notes and country notes, which were negotiated in London early on the morning of the 14th of March, by a man who gave the name and address of J. Huggett, No. 5, Portman-square;

His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the felony before mentioned, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the principal offender or offenders) who shall discover his accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of ONE HUNDRED POUNDS is hereby offered to any person (except as aforesaid) who shall discover the said offender or offenders, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted of the said offence.—Such reward to be paid by the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury.

MELBOURNE.

Admiralty-Office, January 11, 1832.

NAVAL HALF-PAY:

TO avoid the inconvenience and delay which has sometimes occurred in the payment of Naval Half-pay, by the irregular transmission of affidavits; the Commissioned and Warrant Officers of His Majesty's Navy, residing within the United Kingdom, and receiving their Half-pay through Agents, are hereby desired to transmit their affidavits to such Agents within ten days, at most, after the expiration of each quarter, so as to enable the Agents to receive the amount due on the days regularly appointed for the payment of the respective ranks.
