

The London Gazette.

Published by Authority.

FRIDAY, JULY 6, 1832.

Lord Chamberlain's-Office, July 4, 1832.

NOTICE is hereby given, that His Majesty's Levee next week will be on Wednesday, as usual, instead of Monday the 9th instant, as announced in the last Gazette.

St. James's-Palace, July 4, 1832.

THE following Addresses to the King were this day presented to His Majesty at the Levee, and graciously received:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble, dutiful, and loyal Address of the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery, of the City of London, in common hall assembled.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Lord Mayor, Aldermen, and Livery of London, most respectfully approach your Majesty, to offer our sincere congratulation, that, under the protection of Divine Providence, your Majesty was preserved from harm, when the hand of an ignorant and desperate individual was raised against your Majesty's Royal Person.

We sincerely lament that there should be any one, so lost to every feeling of loyalty, duty, and love to your Majesty, as to offer such an atrocious insult.

We beg to assure your Majesty of our unabated attachment to your Royal Person and Government, and we earnestly trust that your Majesty may long be preserved, to protect the civil and religious liberties of a free, loyal, and grateful nation.

Signed by order.

[Here follow the signatures.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The loyal and dutiful Address of the Mayor, Bailiffs, Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of the Borough of New Windsor, in the County of Berks.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Mayor, Bailiffs, Burgesses, and other Inhabitants of the Borough of New Windsor, who have the honour and happiness to live under your Majesty's more immediate protection, beg to present at your Majesty's Throne those feelings of abhorrence and indignation with which we have been impressed, on hearing that a most atrocious attack had been made, but most happily without serious injury, upon your Majesty's sacred person, on a late occasion of public amusement, which your Majesty, with the kindest consideration, has been pleased to patronize, and to grace with your royal presence.

Born British subjects, and living under the benign sway of a Constitutional Sceptre, we justly consider every attempt upon the safety of our King to be impious and parricidal; we feel the act to be flagitious beyond our powers of expression, and in the prompt arraignment of the culprit before the criminal tribunals of the country, we anticipate the vindication of the national character from participation in so foul a crime.

To the throne of our Sovereign shall we ever look up, as the surest safeguard of our own rights and liberties: we regard it as the palladium of our constitutional freedom, and with our lives and fortunes pledge ourselves to avenge every insult, and defend every privilege with which it has been endowed, to the utmost extent of our humble abilities.

We entreat your Majesty will be graciously pleased to accept this humble offering of our loyalty and attachment, and we beg to subscribe ourselves your Majesty's most devoted and most loyal subjects and servants.

[Here follow the signatures.]