AT the Council-Chamber, Whitehall, the 9th day of July 1832,

By the Lords of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the second year of the reign of His present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the prevention, as far as may be possible, of the disease called the cholera, or spasmodic, or Indian cholera, in England," it is, amongst other things, enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for the Lords and others of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, or any two or more of them (of whom the Lord President of the Council, or one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State for the time being, shall always be one), by any Order or Orders to be by them from time to time made, to establish, and again, from time to time, by any such Order or Orders, to revoke, renew, alter, or vary all such rules and regulations, or to substitute any such new rules and regulations, as to them may appear necessary or expedient, for the prevention, as far as may be possible, of the spreading of the said disease, called the cholera, or spasmodic, or Indian cholera, in England or Wales, or any part thereof, or for the relief of any persons suffering under, or likely to be affected by, the said disease:

And whereas it is further enacted by the said Act, that all and every the expences which may be reasonably or properly incurred, in carrying it to effect any Order of the Lords of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, made as aforesaid, shall, under and by virtue of an order in writing of one justice of the peace, dwelling in or near the parish or division (and which said order any such justice is thereby empowered and directed to make), commanding the churchwardens, overseers, or guardians of the poor, for the time being, to pay a certain sufficient sum of money for such purpose, be defrayed out of the rates for the relief of the poor of the parish, township, or extra parochial place maintaining its own poor, in which the same shall be incurred, and, in other extra parochial places, out of the poors' rate of the parish nearest adjoining:

And whereas the said disease hath extended to different parts of Great Britain, and other parts thereof may be affected by the same:

And whereas by an Order, made on the sixth day of March last past, by the Lords and others of His Majesty's Privy Council (of whom the Lord President of the Council was one), it was, amongst other things, ordered and directed that every Board of Health, constituted by an Order of the Lords of the Privy Council for cities, towns, districts, or divisions of England and Wales, should and might apply to the select or parish vestry of every parish or place within such city, town, district, or division, for authority and powers to carry into effect the purposes of the Act before recited, and the measures of precaution in the said Order described, and to provide a sufficient sum of money for the discharge of the necessary expences thereof, of which the amount should be declared and fixed by the said vestries:

And whereas it hath been shewn to the satisfaction of their Lordships, that application for such powers and provisions as aforesaid, together with an estimate and statement of the necessary expences, not defrayed from charitable funds, and a request for the money to meet them, amounting in the whole to the sum of sixty pounds, hath been made by the Board of Health for the parish of Newark-upon-Trent, to the vestry of the said parish, and such vestry hath declined to give authority or directions to the Board of Health, and to provide for the expences of carrying into effect the purposes of the Act before recited, and of the Order of their Lordships founded thereon:

And whereas it doth appear to the Lords of the Privy Council (of whom the Lord President of the Council is one) proper and expedient to sanction, by an Order of the Lords of the Privy Council, certain of the expences contained in the estimate and statement so submitted by the said Board of Health for the parish of Newark-upon-Trent to the vestry of such parish as aforesaid:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Lords and others of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council (of whom the Lord President of the Council is one), in pursuance of the powers vested in them by the before-recited Act, that so much of the Order of the sixth day of March last past, as requires the amount of the sum to be defrayed in discharge of the necessary expences, to be fixed and declared by such select or parish vestry as aforesaid, be, and it is hereby, revoked and altered, in so far as respects the parish of Newark-upon-Trent, and the sum of sixty pounds; and that the said Board of Health for the said parish of Newark-upon-Trent shall and may, and they are hereby authorised and empowered to, make application, by their chairman or secretary, to some justice of the peace living in or near the parish or division, to make an order, in writing, upon the parish officers, guardians of the poor, or district churchwardens of the said parish of Newark-upon-Trent, commanding them to pay the said sum of sixty pounds, for the purposes aforesaid, out of the rates levied, or next hereafter to be levied, for the relief of the poor of such parish, which order such justice of the peace is hereby required and enjoined to make, in pursuance and exercise of the powers vested in him by the before-recited Act; and the said parish officers, guardians of the poor, or district churchwardens are hereby ordered and commanded to pay such sum of money, in obedience to the order of such justice, in the manner therein directed, or they will incur the penalties consequent upon disobedience to such before-recited Act and to the present Order:

And the Lords of the Privy Council (of whom the Lord President of the Council is one) do hereby declare, that for all acts, deeds, matters, and things properly done by any such Board of Health, justice of the peace, parish officers, guardians of the poor, district churchwardens, and others of His Majesty's subjects, in execution and furtherance of the present Order of the Lords and others in Council, or of any order so to be made by any such justice as aforesaid, this Order shall be their full and sufficient warrant.

St. James's-Palace, July 11, 1832.

THIS day the following Address to the King, from the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Oxford, was presented to His Majesty by a Deputation, consisting of the Reverend John Collier Jones, D. D. Rector of Exeter College, Vice-Chancellor of the University; the Reverend Ashhurst Turner Gilbert, D. D. Principal of Brasenose College; the Reverend Thomas Edward Bridges, D. D. To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Oxford, beg leave to offer to your Majesty the strongest assurances of our reverence and affection.

Confirmed by our own convictions in the principles of loyalty derived from our education, we are accustomed to look upon our Sovereign as indispensable to the social existence of his people, and the source, under Providence, of their individual welfare; these sentiments we maintain, and are ready to manifest at all times and under all circumstances.

But there are occasions (and such an occasion has recently arisen) on which sentiments invariably acknowledged must also be publicly declared. Your Majesty has evinced the greatest anxiety to promote the common prosperity of the nation; your Majesty has been pleased to exhibit to all classes alike the utmost confidence in their faithfulness and attachment; and at a time when these paternal qualities were presented most forcibly to the hearts of your subjects, the sacred person of your Majesty was exposed to a treasonable and premeditated outrage.

Grieved and indignant that so atrocious a crime should have been committed, we offer our sincere thanksgivings to Almighty God for shielding your Majesty from danger; and we fervently pray that your Majesty may long continue to rule over a grateful and united people, protected by His power, and enlightened by His wisdom.

Given at our House of Convocation, under our common seal, this 25th day of June, in the year of our Lord 1832.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

" I receive, with great satisfaction, this expression of your feelings on the attack lately made on my person.

" I must always rely, with confidence, on the loyalty and attachment of the University of Oxford, and you may be assured of my constant anxiety to assist and protect a Body, the objects of whose Institution are of so much importance to the Government and Constitution of the Country."

St. James's-Palace, July 11, 1832.

THIS day the following Address to the King, from the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Cambridge, was presented to His Majesty by a Deputation, consisting of the Reverend John Graham, D. D. Vice-Chancellor; the Reverend William Chafy, D. D. Master of Sidney College; the Reverend George Thackeray, D. D. Provost of King's College; the Reverend William French, D. D. Master of Jesus College; the Reverend Henry Godfrey, D. D. President of Queen's College; the Reverend John Lamb, D. D. Master of Corpus Christi College; the Reverend Gilbert Ainslie, D. D. Master of Pembroke College; the Reverend J. W. Gildart, D. C. L. Trinity Hall, the King's Professor of the Civil Law, Member of the Caput; Henry J. H. Bond, Esq. M. D. Corpus Christi College, Member of the Caput; the Reverend E. J. Ash, M. A. Christ's College, Member of the Caput; the Reverend J. Graham, M. A. Queen's College, Member of the Caput; the Reverend R. Tatham, B. D. St. John's College, Public Orator; the Reverend T. Musgrave, M. A. Trinity College, Senior Proctor; the Reverend C. Currie, M. A. Pembroke College, Junior Proctor; the Reverend Joseph Romilly, M. A. Trinity College, Registrar; which Address His Majesty was graciously pleased to receive on the Throne:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Cambridge.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful subjects, the Chancellor, Masters, and Scholars of the University of Cambridge, beg leave humbly to approach your royal presence, with the assurances of our devoted loyalty and attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government.

On the present occasion, however, the gratification which we derive from the discharge of this duty is mingled with feelings of the most painful nature.

That any one of your Majesty's subjects, in whatever rank of life, should have been so lost to all sense of duty, as to lift his hand against your Majesty's Royal Person, cannot but fill our hearts with the deepest sorrow.

We should at all times consider it incumbent upon us to express our abhorrence of any violation of the reverence and honour justly due to the Sovereign of these realms, from all classes of his subjects, but more especially do we feel ourselves called upon to declare these sentiments in approaching the Throne of your Majesty; whose gracious reign, distinguished as it has been by so many instances of royal clemency, gives your Majesty peculiar claims to universal attachment and devotion.

We acknowledge with gratitude the merciful providence of Almighty God, in having preserved your Majesty from the more serious injury which might have been apprehended from the violence recently directed against your Royal Person, and we pray that, under the Divine blessing, your Majesty may long continue to reign in happiness and tranquillity over a loyal and united people.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

" I thank you for your loyal and affectionate Address.

" The feelings which you express, with respect to the attack lately made upon me, afford a new proof of your attachment to my Person and Government, of which I am deeply sensible, and which must ensure to the University of Cambridge my constant favour and protection."

St. James's-Palace, July 11, 1832.

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Protestant Dissenting Ministers of the three denominations in and about the cities of London and Westminster, humbly approach your Majesty's presence, to express our most cordial congratulations upon your Majesty's deliverance from the late atrocious assault upon your Majesty's Royal Person.

Our thankful acknowledgments are continually presented to the Father of Mercies for this instance of His great goodness, both to your Majesty and to the people under your paternal sway.

It is our earnest prayer that your Majesty's invaluable life may be long preserved; that the blessing of the Almighty may rest on your Majesty's Person, on your Royal Consort, the Queen, and on the whole of your august Family; and that the Supreme Potentate, by whom Kings reign, would cause all the measures of your Majesty's Government to issue in the peace and prosperity of this great kingdom, and the increase of knowledge, liberty, virtue, and religion throughout the world.

And our fervent supplications shall not fail to ascend to the Throne of the Divine Grace, that, after an extended and happy reign, your Majesty may be exalted, by the mercy of God, and through the mediation of our Redeemer, to a crown of glory, unfading and everlasting.

Signed on behalf of the general body of Dissenting Ministers by the above Deputation.

To which Address His Majesty was pleased to return the following most gracious Answer:

“ I return you my thanks for this dutiful Address.

“ The sentiments which you have expressed on the outrage lately offered to me are such as I should have expected from your known loyalty. And I rely with confidence on your attachment to my Person and Government, and on your steady support of our invaluable Constitution.”

Whitehall, July 17, 1832.

THE following Address to the King has been transmitted to the Right Honourable Viscount Melbourne, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, and by him presented to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To His Most Excellent Majesty KING WILLIAM THE FOURTH.

The humble Address of the Portrieve and Corporation of Ardfert, in the county of Kerry.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the Portrieve, Burgesses, and Freemen of the ancient borough of Ardfert, beg to wait on your Majesty and lay at the foot of your Throne, our most sincere and heartfelt congratulations on your providential and happy escape from the treasonable and cowardly attack made on your royal person at the Ascot-heath races.

Conscientiously, firmly, and zealously attached to the dynasty of the illustrious House of Hanover; convinced that Ireland, by forming an integral part of the imperial crown of Britain under their benignant rule, has risen from comparative obscurity to her present exalted and increasing rank and importance in the scale of nations; and looking for the continuance of our existing advantages, and the gradual improvement and development of our many capabilities, moral and physical, only to the stability of our connection with the crown of Britain, and a yet more complete amalgamation of interests and intercourse with England; we should be lost to every honourable feeling as Irishmen, and as devoted subjects of your Majesty, if we were not filled with sentiments of the deepest horror and indignation at this most atrocious and wicked attempt on your Majesty's sacred person. And if any circumstance were wanting to increase our detestation of the traitor, it would be supplied by the consideration, that the base outrage was perpetrated at a time when your Majesty, descending from the lofty pre-eminence of Sovereign of these realms, and consulting only the kind impulses of your disposition, was mingling among your subjects, the condescending and confiding father of your people.

To that Divine Providence, “ who neither slumbers nor sleeps ” and who has so often interposed His shield to protect and to save us in the darkest eras of our eventful history, we bow, in fervent and grateful adoration, for the preservation of your Majesty's life, dear at all times to your Majesty's affectionate subjects, but at this moment of violent political excitement at home and abroad, and the awful anticipations of their probable consequences, a life inexpressibly valuable to the empire. May the same Almighty Goodness continue to preserve your Majesty and your Royal Consort, our most amiable, beloved, and respected Queen; may you both be crowned with length of days and happiness; may all your ways be pleasant, and all your paths be peace.

Signed, by the unanimous desire of the Corporation, at the Council Chamber of Ardfert, this 28th day of June 1832,

Richard Sainthill, Portrieve.
