

the magistrates, parish officers, and local authorities of the said city of Bristol shall and may, and they are hereby authorised and empowered and enjoined to act in this matter as to them shall, in the exercise of their due discretion, seem fit and proper:

And for that purpose the magistrates, parish officers, and local authorities of the city of Bristol aforesaid, are hereby authorised and invested with full powers, and are hereby also required to forbid and prevent the holding or attending of the said fair, in the present year, within the said parish of Saint James, or city of Bristol, on the said first day of September, or on any other day or days, or at any time or times, within the present year, and to that end the said magistrates, parish officers, and local authorities aforesaid may do all such acts as they shall, in the exercise of their reasonable and proper discretion, consider necessary to prevent the holding or attending of the said fair, or to avert the dangers likely to arise therefrom to the public health of the inhabitants of the said city of Bristol, in regard to the spreading of the disease, called cholera or spasmodic, or Indian cholera:

Provided always, that nothing in this present Order of their Lordships contained shall extend, or be taken or construed to extend, to the investing of the said magistrates, parish officers, or local authorities of the city of Bristol aforesaid with any power or authority (other and further than they are already by law invested) to interfere with, or forbid or prevent the holding or attending of, any such fair beyond the limits of the present year:

And the Lords and others of His Majesty's Privy Council (of whom Viscount Melbourne, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, is one) do hereby declare, that for all acts, deeds, matters, and things properly done by the said magistrates, parish officers, and local authorities aforesaid, in the execution and furtherance of this present Order, and in the reasonable and proper exercise of the discretionary powers herein contained, this Order shall be their full and sufficient warrant.

C. C. Greville.

AT the Council-Chamber, Whitehall, the 29th day of August 1832,

By the Lords of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

WHEREAS it has been represented by the Lord Justice Clerk of Scotland, that the alarming prevalence of cholera in the city of Glasgow and the adjoining district, makes it desirable that the Court of Justiciary should be empowered to make an Act of Adjournal, for altering or postponing the period at which the different Autumnal Circuit Courts are now appointed to be held; it is, therefore, hereby ordered in Council, that the said Court of Justiciary shall have power to alter or postpone the periods for holding such Circuit Courts in this present year, wherever the prevalence of contagious diseases shall render it necessary or highly expedient for the public safety that they should be so altered or postponed, and for this purpose to make such Act or Acts of Adjournal as may be necessary for settling the terms of such alteration or postponement.

C. C. Greville.

Whitehall, August 31, 1832.

THE following Addresses to the King, having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Viscount Melbourne, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, have been by him presented to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To His Most Gracious Majesty KING WILLIAM the FOURTH.

WE, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Bishop, the Dean, the Members of the Chapter, and the Clergy of the diocese of Bangor, beg leave to offer your Majesty our sincere and cordial congratulations on your escape from the traitorous attack lately made upon your royal person by an infatuated individual.

Feeling, in common with the great body of our fellow subjects, a warm attachment to your Majesty's august person and royal dignity, we received the account of this daring outrage with astonishment and abhorrence. And we cannot be too thankful to that gracious Providence which has warded off the danger to which your Majesty was exposed, and the calamities which such an attempt, had it proved successful, might have brought upon this nation.

We acknowledge with gratitude your Majesty's paternal solicitude for the peace and welfare of your subjects, your well known attachment to our Established Church, and your determination to preserve and uphold the privileges and possessions of its clergy. It will be our endeavour to shew ourselves not unworthy of your Majesty's protection and good opinion, by the faithful discharge of our pastoral duties, and by strenuously inculcating those moral and religious principles, which are the best safe guards both of sovereigns and of their subjects.

That your Majesty's valuable life may long be preserved, and that you may long continue to be the guardian, under Providence, of our laws and liberties and religion, is the prayer of your dutiful and loyal subjects.

[Here follow the signatures.]

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

Sire,

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, Inhabitants of the parishes of Whitburn and Shotts, assembled in public meeting to celebrate the triumph of reform, beg leave to approach the throne with the most cordial feelings of attachment to your Majesty's person and government.

We humbly beg leave to present to your Majesty our warmest acknowledgments, for the great boon conferred upon the nation, by the liberal extension of the elective franchise.

We assure your Majesty that the satisfaction we feel from this long desired improvement in the representation of the people, is greatly enhanced by the peaceful and constitutional manner in which it has been obtained; and we cannot refrain from congratulating your Majesty upon the happy and auspicious termination of a question which has so long and so intensely agitated the nation.

That the important measure of reform, now conceded to these kingdoms, may be followed by the most beneficial results, in reference to the moral,