Lord Chamberlain's-Office, September 6, 1832.

NOTICE is hereby given, that His Majesty's Levees will be discontinued till further orders.

AT the Council-Chamber, Whitehall, the 5th day of September 1832,

By the Lords of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council.

WHEREAS by an Act, passed in the second year of the reign of His present Majesty, intituled "An Act for the prevention, as far as may be possible, of the disease, called the cholera, or spasmodic, or Indian cholera, in England," it is, amongst other things, enacted, that it shall and may be lawful for the Lords and others of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, or any two or more of them (of whom the Lord President of the Council, or one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State for the time being, shall always be one), by any Order or Orders to be by them from time to time made, to establish, and again, from time to time, by any such Order or Orders, to revoke, renew, alter, or vary all such rules and regulations, or to substitute any such new rules and regulations, as to them may appear necessary or expedient, for the prevention, as far as may be possible, of the spreading of the said disease, called the cholera, or spasmodic, or Indian cholera, in England or Wales, or any part thereof, or for the relief of any persons suffering under, or likely to be affected by, the said disease :

And whereas the said disease hath extended itself to many parts of Great Britain ; and the city of Exeter, and the districts surrounding the said city have been, and now are, grievously affected by the same :

And whereas the visiting magistrates of the Devon county prison, and certain respectable inhabitants of the said city of Exeter, have represented to the Lords and others of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, that in the event of prisoners dying of the said disease of cholera, or spasmodic, or Indian cholera, within the walls of any of the prisons of the said city, there may arise great danger to the lives of the jurymen attending the inquest of the coroner held upon the bodies of such prisoners, and such jurymen have in consequence lately objected to attend thereon ; also that serious apprehensions are entertained of the increase and spreading of the said disease within and without the walls of the said prisons, inasmuch as there is no coroner resident within sixteen miles of such city, and it has frequently happened that a body has remained uninterred for three or four days, from the difficulty of procuring the attendance of a coroner at such prisons :

And whereas it does appear to the Lords of the Privy Council fit and expedient, in order to avoid the danger likely to arise to such jurors, and for the prevention of the increase and spreading of the said
