Whitehall, May 27, 1833.

THE following Address of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland having been transmitted by Robert Montgomery Lord Belhaven, His Majesty's Commissioner, to Viscount Melbourne, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has been by him presented to the King, and was very graciously received by His Majesty:

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Ministers and Elders of the Church of Scotland, beg leave to avail ourselves of our annual meeting in General Assembly, to approach the Throne with the assurance of our most cordial and affectionate attachment to your Majesty's Person and Family; and to express to your Majesty our most sincere and heartfelt congratulations on your providential escape from the daring and treasonable attack which was made upon your Majesty's sacred person since the last Assembly of this National Church. We have felt, in common with all other classes of your Majesty's faithful subjects, the utmost abhorrence of that most audacious act; and we now embrace the earliest opportunity that the constitution of this Assembly has afforded, of recording our unanimous sentiments along with those of the nation at large.

That Almighty God may long preserve your Majesty to reign over a loyal, happy, and religious people; and that the royal sceptre may descend in your illustrious House, with undiminished splendour, to the latest posterity, are the united prayers of, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's most faithful, most obedient, and most devoted servants, the Ministers and Elders met in this National Assembly of the Church of Scotland.

Signed in our name, in our presence, and at our appointment, by

John Stirling, Moderator.
