NOTICE TO MARINERS.

LISMORE, BARRAHEAD, AND GIRDLENESS LIGHT-HOUSES, ON THE COAST OF SCOTLAND.

THE Commissioners of the Northern Light-houses hereby give notice, that the three new light-houses above mentioned have been erected, and will be lighted upon the night of Tuesday the 15th day of October next. The lights will continue thereafter to be exhibited every night from the going away of day-light in the evening till the return of day-light in the morning.

The following Specification of the Positions of these Light-Houses, and of the Appearance of the Lights, is given by Mr. Stephenson, Engineer to the Commissioners:

LISMORE LIGHT-HOUSE.

Lismore Light-house is erected on the small island called Mousedale or the Lady's Isle, at the western extremity of Lismore Island, in the county of Argyll, in lat. 56. 30. North, and in long. 5. 40. West. This light opens the two channels, leading along Lismore to the Caledonian Canal by Fort William, and also the Sounds of Loing, Islay, and Mull. The light-house bears from Seaskerry Rock, S. S. W. $\frac{1}{2}$ W. distant $1\frac{1}{4}$ mile; from the southern entrance of the Sound of Mull, S. S. E. $\frac{1}{4}$ E. distant 3 miles; from the Lady Rock, E. N. W. $\frac{1}{4}$ N. distant 7 miles. These bearings are taken by compass, and the variation is 27. West.

This light will be known to mariners as a fixed light from oil with reflectors; and will be seen like a star of the first magnitude at the distance of 12 miles, and at intermediate distances, according to the state of the atmosphere. The lantern is elevated 103 feet above the medium level of the sea.

BARRAHEAD LIGHT-HOUSE.

Barrahead Light-house is erected on the most southern extremity of the groups of islands called Barra, Uist, Harris, and Lewis, and known to mariners as the Long Island. It is situate in the county of Inverness, in lat. 56. 48. North, and in long. 7. 33. West. It bears from the Island of Muldonich, one of the Barra Isles, W. S.
