

Whitehall, February 10, 1834.

WHEREAS it hath been humbly represented unto the King, that, between eight and nine o'clock on the morning of Tuesday the 28th day of January last, William M'Combie, a pedlar, was way-laid in a grove near the Forest of Dean, in the county of Gloucester, by some evil-disposed person or persons unknown, and so violently beaten on the head with a bludgeon, as to cause his death shortly afterwards;

His Majesty, for the better apprehending and bringing to justice the persons concerned in the murder before mentioned, is hereby pleased to promise His most gracious pardon to any one of them (except the person who actually committed the same) who shall discover his accomplice or accomplices therein, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted thereof.

And, as a further encouragement, a reward of ONE HUNDRED POUNDS is hereby offered by the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, to any person (except as aforesaid) who shall discover the said offender or offenders, so that he, she, or they may be apprehended and convicted of the said offence.
