AT the Court at St. James's; the 5th day of March 1834,

PRESENT,

The KING's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS by an Order of His Majesty in Council, bearing date the ninth day of December one thousand eight hundred and thirty-three, made in pursuance of an Act of Parliament, passed in the third and fourth year of His Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to regulate the trade to China and India," certain duties were imposed on British ships and goods on board thereof trading to Canton, and certain regulations thereon were made for the raising and application of the said duties; and whereas it is expedient that the said Order should be revoked, rescinded, annulled, and made void:

It is, therefore, ordered by His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, that the said Order be, and the same is, hereby revoked, rescinded, annulled, and made void.

Wm. L. Bathurst,

Whitehall, March 14, 1834.

THE following Address to the King having been transmitted to Lord Viscount Melbourne, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has been by him presented to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

Unto the KING's Most Excellent Majesty.

The dutiful and loyal Address of the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the City of Edinburgh.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Councillors of the City of Edinburgh, in Council assembled, beg to express our devoted attachment to your Majesty's Person and Government, and to proclaim the ardent gratitude we feel for the many beneficent and wise measures by which your mild and peaceful reign has been distinguished, the liberties of the people extended, their burdens reduced, and their happiness promoted.

We have especially to express our unfeigned gratification on the passing of the great, salutary, and necessary measure of parliamentary reform, and the no less just and necessary measure of relief afforded to the people of Scotland, by the passing of the Municipal Reform Act, which restored to them their long denied rights and liberties.

Called by the voice of our fellow citizens at a difficult crisis to administer the affairs of this great city, it will be our anxious endeavour, in imitation of the noble example set by your Majesty to Magistrates and all in authority, to redress every local grievance, remove every cause of just discontent, and foster among all classes that cheerful obedience to the laws, and that spirit of mutual forbearance and conciliation which are essential to individual happiness and national prosperity.

As many of the great and important subjects which long occupied the anxious attention of Parliament and the people have now received the sanction of the Legislature, we trust the state of public affairs will soon enable your Majesty and your Royal Consort to visit your ancient kingdom of Scotland; and we can assure your Majesty of a most hearty and joyous welcome from the most faithful of your Majesty's loyal subjects, the Citizens of Edinburgh.

Deeply sensible of the many great and precious blessings, civil and sacred, we enjoy under the mild and benign sway of your Majesty, we most earnestly hope that the Almighty Disposer of all events will, in mercy to this country and to mankind, grant that your Majesty's life may be long and happy; and that Great Britain, so long the seat of free institutions, science, and literature, and now the secure asylum of every exiled supporter of freedom, will stand forward with renewed energy in the career of improvement, and still preserve its pre-eminence among all nations, great, free, and happy; this is the earnest prayer of, may it please your Majesty, your Majesty's dutiful and loyal subjects, the Lord Provost, Magistrates, and Council of the city of Edinburgh.

Signed in our name, in our presence, and by our appointment, and the seal of the city affixed hereto, at Edinburgh, the 11th day of December 1833,
