Whitehall, August 1, 1834.

THE following Address having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Lord Duncannon, one of His Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, has been by him presented to His Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the KING's Most Excellent Majesty:

WE, your Majesty's faithful subjects, Inhabitants of Hawick, assembled within the Common-hall of the Burgh, this 16th day of July 1834, in approaching your Majesty, beg leave sincerely to profess and declare our unfeigned loyalty and attachment to your Majesty's person.

Called to sway the Sceptre over a great nation, at a most eventful period, your Majesty has ever evinced a just appreciation of the principles which placed your Family on the Throne, and secured freedom to a deserving people.

We avow ourselves most grateful to your Majesty for having called to your counsels enlightened men, anxious to adopt such liberal measures as were in unison with the wishes of the people.

The retirement of Lord Grey from the head of the late Administration having rendered the formation of a new Ministry indispensible, we beg to offer our sincere thanks to your Majesty for having, in their room, appointed Ministers who will continue to pursue those salutary measures of reform and retrenchment which we, in common with our fellow subjects throughout the Empire, have deeply at heart.

Confiding in the paternal and unalterable solicitude of your Majesty for the welfare of your subjects, thus evinced, and in the integrity, liberality, and talents of your Ministers, we feel assured that at no distant period we shall enjoy impartial legislation, and, above all, equal taxation, and witness the extinction of all monopolies, and those other abuses in Church and State, the existence of which is now universally admitted, and which, at the same time, affect the stability of the Throne, and are pernicious to the interests of the subject.

That your Majesty may long govern a free, loyal, and contented people, is our fervent prayer.

Signed by our Chairman, in our name and by our appointment. James Goodfellow, Chairman.
