such divine service in the parish of Saint Pancras; that the extremities of the said parishes of Hornsey and Saint Pancras which lie contiguous to each other at Highgate, and are delineated in the accompanying plan, contain a population of 4,070 persons:

And whereas the said Commissioners have further represented to His Majesty, that having taken into consideration all the circumstances above mentioned, it appears to them to be expedient to unite and consolidate the said contiguous parts of the said parishes of Hornsey and Saint Pancras into a separate and distinct district, to be assigned to the said chapel for all ecclesiastical purposes, and to constitute such district a consolidated chapelry, under the 6th section of the said Act passed in the 59th year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, for the purpose of affording accommodation for attending divine service to the persons residing in the said district, and for enabling the spiritual person serving such chapel to perform all ecclesiastical duties within the said district attached to such chapel, and for the due ecclesiastical superintendence of such district, and the preservation and improvement of the moral habits of the persons residing therein; and that such district should be named the Consolidated Chapelry of Highgate, and that the boundaries thereof should be as follows:

The boundary to commence half a furlong north west of Ken-wood-house, at the point where the three parishes of Saint Pancras, Hornsey, and Finchley meet; from thence proceeding along the boundary line which divides the parishes of Hornsey and Finchley, crossing the Barnet-road, until it arrives at a point in the said line, one furlong distant towards the north from the said Barnet-road; thence turning to the east and continuing parallel to the said Barnet-road, and the road called the Highgatearchway-road, at one furlong distance therefrom until it arrives at Hornsey-lane; to continue along the centre of Hornsey-lane, leaving Islington on the south east until it meets the Holloway-road, where the parishes of Islington, Hornsey, and Saint Pancras meet, continuing along the boundary line which divides the parishes of Islington and Saint Pancras, down Maiden lane one furlong; thence to proceed in a south western directon to Swaine's-lane, until it meets the road from Kentish-town to Highgate; thence to proceed in a north western direction up the said road towards Highgate, one furlong beyond the entrance into Millfield-lane; then to diverge in a line nearly west, across the field into Millfield-lane, continuing along the said lane, until it meets the houndary line which divides the parishes of Hornsey and Saint Pancras, at the entrance into the Lord Southampton's ground, called Fitzroy-farin, and to proceed westward about one furlong and three quarters, to the point where it commences half a furlong north west of Kenwood-house aforesaid, as is more particularly delineated in the map hereunto annexed, and is therein coloured brown and green:

That the consent of the Lord Bishop of London has been obtained thereto, as required by the abovementioned section of the said Act of the 59th year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third; and in testimony of such approbation the said Bishop of London, hath put his signature and seal at the foot of the said instrument, and humbly praying, that 1832, by virtue and in pursuance of the said Act of

His Majesty would be graciously pleased to take the premises into His royal consideration, and to make such order in respect thereto, as to His Majesty's wisdom shall seem meet:

His Majesty, having taken the said representation, together with the map thereunto annexed, into consideration, was pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to approve thereof, and to order, as it is hereby ordered, that such proposed union and consolidation be accordingly made and effected, according to the provision of the said Acts.

C. C. Greville.

FAREBROTHER, Mayor.

A Court of Mayor and Aldermen, held in the Inner Chamber of the Guildhall of the City of London, on Monday the 29th day of September, in the year of our Lord 1834, and in the fifth year of the reign of William the Fourth, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, King, Defender of the Faith.

HEREAS in and by an Act of Parliament, made and passed in the second year of the reign of His present Majesty King William the Fourth, intituled, "An Act to amend the laws relating to hackney carriages, and to waggons, carts, and drays used in the metropolis, and to place the collection of the duties on hackney carriages and on hawkers and pediars in England under the Commissioners of Stamps," it was, among other things, enacted, that it should and might be lawful for the Court of Mayor and Aldermen of the city of London. from time to time to appoint proper places, in the said city of London and liberties thereof, and in theborough of Southwark, where hackney carriages might stand and ply for hire, and to make such. orders for regulating the number of such hackney carriages to stand in such places respectively; and the distances at which they should stand from each other, and the times at and during which they might stand and ply for hire, and such other orders and regulations for the better ordering and regulating the said hackney carriages and the drivers, or other person or persons having the management thereof, respectively as to the said Court of Mayor and Aldermen should seem proper, and from time to time to alter, amend, or repeal such rules, orders, and regulations and to make others in the room thereof; and that the said Court of Mayor and Aldermen should cause all the orders, rules, and regulations, tobe made by them as aforesaid, and every alteration, amendment, or repeal thereof respectively, to be advertised in the London Gazette, and in any two or more newspapers circulated in the said city of London, and a copy thereof to be hung up for public inspection in the Town-Clerk's office, at the: Guildhall of the said city, before the same, or any of them, should be carried into effect, or be considered as repealed by the said Court of Mayor and. Aldermen :

And whereas the said Court of Mayor and Aldermen of the said city of London did afterwards, on the 3d day of January, in the year of our Lord.
