

ing upon a crimson velvet cushion, the star, ribband, and badge of the second class of the Order.

The sword of state being thereupon delivered to His Majesty by His Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester, Sir Edward Brace, kneeling, was knighted therewith, after which he had the honour to kiss His Majesty's hand.

Then the Officer of Arms having, on his knee, presented to the Sovereign the ribband and badge of a Knight Commander, the King was pleased to invest Sir Edward Brace with the same:

The Rear Admiral having again had the honour to kiss the Sovereign's hand, and having received from His Majesty the star of a Knight Commander, withdrew.

Major-General Sir John Taylor was then introduced, knighted, and invested, with the same ceremonies.

The Knights Grand Crosses were then again called over, and, with the Officers of the Order, retired from the presence of the Sovereign, with the accustomed reverences.
