Whitehall, November 17, 1835.

THE King, taking into His royal consideration that, upon the decease of William late Viscount Courtenay and Earl of Devon, which happened in the month of May last, the title and dignity of Earl of Devon devolved upon William now Earl of Devon, as cousin and next heir male of the said William Viscount Courtenay and Earl of Devon, whereby, according to the ordinary rules of honour, the younger brother and sisters of the said William now Earl of Devon cannot enjoy the same titles, rank, and precedence which would have been due to them in case their late father, Henry-Reginald Lord Bishop of Exeter, had survived the said William Viscount Courtenay and Earl of Devon, and had succeeded to the said title and dignity of Earl of Devon; His Majesty hath been graciously pleased to ordain and declare, that Elizabeth Courtenay, spinster, sometime one of the Maids of Honour to Her late Majesty Queen Charlotte; Catherine, wife of Edward Berens, Clerk; Frances-Charlotte, wife of Edward Bouverie, Clerk; and Thomas-Peregrine Courtenay, Esq. one of His Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, the only surviving younger children of the said late Henry-Reginald Lord Bishop of Exeter, deceased, by the Lady Elizabeth, his wife, eldest daughter of Thomas Earl of Effingham, and sister and coheir of Thomas and Richard successively Earls of Effingham, also deceased, shall henceforth have, hold, and enjoy the same titles, place, pre-eminence, and precedence as if their said late father had survived the said William Viscount Courtenay and Earl of Devon, and had succeeded to the said title and dignity of Earl of Devon:

And His Majesty hath been further pleased to command, that the said royal order and declaration be registered in His College of Arms.

Whitehall, November 14, 1835.

The King has been pleased to present the Reverend Thomas Davidson to the church and parish of Salin, in the presbytery and isle of Mull, vacant by the transportation of the Reverend Duncan McLean to the church and parish of Kilbrandon.
