

three roads in the same direction along the hedge opposite to a stone marked ^{T. R.} 1807. near the corner of the next field; from thence along the hedge in the same direction, about twenty-five rods opposite to ^{H. H.}

a stone marked ^{M.} situate about four yards north 1785.

of Mr. Mainwaring's hedge; from thence along the hedge westwardly, about seventy rods, to the corner ^{H. H.}

of the field near to a stone marked ^{M.} situate 1785.

about one yard east of the water-course in a clump of trees at the corner of Lache-lane, opposite Snow's-hall; from thence northerly about thirty rods in a ^{M.}

direct line to a stone in the same field marked ^{T. B.} 1750.

situate about 100 yards from the gate called the Boundary-gate; from thence in a direct line westwardly, about twenty rods, to a stone marked on ^{H. H.}

one side ^{M.} and on the other side ^{F. G.} 1635. in the 1785.

lane opposite to the lane which formerly lead to the Lache-eyes, but which is now stopped up, and part of it turned into a yard to Snow's-hall; from thence about sixty rods in a northerly direction along a hedge by the west side of the last-mentioned lane, to the end of the same lane, and from thence in a direct ^{H. H.}

line to a stone marked ^{M.} situated in the Lache-eyes, about thirty yards from the end of the said last 1785.

mentioned lane; from thence the said boundary line goes in a direct line to another stone marked ^{T. R.} 1807.

also situate on the Lache-eyes, and about thirty yards in a northerly direction from the last stone, and from thence in the same direction to a channel called the West-drain, and thence about twenty-five rods in the same direction along the middle of the course of the same drain opposite to another stone marked ^{H. H.}

^{M.}; from thence, still continuing along the middle 1785.

of the said West-drain to its termination at the north-eastern corner of the Lache-eyes, and from thence to the most northerly of two stones standing nearly together, at or near to the north-eastern corner of the Lache-eyes, one of the said last-mentioned stones ^{T. R.}

being marked ^{S. P.} 1731. and the other ^{M.} from thence 1507.

about thirty yards eastward along the hedge on the west side of a green lane called Saltney Common, until ^{H. H.} it comes opposite to a stone marked ^{M.} from thence 1785.

following the same direction along the same hedge, about thirty rods, until it comes opposite to a stone ^{Sir} marked ^{W. W. W.} ^{M.}; from thence, in the same direc- 1814.

tion, and along the same hedge, until it comes oppo- ^{H. H.}

site to a stone marked ^{M.}; from thence, in the 1785.

same direction following the winding of the lane along the same hedge until it comes opposite to a ^{H. H.}

broken stone marked ^{M.} which last-mentioned 1785.

stone is about four yards to the north of Mr. Charles Cholmondeley's gate to the Big-field; from thence along the same hedge in the same direction until it comes opposite to a stone bearing the same marks as the last, nearly at the top of the same lane; from thence it goes about fifteen yards to two stones, one of which is marked ^{S. M. P.} and the other FLINTSHIRE; from thence the said boundary line proceeds in the same direction across the Mold turnpike-road, about fifty yards east of the second mile-stone, then to two other stones in the field on the northern side of the said turnpike-road, marked respectively the same as the last stones; from thence northerly along the western hedge of the same field to a stone ^{T. R.}

marked ^{M.} on the south side of the stile on the 1807.

top of the embankment there called the Workhouse-cop; from thence about two yards northerly across ^{Sir} the foot-path to another stone marked ^{W. W. W.} ^{M.} 1814.

from thence in a right line northerly to another stone, situate at or about high water-mark of the river Dee, and marked ^{S. M. P.}; from thence in a right line in the direction of a stone on the opposite ^{Sir} bank of the river, marked ^{W. W. W.} ^{M.} until the 1814.

said boundary line touches the boundary line of Trinity Ward hereinafter described, in the middle of the stream of the said river Dee; from which point it follows the southern boundary line of Trinity Ward as hereinafter described, until it meets the point at which the boundary line of St. Mary's Ward commences as aforesaid; (that is to say), from the said point at which a line to be drawn down the middle of the river Dee crosses the extreme boundary line of the said city along a line to be drawn up the middle of the said river in a north-easterly direction, and following the windings of the said river until it comes to the centre of the new Grosvenor-bridge over the same; thence north-easterly along the middle of the said bridge by a line to be drawn up the middle of Grosvenor-street until it meets a line to be drawn along the middle of the ancient city walls; from thence northerly along the middle of the said ancient city walls to the middle of the Watergate; thence eastwardly along a line to be drawn through the middle of Watergate-street until it meets the point at which the boundary line of this Ward commences. And we do hereby further certify, that in the said Ward, called St. Mary's Ward, are included and contained the following portions of the said borough of Chester; (namely) the south side of Watergate-street, the west side of Upper Bridge-