From the Imperial Camp near Gran, June 20. 1684.

HAVING passed the Danube the 14th and 15th Instant, the 16th our Horse invested Vicegrad, situate on the side of the Danube, a place heretofore so considerable, that the Kings of Hungary did very often reside there; And that day in the Evening we attacked the Town and took it; and the next day the Turks that were in the Castle capitulated, and marched out 740 men with their Arms and Baggage. We had left our Baggage under the Cannon of Gran, which the Turks having notice of, they drew their Troops out of Alba Regalis, Zigetb, and other Neighbouring places, and forming a Body of 6000 men, advanced towards Gran, and fell with great fury upon the Troops that guarded our Baggage; our men were at first in some disorder, and Colonel Hallowell who commanded them, charging the Enemy with great bravery, was killed upon the place, and Count Rabata Captain of Horse was taken Prisoner; but the Imperialists quickly recovered themselves, and engaged the Enemy so vigorously, that after a sharp Fight, they were forced to retire in much confusion, having lost above 600 men, and one of their Principal Commanders being taken Prisoner; Count Rabata whom they were carrying away, was released out of their hands; the Imperialists took four Standards, and lost in this Action about 250 men. This day part of the Army repassed the Danube near Gran, and to morrow the Duke of Lorraine will follow with the rest, his Highness having resolved to attack Novigrad.

Vienna, June 22. The 18th Instant the Prince of Lubomirski passed the Waag near Trenchin with between 3 and 4000 Pol.s, and hath, it's believed by this time joyned the Imperial Army. The Letters from Gran give us an account that the Imperialists had taken Vicegrad, and that they were re-passing the Danube, in order to attack Novigrad, his Highness thinking it necessary to make himself Master of all the Posts which the Turks have between Gran and Buda, before he undertake the Siege of this last place, that so the Convoys may come to the Army without any disturbance. From Graz they write, that Count Leslie was preparing to take the Field with the Troops of Croatia, and the German Regiments that have wintered in Stiria.

Lintz, June 21. The last Letter from Hungary informed us, that the Imperial Army consisting in 24000 Foot and 10000 Horse, had passed the Danube at Gran, and was marched towards Vicegrad; And that the Duke of Lorraine had put a Garrison into Vaccia; which the Turks had abandoned. The news we had that the Imperialists had defeated a Body of 16000 Turks that were marching with a great Convoy to Newbeusl proves a mistake. The Negotiation that was managing with Count Teckeley, is quite broken off, it sufficiently appearing that he is resolved to keep to his Engagements with the Turks, and that the Overtures he hath made at the Emperors Court, have been only to amuse them and gain time.

Lintz, June 24. Two days since arrived here an Express with Letters from the Duke of Lorraine, wherein he gives the Emperor an account, That being advanced with the Imperial Army to Vicegrad, he caused some of his Troops to post themselves upon the Hill, on which stands the Castle, within Musket shot of the Ditch of the said Castle, and with great pains and difficulty raised a Battery there of several Pieces of Cannon and Mortar pieces; That in the Evening 2000 Foot commanded by the Prince of Neubourg and the Baron de Becke assaulted the Town, and made themselves Masters of it, the Turks retiring into the Castle, which the Imperialists attacked with their Cannon and Bombes, and did so great execution with them, that the 17th the Enemy began to capitulate, and desired to march out with their Arms and Baggage, which the Duke of Lorraine granted them; And that on the 19th the Garrison marched out, consisting of 700 fighting men. While the Imperial Army was before Vicegrad, the Turks of Alba Regalis, Zigetb, and other neighbouring places fell upon their Baggage which they had left near Gran, where Major General Hallowell had the command, and some of his Troops giving way, he was surrounded by the Enemy and killed; but the Regiment of Rabata stood alone the shock of the Turks, though they were 6000 strong, and made a great slaughter of them, and the other Troops recovering out of the disorder they were at first in, and coming to their assistance, they put the Enemy to flight, and pursued them a great way; The Turks lost 6 or 700 men, and the Imperialists about 200, and the Baron Lori is either killed or taken Prisoner; Count Rabata Captain of Horse was likewise taken, and the Turks had tyed him to the Tail of one of their Horses, but he was released in the pursuit. The 20. and 21. the Imperial Army repassed the Danube below Gran, the Duke of Lorraine having resolved to attack Novigrad and afterwards Pest. The eldest Prince of Neubourg was shot through his Hat with a Musket Bullet before Vicegrad, and his Brother through his Sleeve. The Gallies and other small Vessels commanded by the Count de Vecchi, are by this time arrived at Gran.

Cologne, June 30. Our Elector continues at Bonn; but the Bishop of Strasbourg; and the French, Danish and Brandenburg Ministers are at Breuil, about a League from hence; The flying Bridge, which was built by order of our Elector in the Lower Diocels being finished, is brought to Zons, near which place his Electoral Highness Troops that have had their Quarters in the Lower Diocels, are to draw together; and we are told that 8000 men are on their march from the Bilhoireck of Munster to joyn them. We are likewise making a flying Bridge here for the Service of the Troops of our Elector. We have advice that the Elector of Bavaria hath a Body of 15000 men together near Angsbourg; and that 10000 Imperialists commanded by Major General Stridell, are marching to joyn them.

Hamburg, June 30. The King of Denmark is still at Itzehoe. Here is a report that the Swedish Fleet is at Sea, consisting in 24 Ships.

Bruffe's, July 4. On Sunday the Marquis d' Grana dined with the Prince of Orange in his Camp, and after Dinner took his leave of his Highness, who having given the necessary orders for the decamping of the Army, parted in the Evening for Breda, intending to be last night or early this morning at Honflaerdyke, and to stay there till Saturday next, and then to go to Dieren. Yesterday morning early the Dutch Army decamped and marched towards Hocht on the Dile between Louvain and Malines, where they separated this day, and marched three several ways, towards Bergen, Opzoom, Breda, and Bolduc; the Marquis de Grana having appointed 3 Commissaries to provide them with Wagons and other necessaries while they are within the Spanish Dominions. His Excellency has sent Circular Letters to all the Governors of Places not to suffer any Parties to go out to make Incursions upon the French till farther order: And his Excellency hath dispatched Expresses to Lintz and Madrid, to acquaint the Emperor and the King of Spain that the Truce is Signed at the Hague, and that the Dutch Army in consequence of it is retired. The French Army commanded by the Marschal de Schomberg is still encamped at Lessines; but it's believed they will in a day or two retire towards Courtray. We hear from Hungary that the Imperialists have taken Vicegrad, and that they had re-passed the Danube, and were marching to attack Novigrad and Pest. The Letters from Catalonia tell us, that the Duke of Bourbonville was encamped the 12th of the last Month near Gironne: That the French Fleet was arrived in the Bay of Roses: And that the French Army was encamped within two Leagues of that place.

Hague, July 4. The Treaty having been signed the 29th past, as we gave you an account in our last, the next day an Express was dispatched with Letters from the States General to the Heer Heemskerke their Ambassador at Madrid, by which he is directed to acquaint the King of Spain with what they have done for the re-establishing the Peace of Christendom, and to employ the most effectual Offices to induce his Catholick Majesty to agree to the Truce. The Deputies which the States sent to the Prince of Orange returned the first Instant from the Camp, and the next day made their report to the States. His Highness is come to Honflaerdyke.

Paris, July 5. On Monday in the Evening arrived here an Express from the Hague, with the news that the Treaty of Truce was signed the 29th past by the Count d' Avaux, and the Deputies of the States General. The Marschal de Crequi according to our last advices, was encamped near Trier, and would stay there till the Fortifications of that City were demolished. The Marschal de Schomberg continued encamped the third Instant at Lessines.

Deale, June 25. This day arrived in the Downes the Kent from the East-Indies.

Deale, June 27. Yesterday the Weather being very Foggy, a Dutch Fly-boat of 400 Tuns, laden with Salt, came upon the Goodwin; the Deale men having notice of it, went off immediately in ten Boats to her relief; the Seamen were ready to leave her, but with the assistance of the said Boats, she got off, and about seven in the Evening anchored in the Downes.

London, June 21. This day being appointed for the Artillery Company to be in Arms to Exercise as they are used to do every year; His Royal Highness was pleased, as their Captain General, to do them the Honor to lead them himself. In the Morning they met in the Artillery Ground, and about Noon marched from thence, commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Frind through Broadstreet, Thread-needle-street, &c. to my Lord Mayors, where they were very nobly entertained; from thence they passed down Wallbrook and through Cannon-street into Grace church street, and there the Body was drawn up to receive His Royal Highness, who came either about three a Clock attended with a great many of the Nobility, and other Persons of Quality, divers of which carried Arms in the Company: His Royal Highness was pleased to leave his Coach, and to march on Horseback at the Head of the Company through Cornhill, part of Cheapside, Kings street, &c. His Royal Highnesses Troop of Horse Guards, and several of the Nobility and Persons of Quality, on Horseback, marching before his Royal Highness. The Streets as well as the Balconies were thronged with People of all Qualities, who saluted His Royal Highness as he passed with repeated Acclamations: Being come to the Artillery-ground His Royal Highness was pleased to quit his Horse, and taking his Pike led the Body almost the length of the Ground. And here the Lord Mayor, the Aldermen and Sheriffs came in their Scarlets to pay their Duty to his Royal Highness, and to return him their most humble thanks for the great Honor he had been pleased to do the City. Then his Royal Highness and Prince George were entertained by Colonel Frind in his Tent, at a very noble and splendid Banquet of Sweet-meats, Flutes, Hautboys, and other Musick playing all the while they were in the Tent. In the mean time the Body was again drawn out to perform their Exercise, which his Royal Highness was pleased to be present at, and it being over, his Royal Highness and Prince George returned to St. James's extremely satisfied.
