"several laws relating to the performance of quarantine, and to make other provisions in lieu thereof," it is, amongst other things, enacted, that from and after the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and twenty five, all vessels, as well His Majesty's ships of war as others, coming from, or having touched at, any place from whence His Majesty, His heirs or successors, by and with the advice of His or Their Privy Council, should have adjudged and declared it probable that the plague, or other infectious disease or distemper, highly dangerous to the health of His Majesty's subjects, might be brought, and all vessels and boats receiving any person, goods, wares, and merchandise, packets, packages, baggage, wearing apparel, books, letters, or any other articles whatsoever, from or out of any vessel so coming from, or having touched at, such infected place as aforesaid, whether such persons, goods, wares, and merchandise, packets, packages, baggage, wearing apparel, books, letters, or other articles, should have come or been brought in such vessels, or such persons should have gone, or articles should have been put, on board the same, either before or after the arrival of such ships or vessels at any port or place in the United Kingdom, or the islands of Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, Sark or Man, and whether such vessels were or were not bound to any port or place in the United Kingdom, or the islands aforesaid, and all persons goods, wares, and merchandise, packets, packages, baggage, wearing apparel, books, letters, or any other articles whatsoever, on board any vessels so coming from, or having touched at, such infected place as aforesaid, or on board of any such receiving vessels or boats as aforesaid, should be, and be considered to be, liable to quarantine within the meaning of the said Act, and of any Order or Orders which should be made by His Majesty, His heirs or successors, by and with the advice of His or Their Privy Council, concerning quarantine and the prevention of infection, from the time of the departure of such vessels from such infected place as aforesaid, or from the time when such persons, goods, wares, merchandise, packets, baggage, wearing apparel, books, letters, or other articles, should have been received on board respectively; and that such vessels and boats as aforesaid, and all persons (as well pilots as others), goods, wares, and merchandises, and other articles as aforesaid, whether coming or brought in such vessels or boats from such infected place as aforesaid, or going or being put on board the same, either before or after the arrival of such vessels or boats at any port or place in the United Kingdom, or the islands aforesaid, and all persons, goods, wares, and merchandises, and other articles as aforesaid, on board such receiving vessel or boat as aforesaid, should, from their arrival at any such port or place, be obliged to perform quarantine in such place or places, for such time, and in such manner, as should, from time to time, be directed by His Majesty, His heirs or successors, by His or Their Order or Orders in Council, notified by Proclamation or published in the London Gazette:

And whereas, by an Order in Council, dated the nineteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-five, and duly published in the London Gazette, after reciting the said Act, His Majesty was pleased to adjudge and declare it probable, that the plague, or some other infectious disease or distemper, highly dangerous to the health of His Majesty's subjects, may be brought into the United Kingdom, or the islands of Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, Sark, or Man, by vessels coming from the Mediterranean, or from the West Barbary, or the Atlantic Ocean, with or without clean bills of health; and, by the same Order, His Majesty was pleased to order, that all vessels, as well His Majesty's ships of war as all others (not having the plague or such other infectious disease or distemper as aforesaid actually on board) coming from the Mediterranean, or from the West Barbary, or the Atlantic Ocean, with clean bills of health, and all vessels and boats receiving any person or persons, goods, wares, or merchandise, packets, packages, baggage, wearing apparel, books, letters, or any other articles, whatever, from or out of any such vessel, before such vessel should have performed, and should be duly discharged from, quarantine, whether such person or persons, goods, wares, or merchandise, or other articles as aforesaid, should have come or been brought in such vessel, or such person or persons should have gone, or such articles have been put, on board the same, either before or after the arrival of such vessel, and whether such vessel was or was not bound to any port or place in the United Kingdom, or the islands of Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, Sark, or Man, with all persons (as well pilots as others), goods, wares, and merchandise, and other articles as aforesaid on board thereof, perform such quarantine, for such time, in such manner, and at such places, as are thereafter directed, that is to say, it is thereby ordered, that all such vessels as should be bound to any port in Ireland should perform quarantine, at the several places in the said Order mentioned in that behalf respectively :

And whereas, by another Order in Council, dated the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, duly published in the London Gazette, His Majesty was pleased to revoke so much of the said former Order in Council as related to the places for performing quarantine by ships arriving at any port in Ireland; and His Majesty was pleased, by the said Order of the first day of September one thousand eight hundred and twenty-six, that all such ships or vessels, liable to quarantine, as were or should be bound to any port in Ireland, with clean bills of health, and not having on board any of the articles enumerated in the thirty-first section of the said Order in Council of the nineteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and twenty-five, should perform quarantine at one of the following stations, that is to say, Poolbeg in the harbour of Dublin, Warren Point in the harbour of Newry, near Gramoye in the harbour of Belfast, Tarbut in the River Shannon, in the harbour of Limerick, Baltimore Passage, River Suir in the harbour of Waterford, White Gate, Cove of Cork, Green Castle, Lough, Foyle, and Black Rock, Galway Bay :

Now it is hereby ordered by His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, that so much of the said last mentioned Order as appoints Poolbeg, in the harbour of Dublin, one of the places at which quarantine may be performed by vessels arriving at any port in Ireland, shall be, and the same is hereby, revoked; and it is further ordered by His Majesty, by and with the advice aforesaid, that all ships and vessels which, if this Order had not been made, might have performed quarantine at Poolbeg aforesaid, may henceforth perform quarantine at Kings-town, in the bay of Dublin, from and after the fifth day of July next :

And the Right Honourable the Lords Commissioners of His Majesty's Treasury, and the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty, are to give the necessary directions herein as to them may respectively appertain.
