The Earl Marshal's Order for a General Mourning for His late Majesty King William the Fourth.

IN pursuance of an Order of Her Majesty in Council, the 21st day of June 1837, these are to give public notice, that it is expected, that all persons, upon the present occasion of the death of His late Majesty, of blessed and glorious memory, do put themselves into decent mourning; the said mourning to begin upon Saturday next the 24th instant.

NORFOLK, Earl Marshal.

GENERAL ORDER.

Horse-Guards, June 20, 1837.

Orders for Mourning for the Army for His late Majesty King William the Fourth.

Her Majesty does not require that the Officers of the Army should wear any other mourning, with their uniforms, on the present melancholy occasion, than black crape over the ornamental part of the cap or hat, the sword knot, and on the left arm, with the following exceptions, viz.

Officers on duty are to wear black gloves, black crape over the ornamental part of the cap or hat, the sword knot, and on the left arm; the sash covered with black crape, and a black crape scarf over the right shoulder.

The drums are to be covered with black crape, and black crape is to be hung from the pike of the colour staff of infantry, and from the standard staff and trumpets of cavalry.

When Officers appear at Court in their uniforms, they are to wear black crape over the ornamental part of the cap or hat, the sword knot, and on the left arm; a black crape scarf over the right shoulder.

By command of the Right Honourable the General Commanding in Chief,

JOHN MACDONALD, Adjutant-General.

Admiralty, June 20, 1837.

Her Majesty does not require that the Officers of the Fleet should wear any other mourning, on the present melancholy occasion, with their undress uniforms, than black crape on the left arm,
