

We fervently pray that every blessing may be poured forth abundantly upon your Majesty and your Royal House, that your reign may be long and prosperous, and that, under your Majesty's benignant sway, our highly valued institutions, both civil and sacred, may find that protection, the enjoyment of which has, for so long a period, endeared the House of Brunswick to the British nation.

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty.

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, and Burgesses of the borough of Grantham, humbly beg leave to offer to your Majesty our sincere condolence on the demise of our late revered Sovereign, whose many virtues acquired for him the respectful affection of his subjects.

The deep regret felt on this occasion by us, in common with all your Majesty's subjects, is nevertheless greatly alleviated by the gratification we feel on your Majesty's accession to the Throne, feeling confident that it will be your Majesty's constant study to promote the welfare of your subjects, and to preserve inviolate that Constitution which has secured to all classes such numerous and inestimable benefits.

We humbly hope that your Majesty will graciously please to accept this tender of our devoted attachment to your Royal Person, and that your Majesty's reign may be long, prosperous, and happy, is our most earnest prayer.

Given, under the common seal of the said borough, this 14th day of July 1837.

James Wyles, Mayor.

No. 30.

To the QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the High Constables of the City of Edinburgh, beg leave, on the occasion of your Majesty's accession to the Throne of these realms, to approach your Majesty with sentiments of the most devoted loyalty and attachment.

We humbly offer to your Majesty the tribute of our sincere condolence on the great loss which your Majesty and the nation have sustained in the demise of our late lamented Sovereign, whose public and private virtues so justly endeared him to the hearts of his loyal and affectionate subjects.

We feel assured that your Majesty's gracious sway will preserve to us the blessings enjoyed by this country under his mild and paternal reign, and still farther strengthen that love and devotion to your Majesty's Royal House, now so deeply rooted in our hearts by the happy experience of many generations.

We beg to assure your Majesty that we shall always consider it a proud privilege, as well as a bounden duty, to protect to the utmost of our power, the laws and institutions of these realms, and to preserve the peace of this fair and prosperous city.

It is our earnest prayer that your Majesty's life may be long and happy, and that your Majesty's reign may be distinguished by national prosperity, as it will be marked by those virtues and excellencies which cannot fail to secure to a British Sovereign the cordial affections of her faithful and loving people.

Signed, in the name of the Society of High Constables of the City of Edinburgh, 4th July 1837.

P. S. Fraser, Moderator.
