AT the Court at Windsor, the 7th day of September 1838.

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS it is necessary to make provision for the suppression of vagrancy, and for the punishment of idle and disorderly persons, rogues, and vagabonds, incorrigible rogues, or other vagrants, in British Guiana. It is therefore ordered by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, that every person being able, either by labour or by other lawful means, to maintain himself or herself, or his wife, or his or her children or child, who shall wilfully refuse or neglect so to do, and thereby become burthensome, or render his wife, or his or her children or child, burthensome upon any parochial or other public funds set apart for the relief of the poor; every common prostitute wandering in the public streets or highways, or in any place of public resort, and behaving in a riotous and indecent manner; and every person wandering abroad, or placing himself or herself in any public place, street, wharf, highway, court, or passage, to beg or gather alms, or causing, or procuring, or encouraging any child or children so to do, shall be deemed an idle and disorderly person within the true intent and meaning of this Order: provided, nevertheless, that no person shall be deemed to be an offender under this Order, by reason of any such begging or gathering alms as aforesaid, or by reason of his or her causing or procuring, or encouraging any child or children so to do, unless it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the stipendiary justice before whom he or she shall be charged with such offence, that the offender could by his or her own labour, or other lawful means, or by parochial or other public funds appropriated for that purpose, have been provided with the necessaries of life. And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace to commit any such idle and disorderly person, being thereof convicted before him by his own view, or by the confession of such offender, or by the evidence on oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, to any lawful place of confinement, there, or on the public streets and highways, to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding fourteen days.

II. And it is hereby further ordered, that any person committing any of the offences hereinbefore mentioned, after having been convicted as an idle and disorderly person,—every person pretending or professing to tell fortunes, or using or pretending to use any subtle craft or device, by palmistry, obeah, or any such like superstitious means, to deceive and impose on any of Her Majesty's subjects,—every person wilfully exposing to view in any street, road, highway, or public place, any obscene print, picture, or other indecent exhibition, every person wilfully, openly, lewdly, and obscenely exposing his or her person in any street, public road or highway, or in the view thereof, or in any place of public resort,— every person endeavouring to procure charitable contributions under any false or fraudulent pretence,— every person playing or betting in any street, stelling or wharf, road, highway, or other open and public place, at or with any table or instrument of gaming, at any game or pretended game of chance,— every person having in his or her custody or possession any picklock, key, crow, jack, bit or other implement, with intent feloniously to break into any dwelling house, warehouse, store, shop, coach-house, stable or outbuilding, or being armed with any gun, pistol, hanger, cutlass, bludgeon, or other offensive weapon, or having upon him or her any instrument with intent to commit any felonious act;—and every person apprehended as an idle and disorderly person, and violently resisting any constable or other peace officer so apprehending him or her,— shall be deemed a rogue and vagabond within the true intent and meaning of this Order: and it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace to commit such offender, being thereof convicted before him, on his own view, or by the confession of such offender, or by the evidence on oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, to any lawful place of imprisonment, there, or on the public streets or highways, to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding twenty-eight days; and every such picklock, key, crow, jack, bit, and other implement, and every such gun, pistol, hanger, cutlass, bludgeon, or other offensive weapon, and every such instrument as aforesaid, shall, by the conviction of the offender, become forfeited to Her Majesty for the use of the colony.

III. And it is hereby further ordered, that every person breaking or escaping out of any place of legal confinement, before the expiration of the term for which he or she shall have been committed or ordered to be confined, by virtue of this Order,— and every person committing any offence against this Order, which shall subject him or her to be dealt with as a rogue and vagabond, such person having been at some former time adjudged so to be and duly convicted thereof, — and every person apprehended as a rogue and vagabond, and violently resisting any constable or other peace officer so apprehending him or her, shall be deemed an incorrigible rogue within the true intent and meaning of this Order. And it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the confinement, there to remain until the next session of the superior court of criminal justice, then and there to be dealt with as hereinafter directed.

IV. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any police officer or constable whatsoever to apprehend any person who shall be found offending against this Order, and forthwith to take and convey him or her before some stipendiary justice of the peace, to be dealt with in such manner as herein before directed.

V. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace, upon oath being made before him, that any person hath committed, or is suspected to have committed, any offence against this Order, to issue his warrant to apprehend and bring before him, or some other stipendiary justice of the peace, the person so charged; to be dealt with as is directed by this Order.

VI. And it is hereby further ordered, that when any such idle and disorderly person, rogue, and vagabond shall give notice of his or her intention to appeal against the conviction of him or her, and shall enter into recognizance as hereinafter directed to prosecute such appeal, such stipendiary justice shall require the person by whom such offender shall be apprehended, and the person or persons whose evidence shall appear to him to prove the offence and to support such conviction, to become bound in recognizance to Her Majesty, Her heirs and successors, to appear at the next session of the superior court of criminal justice, to give evidence against such offender touching such offence; and the superior court of criminal justice is hereby authorised and empowered, at the request of any person who shall have become bound in any such recognizance, to order the colonial receivers to pay unto such prosecutor, and unto the witness or witnesses on his or her behalf, such sum or sums of money as to the court may seem reasonable and sufficient to reimburse such prosecutor and such witness or witnesses respectively for the expences he, she, or they shall have severally been put to, and for his, her, or their trouble and loss of time in and about such prosecution:—which order the clerk of the court is hereby directed and required forthwith to make out and deliver to such prosecutor, or unto such witness or witnesses; and the said colonial receivers are hereby authorised and required, upon sight of such order, forthwith to pay unto such prosecutor, or other person or persons authorised to receive the same, such money as aforesaid; and the said colonial receivers shall be allowed the same in their account. And in case any such person or persons as aforesaid shall refuse to enter into such recognizance, it shall be lawful for such stipendiary justice to commit such person or persons so refusing to any lawful place of confinement, there to remain until he, she, or they shall enter into such recognizance, or shall be otherwise discharged by due course of law.

VII. And it is hereby further ordered, that when any person shall be committed for trial before the superior court of criminal justice, charged with being an incorrigible rogue, it shall be lawful for the court to examine into the circumstances of the case, and on conviction to order, if they think fit, that such offender be imprisoned in some lawful place of confinement, and there, or on the public streets or highways, to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding six calendar months from the time of making such order.

VIII. And it is hereby further ordered, that in case any constable or other peace officer shall neglect his duty in anything required of him by this Order, or in case any person shall disturb or hinder any constable or other peace officer in the execution of this Order, or shall be aiding, abetting, or assisting therein, and shall be thereof convicted upon the oath of one or more witness or witnesses, before the superior court of criminal justice, every such offender shall for every such offence forfeit any sum not exceeding twenty pounds. And in case such offender shall not forthwith pay such sum so forfeited, the same shall be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods, by warrant from such superior court; and if sufficient distress cannot be found, it shall be lawful to commit the person so offending to any lawful place of confinement, there to be kept for any time not exceeding thirty days, or until such fine be paid, and the superior court shall cause the said fine when paid to be paid over to the colonial receivers for the use of the colony.

IX. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace, upon information on oath before him made, that any person hereinbefore described to be an idle and disorderly person, or a rogue and vagabond, or an incorrigible rogue, is or are reasonably suspected to be harboured or concealed in any house or place, by warrant under his hand and seal to authorise any constable or other person or persons to enter at any time into such house or place, and to apprehend and bring before him, or any other stipendiary justice of the peace, every such idle and disorderly person, rogue, and vagabond, and incorrigible rogue, as shall be then and there found, to be dealt with in the manner hereinbefore directed.

X. And it is hereby further ordered, that every conviction of any offender as an idle and disorderly person, or as a rogue and vagabond, or as an incorrigible rogue, under this Order, shall be in the form or to the effect set forth in schedule A, hereunto annexed, or as near thereto as circumstances will permit. And the stipendiary justice or justices of the peace, before whom any such conviction shall take place, shall, and he and they is and are hereby required to transmit the said conviction to the superior court of criminal justice, there to be filed and kept on record; and a copy of the conviction so filed, duly certified by the clerk of the court, shall and may be read, as evidence in any court of record, or before any stipendiary justice or justices of the peace acting under the powers and provisions of this Order.

XI. And it is hereby further ordered, that any person aggrieved by any act or determination of any stipendiary justice or justices of the peace in or concerning the execution of this Order, may appeal to the superior court of criminal justice, giving to the stipendiary justice or justices of the peace, whose act or determination shall be appealed against, notice in writing of such appeal, and of the ground thereof, and entering within seven days into a recognizance with sufficient surety before a stipendiary justice of the peace of the said colony, personally to appear and prosecute such appeal; and upon such notice being given, and such recognizance being entered into, such stipendiary justice is hereby empowered to discharge such person out of custody; and the said superior court of criminal justice shall hear and determine the matter of such appeal, and shall make such order therein as shall to the said court seem meet; and in case of the dismissal of the appeal, or the affirmance of the conviction, shall issue the necessary process for the apprehension and punishment of the offender, according to the conviction; provided always, that such appellant shall be bound to prosecute his said appeal before the next sitting of the said superior criminal court, in case such sitting shall happen within the said period, but if such sitting shall not be had within such seven days, then at the next succeeding superior criminal court, and not afterwards.

XII. And, for the protection of persons acting in the execution of this Order, it is further ordered, that all actions or prosecutions to be commenced against any such person or persons for anything done in pursuance of this Order, shall be laid and tried in the supreme court of justice of Demerary and Essequibo, or Berbice, as the case may be, wherein the fact was alleged to be committed, and shall be commenced within three calendar months after the fact committed, and not otherwise, and notice in writing of such action, and of the cause thereof, shall be given to the defendant one calendar month at least before the commencement of the action; and no plaintiff shall recover in any such action, if tender of sufficient amends shall have been made before such action is brought, or if a sufficient sum of money shall have been paid into Court, after such action brought by or in behalf of the defendant; and if a verdict shall pass for the defendant, or the plaintiff shall become nonsuit or discontinue any such action, after issue joined, the defendant shall recover treble costs, and have the like remedy for the same as any defendant hath in law in other cases, and though a verdict be given for the plaintiff in any such action, such plaintiff shall not have costs against the defendant, unless the court before which the trial shall be, shall certify its approbation of the action.

XIII. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall and may be lawful for any two or more stipendiary justices of the peace at any time to nominate and appoint any discreet person or persons to be constables or peace officers for the purposes of this Order, and to swear him or them to the due execution of his or their office.

XIV. And it is hereby further ordered, that no person shall act or be considered as a stipendiary justice, within the meaning of this present Order, save only such persons as, being in the receipt of stipends assigned for their maintenance as such justices, shall be included within a special commission of the peace, to be issued in the name and on the behalf of Her Majesty, appointing them to act as stipendiary justices for the said colony of British Guiana, or for some county or counties, or other district or districts thereof.

XV. And it is further ordered, that a certain Ordinance made by the acting governor in and over the said colony, by and with the advice of the Court of Policy thereof, on the 12th day of June, 1838, intituled "An Ordinance for the Punishment of Idle and Disorderly Persons, Rogues, and Vagabonds, Incurable Rogues and other Vagrants," shall be and the same is hereby disallowed; and that all other laws and ordinances now in force in the said colony for the prevention or punishment of vagrancy, or which are in any wise repugnant to or inconsistent with this present Order, shall be and the same are repealed.

And the Right Honourable Lord Glenelg, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, is to give the necessary directions herein accordingly.

A. B. Stip. Justice of the Peace.

AT the Court at Windsor, the 7th day of September 1838,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS it is necessary to make provision for the suppression of vagrancy, and for the punishment of idle and disorderly persons, rogues, and vagabonds, incurable rogues, or other vagrants, in St. Lucia; it is therefore ordered by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, that every person being able, either by labour or by other lawful means, to maintain himself or herself, or his wife, or his or her children or child, who shall wilfully refuse or neglect so to do, and thereby become burthensome, or render his wife, or his or her children or child, burthensome upon any parochial or other public funds set apart for the relief of the poor; every common prostitute wandering in the public streets or highways, or in any place of public resort, and behaving in a riotous and indecent manner; and every person wandering abroad, or placing himself or herself in any public place, street, wharf, highway, court, or passage, to beg or gather alms, or causing, or procuring, or encouraging any child or children so to do, shall be deemed an idle and disorderly person within the true intent and meaning of this Order: provided, nevertheless, that no person shall be deemed to be an offender under this Order, by reason of any such begging or gathering alms as aforesaid, or by reason of his or her causing or procuring, or encouraging any child or children so to do, unless it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the stipendiary justice before whom he or she shall be charged with such offence, that the offender could by his or her own labour, or other lawful means, or by parochial or other public funds appropriated for that purpose, have been provided with the necessaries of life. And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace to commit any such idle and disorderly person, being thereof convicted before him by his own view, or by the confession of such offender, or by the evidence on oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, to any lawful place of confinement, there, or on the public streets and highways, to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding fourteen days.

II. And it is hereby further ordered, that any person committing any of the offences hereinbefore mentioned, after having been convicted as an idle and disorderly person,—every person pretending or professing to tell fortunes, or using or pretending to use any subtle craft or device, by palmistry, obeah, or any such like superstitious means, to deceive and impose on any of Her Majesty's subjects,—every person wilfully exposing to view in any street, road, highway, or public place, any obscene print, picture, or other indecent exhibition, every person wilfully, openly, lewdly, and obscenely exposing his or her person in any street, public road or highway, or in the view thereof, or in any place of public resort,—every person endeavouring to procure charitable contributions under any false or fraudulent pretence,—every person playing or betting in any street, stelling or wharf, road, highway, or other open and public place, at or with any table or instrument of gaming, at any game or pretended game of chance,—every person having in his or her custody or possession any picklock, key, crow, jack, bit, or other implement, with intent feloniously to break into any dwelling-house, warehouse, store, shop, coach-house, stable or outbuilding, or being armed with any gun, pistol, hanger, cutlass, bludgeon, or other offensive weapon, or having upon him or her any instrument with intent to commit any felonious act,—and every person apprehended as an idle and disorderly person, and violently resisting any constable or other peace officer so apprehending him or her,—shall be deemed a rogue and vagabond within the true intent and meaning of this Order: and it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace to commit such offender, being thereof convicted before him, on his own view, or by the confession of such offender, or by the evidence on oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, to any lawful place of imprisonment, there, or on the public streets or highways, to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding twenty-eight days; and every such picklock, key, crow, jack, bit, and other implement, and every such gun, pistol, hanger, cutlass, bludgeon, or other offensive weapon, and every such instrument as aforesaid, shall, by the conviction of the offender, become forfeited to Her Majesty for the use of the colony.

III. And it is hereby further ordered, that every person breaking or escaping out of any place of legal confinement, before the expiration of the term for which he or she shall have been committed or ordered to be confined, by virtue of this Order,—and every person committing any offence against this Order, which shall subject him or her to be dealt with as a rogue and vagabond, such person having been at some former time adjudged so to be and duly convicted thereof, and every person apprehended as a rogue and vagabond, and violently resisting any constable or other peace officer so apprehending him or her, shall be deemed an incorrigible rogue within the true intent and meaning of this Order. And it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace to commit such offender to any lawful place of confinement, there to remain until the next session of the royal court, then and there to be dealt with as hereinafter directed.

IV. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any police officer, or constable whatsoever to apprehend any person who shall be found offending against this Order, and forthwith to take and convey him or her before some stipendiary justice of the peace, to be dealt with in such manner as hereinbefore directed.

V. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace, upon oath being made before him, that any person hath committed, or is suspected to have committed, any offence against this Order, to issue his warrant to apprehend and bring before him, or some other stipendiary justice of the peace, the person so charged, to be dealt with as is directed by this Order.

VI. And it is hereby further ordered, that when any such idle and disorderly person, rogue, and vagabond shall give notice of his or her intention to appeal against the conviction of him or her, and shall enter into recognizance as hereinafter directed to prosecute such appeal, such stipendiary justice shall require the person by whom such offender shall be apprehended, and the person or persons whose evidence shall appear to him to prove the offence and to support such conviction, to become bound in recognizance to Her Majesty, Her heirs and successors, to appear at the next session of the royal court, to give evidence against such offender touching such offence; and the royal court is hereby authorised and empowered, at the request of any person who shall have become bound in any such recognizance, to order the colonial treasurer to pay unto such prosecutor, and unto the witness or witnesses on his or her behalf, such sum or sums of money as to the court may seem reasonable and sufficient to reimburse such prosecutor and such witness or witnesses respectively for the expences he, she, or they shall have severally been put to, and for his, her, or their trouble and loss of time in and about such prosecution:—which order the clerk of the court is hereby directed and required forthwith to make out and deliver to such prosecutor, or unto such witness or witnesses; and the said colonial treasurer is hereby authorised and required, upon sight of such order, forthwith to pay unto such prosecutor, or other person or persons, authorised to receive the same, such money as aforesaid; and the said colonial treasurer shall be allowed the same in their account. And in case any such person or persons as aforesaid shall refuse to enter into such recognizance, it shall be lawful for such stipendiary justice to commit such person or persons so refusing to any lawful place of confinement, there to remain until he, she, or they shall enter into such recognizance, or shall be otherwise discharged by due course of law.

VII. And it is hereby further ordered, that when any person shall be committed for trial before the royal court, charged with being an incorrigible rogue, it shall be lawful for the court to examine into the circumstances of the case, and, on conviction, to order, if they think fit, that such offender be imprisoned in some lawful place of confinement, and there, or on the public streets or highways, to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding six calendar months from the time of making such Order.

VIII. And it is hereby further ordered, that in case any constable or other peace officer shall neglect his duty in any thing required of him by this Order, or in case any person shall disturb or hinder any constable or other peace officer in the execution of this Order, or shall be aiding, abetting, or assisting therein, and shall be thereof convicted upon the oath of one or more witness or witnesses, before the royal court, every such offender shall for every such offence forfeit any sum not exceeding twenty pounds. And in case such offender shall not forthwith pay such sum so forfeited, the same shall be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods, by warrant from such royal court; and if sufficient distress cannot be found, it shall be lawful to commit the person so offending to any lawful place of confinement, there to be kept for any time not exceeding thirty days, or until such fine be paid, and the royal court shall cause the said fine when paid to be paid over to the colonial treasurer for the use of the colony.

IX. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace, upon information on oath before him made, that any person hereinbefore described to be an idle and disorderly person, or a rogue and vagabond, or an incorrigible rogue, is or are reasonably suspected to be harboured or concealed in any house or place, by warrant under his hand and seal to authorize any constable or other person or persons to enter at any time into such house or place, and to apprehend and bring before him or any other stipendiary justice of the peace every such idle and disorderly person, rogue and vagabond, and incorrigible rogue, as shall be then and there found, to be dealt with in the manner hereinbefore directed.

X. And it is hereby further ordered, that every conviction of any offender as an idle and disorderly person, or as a rogue and vagabond, or as an incorrigible rogue, under this Order, shall be in the form or to the effect set forth in schedule A, hereunto annexed, or as near thereto as circumstances will permit. And the stipendiary justice or justices of the peace, before whom any such conviction shall take place, shall, and he and they is and are hereby required to transmit the said conviction to the royal court there to be filed and kept on record; and a copy of the conviction so filed, duly certified by the clerk of the court, shall and may be read as evidence in any court of record or before any stipendiary justice or justices of the peace acting under the powers and provisions of this Order.

XI. And it is hereby further ordered, that any person aggrieved by any act or determination of any stipendiary justice or justices of the peace in or concerning the execution of this Order, may appeal to the royal court giving to the stipendiary justice or justices of the peace, whose act or determination shall be appealed against, notice in writing of such appeal, and of the ground thereof, and entering, within seven days, into a recognizance with sufficient surety before a stipendiary justice of the peace of the said colony, personally to appear and prosecute such appeal; and upon such notice being given, and such recognizance being entered into, such stipendiary justice is hereby empowered to discharge such person out of custody; and the said royal court shall hear and determine the matter of such appeal, and shall make such order therein as shall to the said court seem meet, and in case of the dismissal of the appeal, or the affirmation of the conviction, shall issue the necessary process for the apprehension and punishment of the offender, according to the conviction; provided always, that such appellants shall be bound to prosecute his said appeal before the next sitting of the said royal court, in case such sitting shall not happen within the said period, but if such sitting shall be had within such seven days, then at the next succeeding royal court, and not afterwards.

XII. And, for the protection of persons acting in the execution of this Order, it is further ordered, that all actions or prosecutions to be commenced against any such person or persons for anything done in pursuance of this Order, shall be laid and tried in the royal court of St. Lucia, wherein the fact was alleged to be committed, and shall be commenced within three calendar months after the fact committed, and not otherwise, and notice in writing of such action, and of the cause thereof, shall be given to the defendant one calendar month at least before the commencement of the action; and no plaintiff shall recover in any such action, if tender of sufficient amends shall have been made before such action is brought, or if a sufficient sum of money shall have been paid into Court, after such action brought by or in behalf of the defendant; and if a verdict shall pass for the defendant, or the plaintiff shall become nonsuit or discontinue any such action, after issue joined, the defendant shall recover treble costs, and have the like remedy for the same as any defendant hath in law in other cases, and though a verdict be given for the plaintiff in any such action, such plaintiff shall not have costs against the defendant, unless the court before which the trial shall be, shall certify its approbation of the action.

XIII. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall and may be lawful for any two or more stipendiary justices of the peace at any time to nominate and appoint any discreet person or persons to be constables or peace officers for the purposes of this Order, and to swear him or them to the due execution of his or their office.

XIV. And it is hereby further ordered, that no person shall act or be considered as a stipendiary justice, within the meaning of this present Order, save only such persons as, being in the receipt of stipends assigned for their maintenance as such justices, shall be included within a special commission of the peace, to be issued in the name and on the behalf of Her Majesty, appointing them to act as stipendiary justices of the said colony of St. Lucia, or for some county or counties, or other district or districts thereof.

XV. And it is further ordered, that all laws and ordinances now in force in the said colony for the prevention or punishment of vagrancy, or which are in any wise repugnant to or inconsistent with this present Order, shall be and the same are repealed.

And the Right Honourable Lord Glenelg, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, is to give the necessary directions herein accordingly.

C. C. Greville.

A. B. Stip. Justice of the Peace.

AT the Court at Windsor, the 7th day of September 1838,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN's Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS it is necessary to make provision for the suppression of vagrancy, and for the punishment of idle and disorderly persons, rogues, and vagabonds, incorrigible rogues, or other vagrants, in Trinidad; it is, therefore, ordered by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, that every person being able, either by labour or by other lawful means, to maintain himself or herself, or his wife, or his or her children or child, who shall wilfully refuse or neglect so to do, and thereby become burthensome, or render his wife, or his or her children or child, burthensome upon any parochial or other public funds set apart for the relief of the poor; every common prostitute wandering in the public streets or highways, or in any place of public resort, and behaving in a riotous and indecent manner; and every person wandering abroad, or placing himself or herself in any public place, street, wharf, highway, court, or passage, to beg or gather alms, or causing, or procuring, or encouraging any child or children so to do, shall be deemed an idle and disorderly person within the true intent and meaning of this Order: provided, nevertheless, that no person shall be deemed to be an offender under this Order, by reason of any such begging or gathering alms as aforesaid, or by reason of his or her causing or procuring, or encouraging any child or children so to do, unless it shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the stipendiary justice before whom he or she shall be charged with such offence, that the offender could by his or her own labour, or other lawful means, or by parochial or other public funds appropriated for that purpose, have been provided with the necessaries of life. And it is further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace to commit any such idle and disorderly person, being thereof convicted before him by his own view, or by the confession of such offender, or by the evidence on oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, to any lawful place of confinement, there, or on the public streets and highways, to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding fourteen days.

II. And it is hereby further ordered, that any person committing any of the offences hereinbefore mentioned, after having been convicted as an idle and disorderly person,—every person pretending or professing to tell fortunes, or using or pretending to use, any subtle craft or device, by palmistry, obeah, or any such like superstitious means, to deceive and impose on any of Her Majesty's subjects,—every person wilfully exposing to view in any street, road, highway, or public place, any obscene print, picture, or other indecent exhibition,—every person wilfully, openly, lewdly, and obscenely exposing his or her person in any street, public road or highway, or in the view thereof, or in any place of public resort,—every person endeavouring to procure charitable contributions under any false or fraudulent pretence—every person playing or betting in any street, stelling or wharf, road, highway, or other open and public place, at or with any table or instrument of gaming, at any game or pretended game of chance,—every person having in his or her custody or possession, any picklock, key, crow, jack, bit or other implement, with intent feloniously to break into any dwelling-house, warehouse, store, shop, coach-house, stable or outbuilding, or being armed with any gun, pistol, hanger, cutlass, bludgeon, or other offensive weapon, or having upon him or her any instrument with intent to commit any felonious act,—and every person apprehended as an idle and disorderly person, and violently resisting any constable or other peace officer so apprehending him or her,—shall be deemed a rogue and vagabond within the true intent and meaning of this Order: and it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace to commit such offender, being thereof convicted before him, on his own view, or by the confession of such offender, or by the evidence on oath of one or more credible witness or witnesses, to any lawful place of imprisonment, there, or on the public streets or highways, to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding twenty-eight days; and every such picklock, key, crow, jack, bit, and other implement, and every such gun, pistol, hanger, cutlass, bludgeon, or other offensive weapon, and every such instrument as aforesaid, shall, by the conviction of the offender, become forfeited to Her Majesty for the use of the colony.

III. And it is hereby further ordered, that every person breaking or escaping out of any place of legal confinement, before the expiration of the term for which he or she shall have been committed or ordered to be confined, by virtue of this Order,—and any person committing any offence against this Order, which shall subject him or her to be dealt with as a rogue and vagabond, such person having been at some former time adjudged so to be and duly convicted thereof,—and every person apprehended as a rogue and vagabond, and violently resisting any constable or other peace officer so apprehending him or her, shall be deemed an incorrigible rogue within the true intent and meaning of this Order. And it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace to commit such offender to any lawful place of confinement, there to remain until the next session of the court for the trial of criminal prosecutions, then and there to be dealt with as hereinafter directed.

IV. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any police officer or constable whatsoever to apprehend any person who shall be found offending against this Order, and forthwith to take and convey him or her before some stipendiary justice of the peace, to be dealt with in such manner as hereinbefore directed.

V. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace, upon oath being made before him, that any person hath committed, or is suspected to have committed, any offence against this Order, to issue his warrant to apprehend and bring before him, or some other stipendiary justice of the peace, the person so charged, to be dealt with as is directed by this Order.

VI. And it is hereby further ordered, that when any such idle and disorderly person, rogue, and vagabond shall give notice of his or her intention to appeal against the conviction of him or her, and shall enter into recognizance as hereinafter directed to prosecute such appeal, such stipendiary justice shall require the person by whom such offender shall be apprehended, and the person or persons whose evidence shall appear to him to prove the offence and to support such conviction, to become bound in recognizance to Her Majesty, Her heirs and successors, to appear at the next session of the court for the trial of criminal prosecutions, to give evidence against such offender touching such offence; and the court for the trial of criminal prosecutions is hereby authorised and empowered, at the request of any person who shall have become bound in any such recognizance, to order the colonial treasurer to pay unto such prosecutor, and unto the witness or witnesses on his or her behalf, such sum or sums of money as to the court may seem reasonable and sufficient to reimburse such prosecutor and such witness or witnesses respectively for the expences he, she, or they shall have severally been put to, and for his, her, or their trouble and loss of time in and about such prosecution:—which order the clerk of the court is hereby directed and required forthwith to make out and deliver to such prosecutor, or unto such witness or witnesses; and the said colonial treasurer is hereby authorised and required, upon sight of such order, forthwith to pay unto such prosecutor, or other person or persons authorised to receive the same, such money as aforesaid; and the said colonial treasurer shall be allowed the same in their account. And in case any such person or persons as aforesaid shall refuse to enter into such recognizance, it shall be lawful for such stipendiary justice to commit such person or persons so refusing to any lawful place of confinement, there to remain until he, she, or they shall enter into such recognizance, or shall be otherwise discharged by due course of law.

VII. And it is hereby further ordered, that when any person shall be committed for trial before the said court for the trial of criminal prosecutions, charged with being an incorrigible rogue, it shall be lawful for the court to examine into the circumstances of the case, and, on conviction, to order, if they think fit, that such offender be imprisoned in some lawful place of confinement, and there, or on the public streets or highways, to be kept to hard labour for any time not exceeding six calendar months from the time of making such order.

VIII. And it is hereby further ordered, that in case any constable or other peace officer shall neglect his duty in anything required of him by this Order, or in case any person shall disturb or hinder any constable or other peace officer in the execution of this Order, or shall be aiding, abetting, or assisting therein, and shall be thereof convicted upon the oath of one or more witness or witnesses, before the court for the trial of criminal prosecutions, every such offender shall for every such offence forfeit any sum not exceeding twenty pounds. And in case such offender shall not forthwith pay such sum so forfeited, the same shall be levied by distress and sale of the offender's goods, by warrant from such court; and if sufficient distress cannot be found, it shall be lawful to commit the person so offending to any lawful place of confinement, there to be kept for any time not exceeding thirty days, or until such fine be paid, and the court shall cause the said fine, when paid, to be paid over to the colonial treasurer for the use of the colony.

IX. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall be lawful for any stipendiary justice of the peace, upon information on oath before him made, that any person hereinbefore described to be an idle and disorderly person, or a rogue and vagabond, or an incorrigible rogue, is or are reasonably suspected to be harboured or concealed in any house or place, by warrant under his hand and seal, to authorise any constable, or other person or persons, to enter at any time into such house or place, and to apprehend and bring before him, or any other stipendiary justice of the peace, every such idle and disorderly person, rogue, and vagabond, and incorrigible rogue, as shall be then and there found, to be dealt with in the manner hereinbefore directed.

X. And it is hereby further ordered, that every conviction of any offender as an idle and disorderly person, or as a rogue and vagabond, or as an incorrigible rogue, under this Order, shall be in the form or to the effect set forth in schedule A, hereunto annexed, or as near thereto as circumstances will permit. And the stipendiary justice or justices of the peace, before whom any such conviction shall take place, shall, and he and they is and are hereby required to transmit the said conviction to the court for the trial of criminal prosecutions, there to be filed and kept on record; and a copy of the conviction so filed, duly certified by the clerk of the court, shall and may be read as evidence in any court of record, or before any stipendiary justice or justices of the peace acting under the powers and provisions of this Order.

XI. And it is hereby further ordered, that any person aggrieved by any act or determination of any stipendiary justice or justices of the peace in or concerning the execution of this Order, may appeal to the said court for the trial of criminal prosecutions, giving to the stipendiary justice or justices of the peace, whose act or determination shall be appealed against, notice in writing of such appeal, and of the ground thereof, and entering within seven days into a recognizance with sufficient surety before a stipendiary justice of the peace of the said colony, personally to appear and prosecute such appeal; and upon such notice being given, and such recognizance being entered into, such stipendiary justice is hereby empowered to discharge such person out of custody; and the said court for the trial of criminal prosecutions shall hear and determine the matter of such appeal, and shall make such order therein as shall to the said court seem meet, and in case of the dismissal of the appeal, or the affirmance of the conviction, shall issue the necessary process for the apprehension and punishment of the offender, according to the conviction; provided always, that such appellant shall be bound to prosecute his said appeal before the next sitting of the criminal court; in case such sitting shall happen within the said period; but if such sitting shall not be had within such seven days, then at the next succeeding criminal court, and not afterwards.

XII. And, for the protection of persons acting in the execution of this Order, it is further ordered, that all actions or prosecutions to be commenced against any such person or persons for anything done in pursuance of this Order, shall be laid and tried in the court for the trial of criminal prosecutions, as the case may be, wherein the fact was alleged to be committed, and shall be commenced within three calendar months after the fact committed, and not otherwise, and notice in writing of such action, and of the cause thereof, shall be given to the defendant one calendar month at least before the commencement of the action; and no plaintiff shall recover in any such action, if tender of sufficient amends shall have been made before such action is brought, or if a sufficient sum of money shall have been paid into court, after such action brought by or in behalf of the defendant; and if a verdict shall pass for the defendant, or the plaintiff shall become nonsuit or discontinue any such action, after issue joined, the defendant shall recover treble costs, and have the like remedy for the same as any defendant hath in law in other cases, and though a verdict be given for the plaintiff in any such action, such plaintiff shall not have costs against the defendant, unless the court before which the trial shall be, shall certify its approbation of the action.

XIII. And it is hereby further ordered, that it shall and may be lawful for any two or more stipendiary justices of the peace at any time to nominate and appoint any discreet person or persons to be constables or peace officers for the purposes of this Order, and to swear him or them to the due execution of his or their office.

XIV. And it is hereby further ordered, that no person shall act or be considered as a stipendiary justice, within the meaning of this present Order, save only such persons as, being in the receipt of stipends assigned for their maintenance as such justices, shall be included within a special commission of the peace, to be issued in the name and on the behalf of Her Majesty, appointing them to act as stipendiary justices for the said colony of Trinidad, or for some county or counties, or other district or districts thereof.

XV. And it is further ordered, that all laws and ordinances now in force in the said colony for the prevention or punishment of vagrancy, or which are in any wise repugnant to or inconsistent with this present Order, shall be and the same are repealed.

And the Right Honourable Lord Glenelg, one of Her Majesty's Principal Secretaries of State, is to give the necessary directions herein accordingly.

C. C. Greville.

COWAN, Mayor.

A Common Council, holden in the Chamber of the Guildhall of the City of London, on Tuesday the 21st day of August 1838, and in the second year of the reign of Victoria, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, before the Right Honourable Sir John Cowan, Bart. Lord Mayor; William Venables, Esq.; Anthony Brown, Esq.; Samuel Wilson, Esq.; and Thomas Wood, Esq.; Aldermen of the same City, and the greater part of the Commons of the said City, in the same Common Council then and there assembled.

Bye Laws, Rules, Orders, and Regulations, for regulating and removing Vessels laden with Coals, in and near the port of London, and otherwise remedying the inconveniences caused to the Navigation of the said Port, in consequence of the collection of large numbers of Vessels, laden with Coals, in different parts of the said Port, made, ordained, and established, this 21st day of August 1838, by the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled, in pursuance and under the authority of an Act of Parliament, passed in the second year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act to continue for seven years an Act for regulating the vend and delivery of Coals in London and Westminster, and in certain parts of the adjacent counties;" and in exercise of the powers vested in the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London in Common Council assembled, by an Act of Parliament, passed in the tenth year of the reign of King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act for altering and amending the powers of an Act of the thirty-ninth year of the reign of King George the Third, for rendering more commodious and for better regulating the Port of London."

WHEREAS by a certain Act of Parliament, passed in the tenth year of the reign of King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act for altering and amending the powers of an Act of the thirty-ninth year of King George the Third, for rendering more commodious and for better regulating the port of London, it was enacted, amongst other things, that it should be lawful for the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the city of London, in Common Council assembled, from time to time, to make, ordain, and establish such bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations for the observance and good government of the Harbour Masters of the port of London, and the times and places of their respective attendance, and the division and regulation of their several duties, and for the more safe and convenient navigating, placing, mooring, unmooring, and removing of ships and other vessels on the River Thames, in and near the said port (except any docks made in pursuance of any Act or Acts of Parliament, and any works thereto belonging, and such parts of the said river at the several entrances to such docks respectively, within which ships and other vessels are, by virtue of the said Acts, respectively under the power, authority, or control of the Dock Masters, or other persons in the said Acts respectively mentioned), and for the better governing and regulating of all masters of vessels, pilots, lightermen, and others within the said port (except as aforesaid), and for other purposes mentioned in the said Act, and such other lawful and reasonable bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations as they should deem necessary and expedient for the due execution of the therein recited Act of the thirty-ninth year of the reign of King George the Third, and the said Act now in recital, so as the same respectively were not contrary to, or inconsistent with, the therein recited Acts, or any of them, or the said Act now in recital, or any of the regulations enacted thereby, or by any other Act or Acts of Parliament in force at or immediately before the passing of the said Act now in recital, and not thereby repealed or altered, or contrary to, or inconsistent with, the laws of that part of the United Kingdom called England, and also, from time to time as they should see occasion, to repeal, annul, add to, amend, and alter such bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations, or any of them, in such manner as to them the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons, in Common Council assembled, should seem meet or requisite, and to fix and appoint reasonable pecuniary penalties, not exceeding ten pounds, for the non-observance, non-performance, or other breach of such bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations, or any of them.

And whereas, in pursuance and under the authority of the said Act of Parliament, passed in the tenth year of the reign of King George the Fourth, certain bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations for the good government of the said Harbour-Masters of the Port of London, and for the more safe and convenient navigating, placing, mooring, unmooring, and removing of ships and other vessels, steam-boats, lighters, and craft, on the River Thames, in and near the said Port, and for other purposes, were made, ordained, and established on the 14th day of July 1829, by the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the City of London, in Common Council assembled.

And whereas, under the authority of the said Act of Parliament, passed in the tenth year of the reign of King George the Fourth, the said bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations of the said 14th day of July 1829, were, on the 1st day of December 1836, repealed by the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the city of London, in Common Council assembled, and other bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations were, on the said 1st day of December 1836, ordained and established in lieu thereof.

And whereas by a certain Act of Parliament, passed in the second year of the reign of Her present Majesty, intituled "An Act to continue for seven years an Act for regulating the vend and delivery of Coals in London and Westminster, and in certain parts of the adjacent counties," it was enacted (amongst other things), that within three calendar months next after the passing of that Act, the said Mayor, Aldermen, and Commons of the city of London, in Common Council assembled, should, and they were thereby required, to make such bye laws as should be necessary for regulating or removing vessels laden with coals, and otherwise remedying the inconveniences caused to the navigation of the said port of London, in consequence of the collection of large numbers of vessels laden with coals in different parts of the said port. Be it therefore ordained and established by the Right Honourable the Lord Mayor, the Aldermen, his Brethren, and the Commons of this city, in Common Council assembled, that from and after the expiration of eight weeks next after these present bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations shall have been submitted to the Committee of Her Majesty's Privy Council for managing the affairs of trade, and published in manner required and directed by the Statute in that behalf, every ship or vessel laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, which shall enter the said port of London, shall forthwith proceed to, and be anchored, moored, or placed in such berth or station, within the said port, as shall be assigned to, or appointed for such ship or vessel by the Harbour Masters of the said port, or either of them; and that no such ship or vessel shall be removed from the berth or station which shall be so assigned, to such ship or vessel as hereinbefore is mentioned, without permission for that purpose first obtained from the said Harbour Masters, or either of them, such permission to be either printed or written, or partly printed and partly written; and in case any master, pilot, or other person, having the charge or command of any ship or vessel laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, shall not, upon entering the said port, forthwith proceed to, and anchor, moor, or place such ship or vessel in such berth or station within the said port as shall be assigned to, or appointed for such ship or vessel by the said Harbour Masters, or either of them, or shall remove any such ship or vessel from the berth or station which shall be so assigned to such ship or vessel as hereinbefore is mentioned, without permission for that purpose first obtained from the said Harbour Masters, or either of them, as hereinbefore is mentioned, such master, pilot, or other person shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

And be it further ordained and established, that whenever it shall appear to the said Harbour Masters, or either of them, that no more vessels laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, should proceed higher up the river than Gravesend, then the said Harbour Masters, or one of them, shall cause a flag or lamp to be exhibited at some convenient place at or near to Gravesend; and in case any master, pilot, or other person having the charge or command of any ship or vessel laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, shall, after the said flag or lamp is exhibited, proceed higher up the river than the place where such flag or lamp shall be fixed, without permission for that purpose, first obtained from the said Harbour Masters, or one of them, such permission to be either printed or written, or partly printed and partly written, he shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum not exceeding ten pounds.

And be it further ordained and established, that no ship or vessel laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, shall remain or continue in any of the tiers which by the said bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations of the 1st day of December 1836, are, or by any bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations hereafter to be made under the powers of the said recited Acts of Parliament, may be directed to be used exclusively by collier ships or vessels, for a longer period than fifteen days next after such ship or vessel shall first enter any such tier, exclusive of the day of entering the same; and in case any master, pilot, or other person having the charge or command of any ship or vessel laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, shall cause or permit such ship or vessel to remain or continue in any such tier as hereinbefore is mentioned, for a longer period than fifteen days, he shall forfeit and pay a sum, not exceeding ten pounds, for every day such ship or vessel laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, shall remain or continue in any such tier after the expiration of the said period of fifteen days.

And be it further ordained and established, that every ship or vessel laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, admitted into any such tier as hereinbefore is mentioned, shall go out of and remove from such tier at the next succeeding flood tide after the cargo of such ship or vessel shall have been discharged, and shall forthwith quit the said port, or proceed to such berth or station as shall be for that purpose appointed by the said Harbour Masters, or either of them, as hereinbefore is mentioned; and in case any master, pilot, or other person having the charge or command of any ship or vessel laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, shall cause or permit such ship or vessel to remain or continue in any such tier as hereinbefore is mentioned, after the flood tide next succeeding the period at which the cargo of such ship or vessel shall have been discharged, or shall not forthwith quit the said port, or proceed to such berth or station as shall be for that purpose appointed as hereinbefore is mentioned, he shall for every such offence forfeit and pay a sum, not exceeding ten pounds.

Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall extend, or be deemed or construed to extend, to prevent any ship or vessel laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, from proceeding directly and without delay to any dock or wharf, within the said port, for the purpose of discharging the cargo of such ship or vessel at such dock or wharf.

And be it further ordained and established, that in case the master, pilot, or other person having the charge or command of any ship or vessel laden with coals, or partly laden with coals, shall proceed up the river for the alleged purpose of discharging the cargo of such ship or vessel at some dock or wharf, and shall not proceed directly and without delay to such dock or wharf, he shall, for every such offence, forfeit and pay a sum, not exceeding ten pounds.

Provided always, that nothing herein contained shall extend, or be meant to extend, to abrogate or repeal any of the said bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations made, ordained, and established on the 1st day of December 1836, or to alter or vary the same, except so far as the same may be altered or varied by, or be in anywise inconsistent with, these present bye laws, rules, orders, and regulations.

Provided also, that nothing herein contained shall extend, or be meant to extend, to affect any of the rights or privileges belonging to the Corporation of the Trinity-house of Deptford Strond, or to prejudice any of the rights, interests, privileges, franchises, or authority of the Lord Mayor of the said city of London for the time being, or to defeat or alter any power, authority, or jurisdiction which he may, or otherwise might, lawfully claim, use, or exercise as Conservator of the river of Thames and waters of Medway, but the same are severally excepted therefrom. Woodthorpe.
