PHILLIP LLOYD.

Genova, September 16. Yesterday arriv'd here the Rose and Crown in 8 days from Alicant; where she left the Bonadventure Frigate commanded by Captain Priestman, who was arriv'd there in 4 days from Argiers. The same day fail'd from hence the Alexander Merchant, and the Thomas and Francis for Leghorn. The French Men of War are at Vado near Savona, where they expect the coming up of the Gallies. Four Hundred Horse are arriv'd here from Milan, and are lodg'd in San Pier d'Arena.

Venice, September 16. We have an account from Dalmatia that the Morlaques about a fortnight since made an incursion into the Turkish Territories not far from Cliffa, and burnt several Villages and brought back with them a great many Prisoners; that in their return they met with 800 Turkish Horse, marching towards Clin, whom they defeated, killing above 200 of them upon the place, and taking their Baggage; That the said Morlaques being afterwards reinforced to the number of 6000 Men, had posted themselves near Clin in Order to their conjunction with the Provocitore General Mocenigo, who had resolv'd to attack that place, and was marching thither with an Army of 20000 Men We have farther advice that another Party of Morlaques and Heydukes with the Banditi come from Abruzzo had defeated a Body of Turks that were drawn together in the Neighborhood of Spalatro to hinder their incursions, and that they had killed between two and three hundred, and taken some Prisoners, and several hundred head of Cattle. Prince Alexander of Parma, General of the Foot of this State, will part from hence in few days for Dalmatia, where it's said he is to Command the Forces of the Republick. It is confirm'd that the Venetian Fleet has taken its course towards the Gulf of Lepanto.

From the Polish Camp near Jallowic, August 28.

The King, who parted the 15th Instant from Stozorow, where he left the Queen, arriv'd the 22 Instant, attended with a great number of Nobility at Buzack, within two hours march of Faslowic, near which place his Army was encamp'd, of which His Majesty took a review the same day, and was extremely satisfied as with the number so with the condition of the Troops. The 23 His Majesty detach'd a Body of Horse under the Command of General Kemsky to invest the Fortrels of Faslowic; and in the Evening His Majesty arriv'd with the rest of the Army before the place, and immediately Summon'd the Governor to surrender it, who return'd a very fierce answer, saying he had Powder and Bullet to defend the place, and would do it to the last extremity; Whereupon several Batteries were rais'd, and the 24th in the Morning we began to make use of them, and threw a great many Bombes and Carcasses into the place, which so terrified the besieged, that the 25th in the Evening they desired a parley, and Hostages being given on both sides, the capitulation was agreed on, in pursuance whereof the Turks march'd out the next day about Noon, being about 500 men bearing Armes; They desired they might go to Caminiec, but that was refus'd, and they were conducted to the place mentioned in the capitulation; several of the Turkish Officers pray'd the Kings protection and leave to remain within the Polish Territories, being unwilling to return home for fear of being question'd for not having better defended the place; There were found in it several Polish deserters, who for a terror to others were impaled alive. To morrow the Army will decamp from hence, but we know not yet which we are to march, and various conjectures are made concerning the Kings design. The Ottoman Army that was to have made head against us, is we here retir'd in great disorder; so that we are not like to meet with any great opposition. The great Treasurer of the Crown who was sent out to possess himself of some small places has rejoyn'd the Army; and hath presented to the King two Turkish Officers he took Prisoners, one whereof is the chief Ingenier of Caminiec; he hath been examin'd and hath declared several particulars concerning the condition of that place, and among other things says the Governor of Caminiec hath prepar'd a great many Mines in the Lower Town, intending to abandon it, in case of a Siege, and to retire into the Castle, and to spring the said Mines when the Poles are entred.

Vicma, Sept. 21. The 17th Instant Count Leslie arriv'd here, having left the Command of the Army, that was under his Orders, in the Hands of the Viceroy of Croatia; he was immediately to wait upon the Emperor, and the next day parted again in great haste to joyn the Army before Buda, to ex-there the Command of Marschal de Camp General in the place of the Count de Staremburg, who has left the Camp, and is gone to Comorra. Yesterday arrived here by Water 2000 Foot of the Circle of Sabia; and 2000 more are expected to day or to morrow; and we are told that several Regiments which the Elector of Saxony sends to the Emperor's Assistance are likewise on their march. By an Express who arrived here on Monday last from the Imperial Camp we have advice, That the Elector of Bavaria had sent a Corporal with a Turkish Prisoner into the Town, with Letters to the Commanding Bassa, wherein his Electoral Highness gave him an account of his arrival at the Head of his Army, and that he was resolved not to stir from thence till he had reduced the place under the Obedience of his Imperial Majesty; exhorting him not to let things come to extremity, for that in that case he must not expect any Quarter: That the Bassa having thereupon assembled the Principal Officers of the Garrison, had caused the Corporal and the Turkish Prisoner to be brought thither; and having before them read his Electoral Highness's Letter, answered That he thanked his Electoral Highness for the account he gave him; That he had seen his Troops arrive; That he understood very well the Rules of War, having been a Soldier a great many years; and that he could not surrender the Place so long as he had Men and Ammunition to defend it, and Provisions to subsist; and having given the Corporal 12 Ducats, sent him back with this answer to his Electoral Highness. That the Troops of Bavaria, who have the two new Attacks on the side of the River, advanced with good success, and had sprung a Mine, which had thrown down great part of the Wall. And that the Duke of Lorraine leaving the Conduct of the Siege to the Elector of Bavaria, marched the 16th Instant with the Imperial and Bavarian Horse and Dragons to meet and fight the Seraskier Bassa. The Advices from Poland say, That the King, after the surrender of Jaslowic, marched with his whole Army towards Caminnic, having sent the Under Marschal of the Crown before with a Body of Horse, who advancing under the Cannon of the place, had had several Skirmishes with the Turks; but that the King receiving advice that a great Body of Turks and Tartars were on their march to observe him, he immediately resolved to go and meet them, and engage them to a Battle.

Ratisbonne, September 28. We have an account from the Camp before Buda; That the Turks continued to make very Strong Salleys. That the Elector of Bavaria upon his arrival in the Camp had Summoned the Besieged letting them know, that if they did not then Surrender, they must not expect any Mercy; to which the Bassa had made answer, that he wanted neither Men nor Provisions, and that he would defend the place to the last drop of Blood. We are told farther (which is confirmed by a Courier that passed through this place) that the Seraskier Bassa was on his march with an Army of 40000 Men to relieve Buda, and that the Duke of Lorraine was gone with all his Horse and Dragons to meet him and give him Battle; and that on the 17th Instant the two Armies were within 3 hours March of each other; so that we expect hourly to hear of a Battle.

Brussels, October 3. On Saturday last an Extraordinary Courier arrived here in nine days from Madrid, with a Duplicate of the Ratifications of the Treaty; and a Supply of Money for the Service of this Government. Yesterday the Marquis Del Val returned hither from Paris, having adjusted Matters concerning the Contributions. The French Troops Commanded by Monsieur de Boufflers were, according to our last advices, still at Gaure, and those under Monsieur de la Trousse at Deyne; but we are assured that they have this day quitted the Spanish Territories. Our Letters from Vienna of the 21 past, say, The two Attacks that were carried on by the Bavarian Troops were very far advanced, and that they had sprung a Mine with very good success; that the besieged however seemed little concerned thereat, relying upon the strength of their Garrison in case of an assault, and being encouraged by the News they had that the Seraskier Bassa was marching to their relief; But we hope the Duke of Lorraine who marched the 16th with all his Horse and Dragons to meet him, hath by a new Victory put an end to that Siege; which has lasted the longer for that the attacks were not at first carried on as they ought to have been, the blame whereof is so far laid upon the Count de Staremburg, who had the chief conduct thereof, that he has left the Army, and Count Leslie is appointed to Command in his stead. We have likewise advice that the King of Poland having sent part of his Army towards Caminnic as if he intended to besiege it, and making a shew of following himself with the rest, he had on the sudden, upon advice that a great Body of Turks, Tartars and Transilvanians were on their march to fall upon him when engaged in that Siege, changed his march and was gone to meet and fight them.

Paris, October 4. The Court is still at Chambor, and will, it's believed, continue there some time longer. The French Fleet Commanded by Monsieur du Quesne have been before Genoua, but it's said a violent Storm obliged them to retire. Since the arrival of the German Letters yesterday, we have had the News here that Buda is taken, the Garrison having, it's said, Capitulated the 23 past: Every Body believes it; but after so many false reports, it is fit we expect a Confirmation.

Plimouth, September 23. The 21 Instant His Majesty's Ship the Drake arrived here from the Streights.

Whitehall, September 25. Their Majesties and their Royal Highnesses are returned hither with the whole Court from Winchester.
