

"rendering more easy the taking the poll at county elections," it is enacted, that it shall be lawful for His Majesty, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, from time to time, on petition from the justices of any county, riding, parts, or division in England or Wales, in quarter sessions assembled, representing, that the number of polling places for such county, riding, parts, or division is insufficient, and praying, that the place or places mentioned in the said petition may be a polling place or polling places for the county, riding, parts or division of the county within which such place or places is or are situate, to declare that any place or places mentioned in the said petition shall be a polling place or polling places for that county, riding, parts, or division; and that the justices of the peace for such county, riding, parts, or division, in quarter sessions or some special sessions assembled, as mentioned in the Act, passed in the third year of the reign of His said late Majesty, intituled "An Act to settle and determine the division of counties, and the limits of cities and boroughs, in England and Wales, in so far as respects the election of Members to serve in Parliament," shall, conformably to the said last-mentioned Act, divide such county, riding, parts, or division into convenient polling districts, and assign one of such districts to each polling place:

And whereas the justices of the peace in and for the county of Norfolk, in quarter sessions assembled, on the thirteenth day of March one thousand eight hundred and thirty-nine, agreed to petition, and have accordingly presented their petition to Her Majesty, representing that the number of polling places for the eastern division of the said county is insufficient, and therefore praying, that the town of Loddon may be a polling place for the said eastern division:

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, having taken the said petition into consideration, doth, pursuant to the said Act of the seventh year of His said late Majesty's reign, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, declare, order, and direct, that the said town of Loddon shall be a polling place for the said eastern division; and further, that the justices of the peace for the said county, assembled in quarter sessions or some special sessions, as mentioned in the said Act of the third year of His said late Majesty's reign, shall, conformably to the said last-mentioned Act, divide the said eastern division of the said county into convenient polling districts, and assign one of such districts to each polling place.

Wm. L. Bathurst.

Whitehall, May 15, 1839.

The Queen taking into Her royal consideration that, upon the decease of George Earl of Essex, the title and dignity of Earl of Essex devolved upon Arthur-Algermon, now Earl of Essex, as nephew and next heir of the said George Earl of Essex, deceased, and that, according to the ordinary rules of honour, the brothers and sisters of the said Arthur-Algermon, now Earl of Essex, cannot enjoy that place and precedence which would have been due to them in case their father, the late Honourable John-Thomas Capel, second son of the late William-Anne-Holles Earl of Essex, and next brother of the said George Earl of Essex, had survived the said George Earl of Essex, and had succeeded to the title and dignity of Earl of Essex; Her Majesty has been graciously pleased to ordain and declare, that Algermon-Henry-Champagné Capel, Esq.; Adolphus-Frederick-Charles-Molyneux Capel, Esq.; Horatia Capel, spinster; Jane, wife of David Maccloughlin, Esq.; and Mary and Amelia Capel, spinsters, brothers and sisters of the said Arthur-Algermon now Earl of Essex, shall henceforth have, hold, and enjoy the same titles, place, pre-eminence, and precedence, as if their said late father John-Thomas Capel had succeeded to the said title and dignity of Earl of Essex:

And Her Majesty has been further pleased to command, that the said royal order and declaration be registered in Her College of Arms.
