Whitehall, June 21, 1842.

THE following Addresses were presented to the Queen by the Right Honourable Sir James Graham, Bart. Secretary of State for the Home Department, and were very graciously received by Her Majesty :

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

The humble Address of the President, Council, and Fellows of the Royal Society of London for Improving Natural Knowledge.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the President, Council, and Fellows of the Royal Society of London for Improving Natural Knowledge, beg leave to approach your Majesty's Throne with the expression of our deep sorrow that any subject of your Majesty should dare to lift his arm against your Majesty's sacred person.

We offer up to Divine Providence the grateful homage of our hearts, that he has been graciously pleased to guard a life so valuable to all the inhabitants of these realms; and we pray, most fervently, that the same Almighty protection may long preserve your Majesty, in the possession of health and every other blessing, to your family and your people. Transmitted by the Earl of Northampton.
