

Mersey Conservancy.

No. 2, Whitehall-Place, London,
September 5, 1844.

IN compliance with the fifth and sixth of Victoria, cap. cx, I insert the following notice from Mr. George John Chamberlain, relative to enclosing a part of Tranmere-pool, in the river Mersey, and I have to inform all whom it may concern, that my Lords Commissioners for the Conservancy of the river Mersey do not sanction the proposal contained therein.

Geo. Evans, Capt. R.N. Acting Conservator.

Chester, 20th August 1844.

To the Lords Conservators of the river Mersey, and Acting Conservator thereof.

You will please to take notice, that George John Chamberlain, of the city of Chester, and county of the same city, Gentleman, purposes to enclose that portion of the shore lying contiguous to property belonging to him, situate in the township of Tranmere, on the margin of Tranmere-pool, bounded on the north by the low water gut in the said pool, on the east by the shore of the river Mersey, on the south by the graving dock, and on the west by the property aforesaid, for the purpose of increasing the landing accommodation, and obtaining sufficient depth of water at the wharfrage during ordinary spring tides for small coasting vessels, by constructing a river wall of 202 yards or thereabouts in length; the general design and intention of which will be understood by reference to the accompanying plan and section.

The river wall will be erected at a right angle with the graving dock (parallel in some degree with the river front of the present yards, &c.), and carried in a direction N.N.W. for 130 yards or thereabouts, then in a westerly direction for 72 yards or thereabouts to the north east extremity of the yards above mentioned.

It is proposed to excavate the mud or silt from the face of the intended wall to the low water gut of Tranmere-pool, so as to obtain the requisite depth of water, by which it may be seen (by reference to the accompanying section) that there would be an increased capacity for the tidal waters, notwithstanding the proposed abstraction of a portion of the strand.

The wall will be erected of good sand-stone rubble, founded on a good stiff clay, and completed in a substantial manner.

It is proposed to commence the works immediately on the expiration of the term required by the Act after this notice shall have been given.
