

I am convinced, as you are, that peace and friendly relations between France and England are for two nations, made to esteem and honour each other, a source of innumerable and equal advantages; the preservation of that good understanding is, at the same time, a pledge of peace to the world at large, and secures the tranquil and regular progress of civilization for the benefit of all nations; I consider my co-operation in this holy work, under the protection of Divine Providence, as the mission and the honour of my reign: such has been the aim and the object of all my efforts, and I trust that the Almighty will crown them with success.

I thank you in the name of France, and in my own, for this manifestation of your sentiments, they will be fully appreciated in my country, coupled as they are with the many tokens of friendship which I have received from your gracious Sovereigns.

I thank you most cordially for your kind feelings towards myself and my family; the impression produced upon me by the presentation of your address will never be effaced from my heart.

AT the Court at Windsor, the 7th day of October 1844,

PRESENT,

The QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty in Council.

WHEREAS Her Majesty's Commissioners for building new churches have, in pursuance of the sixteenth section of an Act, passed in the fifty-ninth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the last session of Parliament, for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes," duly prepared and laid before Her Majesty in Council a representation, bearing date the second day of September one thousand eight hundred and forty-four, in the words following, viz.

"Your Majesty's Commissioners for building new churches, appointed by virtue of an Act, passed in the fifty-eighth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;"

continued by an Act, passed in the session of Parliament holden in the seventh and eighth years of the reign of His Majesty King George the Fourth, intituled "An Act to amend the Acts for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;" and further continued by an Act, passed in the first year of your Majesty's reign, intituled "An Act to prolong, for ten years, Her Majesty's Commission for building new churches;" beg leave humbly to represent to your Majesty, that, having taken into consideration all the circumstances attending the parish of Wakefield, in the county of York, and diocese of Ripon, it appears to them to be expedient, that a particular district should be assigned to Saint John's church, in the said parish, under the provisions of the sixteenth section of an Act, passed in the fifty-ninth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Third, intituled "An Act to amend and render more effectual an Act, passed in the last session of Parliament, for building, and promoting the building, of additional churches in populous parishes;" and that such district should be named, "Saint John's District," and should consist of parts of the townships of Wakefield and Stanley cum Wrenthorpe, and be bounded as follows, that is to say; the boundary to commence at the point marked A on the map hereunto annexed, where the north-east boundary of the chapelry district of Alverthorpe intersects the middle of Balne-lane; and thence proceeding in an easterly direction along the centre of Balne-lane to the end of the public foot path, leading from Balne-lane by the north-east walls of the New West Riding House of Correction to the back lane; thence in a south-east direction along the centre of the said public path; and by the said walls of the said new prison to the back lane; thence proceeding in a north-easterly direction along the centre of the said back lane, north of the Tammy-hall and the Court-house crossing Wood-street; and proceeding thence along the centre of Rishworth-street till it meets the centre line of Northgate; thence proceeding south along the centre of Northgate till it meets Providence-street-end; and thence proceeding north-east along the centre of and to the upper or northern end of Providence-street; and thence proceeding in an easterly direction along the centre of a road or street called Saxille-street till it meets the centre of a road or lane called New-road; and
