Berkshire, between Reading and Newbury.

The distinguished Freehold Manorial Tithe-free estate of Aldermaston, with the fine old Mansion, Pleasure-grounds, Gardens, Park, Woods, Farms, the entire Village, and perpetual right of nomination to the Church, with the Impropriate Tithes of the parish.

MESSRS. Farebrother, Clark, and Lye are instructed to sell, at Garraway's, on Wednesday the 9th day of June 1847, at twelve o'clock, under the authority of an Act of Parliament, and pursuant to an Order of the High Court of Chancery, with the approbation of John Edmund Dowdeswell, Esq. one of the Masters of the said Court, in lots;

The distinguished and important manorial freehold estate of Aldermaston, with its ancient mansion, a fine specimen of architecture in the reign of Charles the First, capital gardens, lawns, pleasure-grounds, ponds stored with fish, the forest-like park, several excellent farms, with suitable farm buildings, the entire village, consisting of residences, with lands, the Congreve Arms Inn and Posting-house, with numerous shops and dwelling-houses, the whole containing about 2792 acres.

Also the tithes of the parish, the manor, with quit-rents, royalties, and right of free warren, &c. and the perpetual right of nomination to the parish church.

The estate is situate in a fine part of the county of Berks, commanding extensive and varied views; about two miles from the railway station from Reading to Newbury, ten miles from Reading, nine from Newbury, nine from Basingstoke, and forty-eight from London, within two hours ride of the metropolis, and partly bounded by the Kennett and Avon navigable river.

Also in separate lots, the detached portions of the estate, situate near the above, and in the parishes of Mortimer, Padworth, Pamber, and Sulhampstead, containing about 368 acres of meadow, pasture, arable, and wood lands, and several cottages, &c.

Descriptive particulars, with plans, are preparing, and may be had one month prior to the sale, at the said Master's chambers, in Southampton-buildings; of Mr. Kenrick Hickman, Aldermaston, who will shew the estate; also at the Bear Inn, Reading; Globe, Newbury; Crown, Basingstoke; Angel, Oxford; of Messrs. Barker and Hignett, Solicitors, Chester; of Messrs. Lee and Brooks, Solicitors, Whitechurch; of Messrs. Lee and Sons, Redbrook, Whitechurch; of Messrs.
