

aforsaid rivulet, which is the boundary of the townships of Cleckheaton and Liversedge; and then follows the said rivulet, in a westerly direction, till it arrives at the point where the first or more easterly of the two streams which cross the Leeds and Elland turnpike road, at Moor Bottom, meets the said rivulet, and then proceeds in a straight line to the crown or centre of Hunsworth-bridge aforsaid, where the district commenced, and as the same is more particularly delineated on the map hereunto annexed, and thereon coloured red :

“ Your Majesty’s said Commissioners beg leave further to represent, that it appears to them to be also expedient, that banns of marriage should be published, or continue to be published, and that marriages, baptisms, churchings, and burials should be solemnized or performed, or continue to be solemnized or performed, in the said church of Saint John, at Cleckheaton aforsaid; and that the fees arising therefrom should be equally divided between the Incumbent of such church for the time being and the Vicar of the said parish of Birstall for the time being :

“ That the consents of the said Charles Thomas Lord Bishop of Ripon, as Bishop of the diocese, and as the patron of the parish church of Birstall aforsaid, and of the Reverend William Margetson Heald, as the Vicar or Incumbent of such parish church, have been severally obtained to such proposed alteration of boundaries as aforsaid, as required by the sixth section of the Act lastly hereinbefore mentioned; in testimony whereof, the said Charles Thomas Lord Bishop of Ripon and William Margetson Heald have respectively signed and sealed this representation :

“ Your Majesty’s said Commissioners beg leave also to represent, that, having taken into further consideration all the circumstances of the said parish of Birstall, it appears to them to be also expedient, that particular districts should be assigned to three other consecrated churches in the said parish, namely, to All Saints’ Church at Robert-town, to the old church or chapel at Drighlington, and to the old church or chapel at Whitechapel, under and by virtue of the power or authority for such purpose contained in the sixteenth section of the said Act, passed in the fifty-ninth year of the reign of His late Majesty

King George the Third, or under or by virtue of any and every other power or authority enabling your Majesty’s said Commissioners in this behalf, and that such districts should be severally named, “ The Chapelry District of Robert-town,” “ The Chapelry District of Drighlington,” and “ The Chapelry District of Whitechapel,” and that the boundaries of such districts should be as follow, that is to say :

“ The boundary of the chapelry district of Robert-town commences at the point where the township of Heckmondwike and the hamlets of Little-town and Robert-town severally meet, from which point it proceeds in a straight line south westerly to the point where the West Riding Union Railway crosses the Leeds and Huddersfield turnpike road; it then follows the said railway in a westerly direction till it arrives at the boundary of the hamlet of Robert-town, which boundary it follows in a south westerly direction as far as the boundary line which separates the parish of Birstall from the township of Hartishead-cum-Clifton, in the detached part of the parish of Dewsbury, and then follows such boundary south easterly until it meets the boundary of the parish of Mirfield, and then continues along the boundary line separating the parishes of Birstall and Mirfield till they meet the parish of Dewsbury, and then follows the boundary line separating the parish of Birstall from that of Dewsbury as far as the point where the boundary of the townships of Liversedge and Heckmondwike meet at the said parish of Dewsbury, and then follows such boundary north westerly till it arrives at the point where the district commenced, as the same is more particularly delineated on the said map hereunto annexed, and thereon coloured blue :

“ The boundaries of the chapelry district of Drighlington are the ancient and well known boundaries of the township of Drighlington, and are more particularly delineated on the said map hereunto annexed, and thereon coloured brown :

“ The chapelry district of Whitechapel is to consist of the hamlets of Oakenshaw and Scholes, and that portion of the hamlet of Cleckheaton which is not included in Saint John’s district, Cleckheaton, and is bounded as follows, namely, on the north east by the township of Hunsworth, as far as Hunsworth-bridge; on the east by a line drawn in a southerly direction from Hunsworth-
