

convenient to communicate to him by Letter, therefore desired he would repair to Waradin, that he might inform him thereof by word of mouth, and that he might come with all security, the Bassa sent him a Passport. Hereupon Teckelej resolved to go thither, accompanied with Petrozzy and some others of his principal Adherents, and 500 Horse; The Bassa came out to meet him, and received him with all the appearance of Kindness and Esteem, and conducted him into the Town, with only eight of his Attendants, causing all the Cannon of the place to be discharged, with other marks of respect, and entertained him at Supper; which being ended, an Aga with his Janizaries enter'd the Room, and having told Teckelej he had Orders from the Grand Signior to seize him; and to carry him to Adriano-ple, caused Irons to be put upon his Hands and Feet; at the same time the Bassa told Petrozzy (who next to Teckelej was the Chief of the Rebels) that the Grand Signior gave him the Principality and Command which Teckelej had had, and that he would assist him with all his Forces; which Petrozzy seem'd to accept of, but being got out of the place, and coming to the 500 Horse that attended Teckelej thither, he informed them of what had happen'd, and exhorted them to return to their Duty to the Emperor; and to put themselves immediately into his Service; which they agreeing to, Petrozzy march'd directly to the Camp before Caschaw, and sent to the rest of their Party to advise them to follow their example, which they accordingly did; and we are told, that 7000 of the Rebels came with Petrozzy into the Imperial Camp; General Caprara having granted them the benefit of the General Amnestic, sent Petrozzy into Caschaw, to give the Inhabitants an account of what had befall Teckelej, which he having done, and withall acquainting them that the Mines at the Foot of the Wall were ready to Spring, they presently resolv'd to surrender the place upon Articles, most of the Garrison entering into the Imperial Service. After which General Caprara sent to the Princess of Ragorzi, Wife to Count Teckelej, to require her to surrender the strong Castle of Mongatz, which its not doubted she will do, in the circumstances she now is in.
