FRIDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1849.

Whitehall, December 24, 1849.

THE following Addresses of condolence to the Queen, on the occasion of the death of Her late Majesty Queen Adelaide, having been transmitted to the Right Honourable Sir George Grey, Bart. Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, for presentation, were presented accordingly to Her Majesty, who was pleased to receive the same very graciously:

To the QUEEN'S Most Excellent Majesty.

May it please your Majesty,

WE, your Majesty's loyal and dutiful subjects, the Lord Provost, Magistrates and Council of the city of Edinburgh, beg leave to approach the Throne with the expression of our sincere sympathy and condolence with your Majesty, on the loss which your Majesty and the Empire have sustained by the death of your esteemed Aunt, Adelaide the Queen Dowager, whose memory will long be affectionately cherished by the people of these Realms, on account of the high moral worth and unfeigned piety of which Her Majesty set so eminent an example to all ranks of the community, and which shed a lustre on the reign of our late venerated Sovereign.

Deeply sensible of the blessings which we enjoy under your Majesty's Government, we fervently pray that it may please the Sovereign Ruler and Disposer of all events, long to preserve your Majesty in the enjoyment of every domestic comfort and blessing, and to reign over a happy, a loyal, and an attached people.

Signed in our name, and by our appointment, and the Seal of the City affixed hereto, at Edinburgh, the 11th day of December 1849 years.

W. Johnston, Lord Provost.

[Transmitted by the Lord Provost.]
