THE Right Honourable Sir John Pakington has this day received two Dispatches and their Enclosures, of which the following are Copies, addressed to the Right Honourable Earl Grey by Lieutenant-General Sir Henry G. W. Smith, Bart., K.G.C.B.

No. 56.—Military.

*King William's Town,
7th April, 1852.*

MY LORD,

MY Dispatch to your Lordship, No. 47, of the 17th ultimo, will have described the operations and movements of the troops under my command up to that date.

2. Shortly after its transmission, Lieutenant-Colonel Perceval reported that in continuance of his operations he had completely cleared the Fish River Bush of the enemy, spoiling him of 350 head of cattle and many goats and horses, capturing also several stand of arms, and slaying many of his men. I cannot too highly commend the very able, judicious, and soldier-like conduct of Lieutenant-Colonel Perceval in the performance of a very arduous and difficult duty, which he effected by a succession of movements so well combined that the service was carried out with the loss of only one man killed and one wounded. The Lieutenant-Colonel speaks in terms of great praise of the conduct of Major Armstrong of the Cape Mounted Rifles, and of the troops and burghers employed, the latter numbering about thirty-five from the district of Albany.

3. The facility with which, comparatively speaking, the Fish River Bush has been cleared on this occasion, may induce your Lordship to regard former operations as ill planned. I pray you therefore to bear in mind that the Kafir fought in this dense bush in a very different spirit, and that the numerous Hottentots, formerly in this stronghold, had dispersed before the late operations. I regard Lieutenant-Colonel Perceval as an officer of the highest promise.

4. The troops under Major-General Somerset, after the enemy had been dislodged from the Water Kloof and Fuller's Hoek, pursued him through the Kat River, having sent cavalry patrols into the passes of the Water Kloof. The latter slew several of the fugitives, and captured thirty-eight horses.

5. The columns of Lieutenant-Colonel Michel and Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre having joined me at the Blinkwater on the 16th ultimo, I marched on the 18th for the valley of the Chumie, on the line of the enemy's retreat into the Amatolas. From that point, on the 21st ultimo, Lieutenant-Colonels Michel and Eyre were ordered to penetrate the Inner Amatolas; while Lieutenant-Colonel Perceval, having been directed to march upon Fort Cox on the completion of his operations in the Fish River Bush, entered the mountains on that side. The instructions to these officers are annexed.

6. Colonels Michel and Eyre carried on four days' most active operations, being joined on the third by Colonel Perceval; destroying the enemy's villages, especially those of Hottentot rebels, in his most formidable holds; Colonel Eyre acting on the arc of the circle of which the operations of Colonel Michel and Colonel Perceval were the chord. They captured all the cattle they saw—about fifty head—and each officer in his report regards the flight of the enemy, and his abandonment of the Amatolas, as most complete. They could see them and their families at a distance, moving in great numbers towards the Kei. Colonel Michel thus expresses himself:—"From my own observation I am enabled decidedly to say that the Gaika tribes generally have migrated from these their strongholds. With crops utterly destroyed, and with a spirit so broken that now two companies may traverse with safety where heretofore a large column was required, I deem the war in this quarter virtually concluded, although the faithlessness of seeming allies, and bands of marauding Hottentots, may yet for a time prevent the conclusion of a peace."—The following occurs in the report of Colonel Eyre:—"We advanced through the Bomah Pass to the Quilli Quilli (Proper), thence through the Gulu Valley, ascending the heights, and back again through the Bomah Pass. The result satisfied me that this part of the mountains was entirely abandoned.

With the exception of three Kafirs whom I could see through my telescope, all tréking towards the Kabousie Neck, two or three women in the bush, too old to trék, and two Kafirs, near the Bomah Pass, there was not a living soul to be seen, while all the spoor indicated that the cattle had tréked towards the Kabousie during the rains that fell as we entered the mountains. In the afternoon I marched with the whole force through the Lenga, and bivouacked on the Keiskamma. On the following day, the 24th, I marched to Fort Cox."

7. I enclose the copy of a report from the Gaika Commissioner, corroborative of those of the officers in command of patrols,

8. These operations having been thus most effectually and energetically carried out, I moved my head-quarters, on the 25th ultimo, to Fort Cox, where I had assembled the troops under Colonels Michel, Eyre, and Perceval, on issuing the general instructions annexed.

9. Having established Colonel Michel with his column at Fort Cox, occupying Mount Macdonald, I, on the following day, the 26th ultimo, returned to head quarters at King William's Town, moving at the same time the commands of Colonels Eyre and Perceval for the purpose of posting the former in the Keiskamma Hoek, and the latter on the range of the Quilli Quilli. Previously, however, to their taking up these positions, I directed Colonel Eyre, with Colonel Perceval, thoroughly to penetrate and clear the great forest of Perie, the Buffalo Poorts, and Murray's Krantz, all great resorts of the enemy. This service, after two days' energetic and determined operations, was most effectually performed; upwards of 100 head of cattle and several horses having been captured, great numbers of villages burned in the very forest, and large fields of cultivation destroyed on the verge of the woods. Scarcely any resistance was offered by the enemy. Colonel Eyre describes these forests as more dense and difficult to penetrate than even those of Fuller's Hoek and the Blinkwater. While these operations were in progress, I detached Captain Moody of the Royal Engineers with a strong detachment from King William's Town to post himself between Murray's Krantz and the Isele Berg, to intercept fugitives driven before Colonel Eyre.

10. The 12th Lancers had previously marched to occupy the Kabousie Neck. Major Tottenham, commanding the regiment during the temporary illness of Lieutenant-Colonel Pole, reports, that on his march thither he captured 78 head of cattle, and a number of goats, all being driven towards the Kei; and that he observed large herds in the distance rapidly moving in the same direction; indicating a general trék.

11. On the evening of the 28th ultimo, I received information, corroborative of the above, on which I could rely, that large herds of Gaika cattle, fleeing from the Amatolas, had been collected at the junction of the Doorn and Thomas Rivers with the Kei, a country well adapted for concealment and defence. I, therefore, immediately sent orders to Colonel Eyre not to occupy, as originally intended, the Keiskamma Hoek, but to detach Colonel Perceval for that purpose; and, moving his own column to the Katousie Neck, to take with him the 12th Lancers, and make a rapid movement to seize these Gaika cattle, a service for which his enterprising character well adapts him. I at the same time detached from King William's Town Captain Robertson, of the Royal Engineers, in command of a patrol of 250 men, to complete the work of devastation throughout the Isele Berg, a thickly wooded ridge, trending from Murray's Krantz eastward to Hangman's Bush, and lying between King William's Town and the Kabousie.

12. Captain Robertson returned on the 2nd instant, having completely traversed the country pointed out in my instructions. He reports it to be completely abandoned by the enemy. A few huts and some fields of ripe corn were destroyed, no one having been near to gather it; and no spoor of cattle was discovered. Colonel Eyre's report reached me on the 5th instant. Having, according to my directions, gained the Kabousie Neck, and been joined by the 12th Lancers, he made a rapid night march on the indicated position on the Kei, which he reached at daybreak on the 31st ultimo. The enemy was completely taken by surprise, and Colonel Eyre, coming on the fresh spoor, or track of cattle, at once pursued it down the bed of the Kei. By another vigorous night march, he came up on the morning of the 1st instant with the flying herds, driven upon an insulated mountain. A most judicious movement of the troops in detached parties, so ably disposed as to prevent escape, was immediately made, and, after some opposition, 1220 head of Gaika cattle, 15 horses, and hundreds of goats, were captured. Colonel Eyre had previously detached Major Armstrong with 100 cavalry to his left, to take possession of a difficult pass, strongly occupied by the enemy, mounted and on foot. After completing this service, that officer, by a dexterous manœuvre, in which he appeared to fly before the enemy, lured him into some comparatively open ground, then, suddenly turning, drove him back, with considerable loss in killed, charging himself directly to the front with the detachment of Cape Corps, and Armstrong's Horse, while Captain Digby's troop of the 12th Lancers fell upon the right rear of the enemy. Major Armstrong subsequently captured 100 head of cattle; the total number taken during the grand operations amounting to 1391. Colonel Eyre speaks in high terms of praise of Lieutenant-Colonel Skipwith, of the 43rd Light Infantry, Major Pinckney, of the 73rd Regiment, Captain the Honourable P. E. Herbert, of the 43rd, and several other officers; and most especially of Major Armstrong and his corps, and Captain Cureton, of the 12th Lancers. He describes the latter officer, who commanded the advance, as having been more than once warmly engaged with the enemy, and on one occasion having "dashed fearlessly across the Kei," in face of a sharp fire kept up from the opposite bank. Colonel Eyre, having thus, with such enterprise and perseverance, effected this large capture, so important on the approaching termination of the war, commenced his march to re-occupy his position in the Amatolas or Keiskamma Hoek; having, in the short space of six days, achieved the most able foray of the many he has conducted during this war.

13. Meanwhile, the troops and burghers, under Major-General Somerset, have been pursuing the enemy in every direction on the northern side of the Amatolas. The Major-General reports from the Windvogelberg, on the 27th ultimo, that he had been on the track of numerous fugitives and cattle, all in full retreat towards the Kei; but, that "the Kafirs are so completely broken and divided that it is impossible to get up with them, except in very straggling parties; all seeming anxious to get over the Kei and escape from the forces as quickly as possible." So vigorous, however, was the pursuit, that it appears by a subsequent report from General Somerset, dated the 1st instant, that some of the enemy endeavoured to turn and make their way back to the Amatolas, with their cattle. The Major-General's mounted force came upon a part of these, and on the 28th ultimo captured 1500 head of cattle.

14. On the evening of the 29th ultimo, I received a report from Colonel Michel, that the rebel Hottentots, and a body of Kafirs, had collected in the Amatolas, and interrupted detachments of our troops in the Wolf Valley or Den, and neighbourhood of Mount Macdonald, and that it was his intention to move his whole force upon them. I regard this movement of the enemy as caused by the temporary absence of Colonels Eyre and Perceval. Their distance from this nest of rebels, although not great, was still sufficient to enable the latter to rally and assail detachments according to their usual custom. Although all the officers in command reported their conviction that the Kafirs generally had fled from the Amatolas, I was always of opinion that many of their warriors and of the rebel Hottentots would hang about the mountains, so long as they could possibly there maintain themselves. Mr. Brownlee, the Gaika Commissioner, entertained the same impression, as appears by the latter part of his letter of the 26th ultimo (Enclosure No. 2). I have, through a Government notice, warned the colonists to continue most vigilant, for they may rest assured the country will be infested by numerous bands of robbers for months to come. Subsequent reports from Colonel Michel, one of them written from the abandoned Hottentot encampment in the Amatolas, are of the most satisfactory kind; his continued operations have been perfectly successful; and Lieutenant-Colonel Perceval has also vigorously pursued the enemy in every direction in which he was to be found.

15. On my arrival at King William's Town, I learned that the Chief Stock had applied to Pato to use his intercession in his favour. Enclosed is a copy of the T'Slambie Commissioner's report on the subject.

16. Having also received information that many Gaikas had sought refuge in Umhala's country, I despatched Messrs. Fynn and Conway to convey the annexed message to that chief. He has paid 910 of the 1000 head of cattle imposed upon him as a fine, and the remaining 90, paid on the 10th April, are reported to be on their way to King William's Town.

17. The fickle nature of the Kafir delights in change, which he ever believes will turn, in some way, to his own advantage. Peace having been made by me on my arrival in Kaffraria in 1847, Sandili is fully impressed with the idea that a similar course will be pursued on the arrival of my successor. The Kafir feeling on this point is well set forth in the letter of Mr. Brownlee, the Gaika Commissioner, under date the 4th ultimo, a copy of which, marked No. 8, is enclosed.

18. I cannot avoid once more to express my deep mortification that the burghers, as a body, upon whose aid I so much calculated in the early part of the war, and again on issuing my proclamation of the 7th February 1852, should have so signally failed in their duty to their Queen, to the colony, and to their families. As your Lordship, in your despatch of the 14th January last, appears to impute to me, with reference to them, a want of a proper conciliatory disposition, and draws a comparison between me and that able public officer, Mr. Pine, I transcribe a portion of a letter addressed to me by the Lieutenant-Governor on the 20th ultimo. "Your Excellency has been pleased to express your approbation of the policy I have pursued with regard to the Boers of this district. I feel it, however, now my duty to say that that policy was emphatically your own; and if I have been able to carry out that policy more effectually than you could do, it has been simply owing to my having been on the spot, whereas you were compelled to carry it out by means of agents who either did not or would not comprehend its spirit. The Boers, however, perfectly appreciate your views regarding them; and it is a source of the greatest pride to me to think that my name is, and perhaps will hereafter be, gratefully mentioned along with your own in the homesteads of these honest-hearted men." Your Lordship will observe that Mr. Pine, with that candour which is his guide, attributes his success to my example; and I may fairly say that, if an honest and straightforward course, desiring to promote the interests and welfare of a people fails in its object, I have nothing with which to reproach myself.

19. I have now reported to your Lordship the progress of events up to the date on which I relinquish the government of the colony of the Cape and the command of the Army. My position has been as arduous, and one of as great difficulty, as ever man was placed in. The origin of this war involves a most intricate and truly complicated question, requiring a general view to be taken of antecedent subjects. It is an incontrovertible fact that the Kafir people were most contented with the rule established in British Kaffraria; while shortly previous to the outbreak a restlessness on the part of some of the chiefs became apparent. At this period the treachery of the fickle and ungrateful Hottentot was at work. Many of them, possessing just sufficient education to make them mischievous and capable of observing what occurred at public meetings held within the colony to resist and oppose every measure of Government which the colonists regarded as the exercise of constitutional rights, though, in point of fact, such proceedings approached the brink of anarchy and confusion, could not discriminate between national remonstrance and open resistance. Filled with the belief that they were an "oppressed and ill-used race," they proceeded covertly to concert with the Kafirs those hostile schemes which were fast approaching maturity, when my presence on the frontier, and the measures I took, most fortunately precipitated the war ere the conspiring parties were prepared and their means collected. Had it been otherwise, the outbreak would have been far more formidable even than it has been. I tried every expedient to avoid war short of that concession which would have lowered the dignity of Her Majesty's authority; yet a most peculiar feature of this outbreak was, that no specific reason was ever assigned, nor any redress sought, by the Kafir Chiefs, though frequently called upon to state their cause of restlessness, if such actually existed; while the Gaika people professed attachment to the existing order of things, and were apparently most contented with a rule which protected them from tyranny. All Mission Stations were flourishing and more than usually attended. During this time the Hottentots were passive—some doubted their loyalty—this roused them—and from several places, even from the Kat River, I received public assurances of their fidelity and devotion. When the war broke out, it was regarded by me and every other functionary, as a most unpopular revolt of the Gaikas to support Sandili in error; the other Chiefs openly expressing themselves to that effect. The torch of tumult, however, was soon blazing; and my means were for months most inadequate, amounting to only 1700 British troops, the greater part of whom occupied twelve unavoidable garrisons, leaving 800 available to control 4,000 Hottentot auxiliaries of doubtful loyalty, and to meet these hordes of well-armed, athletic, and intrepid barbarians in the field. Operations had to be carried on over an extent of country larger than Great Britain and Ireland, of the greatest natural difficulty, intersected as it is by mountains and rivers, and filled with woods and rocky fastnesses. My scanty force enabled me alone to maintain, with unflinching determination, every position. I relied, most fallaciously, on the inhabitants rallying round Her Majesty's troops; and they have themselves to blame for many of the horrors and miseries they have suffered at the hands of the enemy; all which I predicted in my Proclamation of the 3rd February 1851, must inevitably happen, unless they should turn out en masse to resist the torrent. I encountered a revolt—as I have already shown most unexpected—of nearly the whole of the eastern Hottentot population, formerly so useful against the Kafirs; as also an extensive defection in a corps of that class, previously most loyal and of the highest utility in Kafir warfare. The Hottentots had been taught or had imbibed the marked impression to which I have before alluded, that they were an "oppressed and ill-used race;" and that Holy Writ, which they are very fond of quoting, taught them they were justified in fighting to regain the country of which they regarded themselves as deprived. Surrounded as I and Major-General Somerset were by these people drawn from the eastern and western districts, one false step or untimely exercise of power and martial law would have plunged the whole into a chaos of revolution; Her Majesty's troops must have abandoned their advanced positions, and fallen back on Graham's Town; and the T'Slambie tribes would have risen as well as every curly-headed black from Cape Town to Natal.

20. During the prosecution of this war, 6,000 warriors, according to the Kafirs' own statement, have fallen, including 80 chief men, all of them of some distinction; 80,975 head of cattle, and innumerable goats, have been taken from the Gaikas, Tambookies, and from Kreili, the latter having suffered an additional loss by the removal of 7,000 of the enslaved Fingoe race, bringing with them 15,000 head of cattle; many arms and nearly 900 horses have been captured; the enemy has been driven, with great loss, from the strongholds which he so determinedly held; and, throughout the whole of their locations, the crops of the Gaikas have been utterly destroyed.

21. Thus have these most formidable barbarians been visited with the punishment their murders and robberies merit, the result of that horrid war which they so wantonly commenced, fraternizing with the ungrateful Hottentot race; and which the military measures now in effectual course of operation for their expulsion from the fastnesses of the Amatolas, will complete. The effect must be, as far as human foresight can predict, to establish permanently that peace and tranquillity which the colonists hope for, and to relieve the Imperial Treasury from a recurrence of an expenditure which has been indeed enormous, notwithstanding my utmost exertions, by every practicable and energetic restriction, to control it.

22. I am accused in your Lordship's despatch of having "failed in shewing that foresight, energy, and judgment, which my very difficult position required;" and censured for not having sooner brought this war to a termination; although in your Lordship's despatch, No. 592, of the 8th March 1851, the following remark appears:—"It is a great satisfaction to me in the anxiety in which I am placed by the intelligence which has reached me, to know that I may rely with the utmost confidence, not only upon your vigour and judgment in your military operations, but also upon your enlightened humanity." This has, however, been a war unavoidably of gradual progression, to ensure the result I anticipated and have attained, and one which could not have been conducted differently. I speak with some experience in war on a large scale as well as of a desultory character. When regular armies are opposed to each other, a signal victory may decide the fate of a nation. In a war with barbarians, who fight only when it so pleases them, avoiding concentration, but who are still determined to resist, the contest is necessarily of long duration. I may therefore proudly derive satisfaction from the reflection which has led me to record these facts, that this war will have been brought to the required conclusion with that expedition which all the peculiar circumstances permit; while during its progress neither soldier nor troop-horse has ever wanted his daily ration. Every fort and post is well supplied with provisions and ammunition; large depôts of the munitions of war are at head-quarters and at Graham's Town; and I have thus been recently enabled to make considerable reduction in the transport—a very expensive branch. I have been well supported by the Commissariat and the Civil Department of the Ordnance, and I enclose a copy of my General Order as a record of their respective merits.

23. I transfer the Civil Government without a single particle of business in arrear, and with a treasury without a debt; while all the civil officers have worked under me with energy and zeal. The war impending over the Orange River Territory, with all its evils and horrors, has been averted; while, had its prosecution become imperative, I had collected an ample depôt of Commissariat supplies at Bloem Fontein. Amicable relationship has been established with the Trans Vaal Emigrant Boers,—the refractory native chiefs are restoring their plunder, and submitting to the conditions imposed on them, the turbulent Boers within the Sovereignty, when convicted of overt acts of disloyalty, have had heavy pecuniary fines inflicted on them, many of which, to the amount of £1,075, have already been promptly paid, which I have caused to be placed in the imperial chest, and to its credit,—property rises considerably in value,—and the revenue of the Sovereignty exceeds its expenditure. The flourishing condition of Natal is deeply indebted to the able and judicious government of Mr. Pine, who, in a letter to me of the 20th March, thus expresses himself: "The only service I have really rendered your Excellency was the sending the contingent into the Sovereignty, and the greater part of any merit there may be attached to that service belongs partly to you. It is an easy thing for a subordinate officer to do his duty when he feels that he has a chief above him who, provided he acts honestly and straightforwardly, will support him whether he succeeds or fails. Such a chief I have had in your Excellency."

24. I relinquish the command of the troops as expressed in the General Order annexed, at a period when, according to the reports I have received from officers in command and other sources, the mass of the Gaikas have been expelled from the Amatolas; when the Kafirs, etc as well as trans Keian, have repeatedly sued for peace, and when the war is virtually terminated; its continuance having been prosecuted to visit these turbulent savages with that retribution which justice demands, and according to the injunctions in your Lordship's despatch of the 13th May 1851, conveyed in the following terms: "Your first care, before any permanent arrangement can be thought of, must be to put an end to the war; but desirable as it is that this should be accomplished as speedily as possible, I cannot too strongly express my opinion that you ought on no account to accept from the rebel tribes any imperfect submission, and that you should not allow hostilities to be concluded by anything but their complete subjection and unconditional surrender. It is thus only that a real peace, and not a short and hollow truce, can be obtained."

I have, &c.

P.S.—8th April, 1852.

Since closing this despatch, while waiting to receive the Governor and Commander-in-Chief, I have received the accompanying communication from the Chief Sandili, through Lieutenant-Colonel Perceval, commanding one of the columns in the Amatolas. The Governor and Commander-in-Chief, whose Proclamation and General Order announcing his assumption of the government and command of the Army, by which I am removed from authority, have been promulgated, is expected every hour. I have therefore given it as my opinion to Colonel Mackinnon, the Chief Commissioner, that he should reply to the effect that Sandili is aware he ought to make application to the Gaika Commissioner, placed by me at Fort Cox, for the express purpose of receiving such messages, and I have also given Colonel Cloete, the Quartermaster-General, my opinion that he should direct the officers in command of columns in the meantime to continue hostilities.

Lieutenant-Colonel Perceval reports of his operations.—"On the 5th instant I moved up the Gulu River, and searched the kloofs between the Gulu and Doorn Mountains. Under the krantz, and in one of the kloofs, we succeeded in capturing 219 head of cattle, killing two Kafirs, without any casualty on our part. At three o'clock, A.M. on the 6th instant, I marched along the ridge between the Gulu and Keiskamma Rivers, to a krantz under the Doorn Mountains, where we succeeded in falling in with the enemy's cattle, killing two Kafirs, whose assagais were secured, and wounding some others, and one Hottentot. After searching the various kloofs, we captured 296 head of cattle, together with some horses. We returned to camp at 4½ o'clock P.M., after two days' very fatiguing work."

Colonel Perceval's exertions are most meritorious.

Major-General Somerset has just reported that Lieutenant-Colonel Napier, in command of a patrol, captured on the 7th instant (yesterday) in very difficult ground, near the Thomas River, 3120 head of cattle, 70 horses, and 1500 goats; killing upwards of 50 of the enemy. This makes a total of 4500 head of cattle captured by the troops under the Major-General in his pursuit of the enemy from Balfour.

Captain Tylden, Royal Engineers, whose force from Whittlesea was attached to Major-General Somerset, thus reports:—"The party who ascended on the left flank and first turned the cattle, were led by Commandant J. Holden Bowker and Lieutenants Mason and Warner, and that on the right by Captain Austen and Lieutenant Arnold North Victoria Native Levy; and I have on this occasion brought the names of these officers to your notice, on account of the gallant and deliberate manner in which 950 head of cattle and 50 horses were wrested from the enemy in the face of a powerful resistance, the enemy attacking our rear and both flanks in order to recapture their cattle. Being, however, in strong ground, favourable for taking the cattle out of the ravines, we succeeded in bringing them up to the open heights, although the enemy followed on our rear until repeatedly repulsed."

A very gallant affair occurred as a serjeant of the Cape Mounted Rifles, with 17 men of his corps, was conveying these reports from the Major-General. He fell in at night on the Golonci, a rivulet 35 miles hence, with a party of Kafirs and cattle. This Hottentot serjeant immediately attacked them, killed several of the enemy, took arms and assagais, and brought off 5 horses and 198 head of cattle.

It gratifies me much to be thus able in my last despatch to report so favourably of the Cape Corps.

The position of affairs in British Kaffraria is now clearly developed, and the contents of the above despatch corroborated.

No. 1.

Head Quarters, Chumie Mission Station, 20th March, 1852.

THE troops at head-quarters will penetrate the Lower Amatolas to-morrow the 21st instant, in two columns; the right column under Lieutenant-Colonel Michel, reinforced by thirty cavalry and double spans of oxen to the four guns,* will move by the direct road into the Amatola Basin, possessing itself of Mount Macdonald to prevent the egress of the enemy's cattle. This will probably occupy one day's operations.

On the following day Colonel Michel will ascend the Amatola Basin, and will work towards Colonel Eyre, who will descend the Wolf Valley if circumstances do not prevent him.

Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre's column will reinforce by 150 cavalry,† cross the Hog's Back, and so move as to ensure the capture of the cattle driven from before Colonel Michel, and then descend the Wolf Valley. The two guns now attached to Colonel Eyre's column, will accompany that of Colonel Michel.

Four days' biscuit and slaughter-cattle to be taken.

The troops to be completed with ammunition.

It is possible Colonel Perceval's column may arrive at Fort Cox to participate in these movements. Orders will await his arrival there directing him to join Colonel Michel's column if possible; the copy of which is enclosed.

Their operations completed, the troops will return by the most convenient route to the spur of the Amatolas, immediately above the Yellow Woods, where head-quarters will be established to-morrow, Sunday the 21st instant. Circumstances may demand that Colonel Eyre's column should return to Fort Cox and not to head-quarters at the spur of the Amatolas. Colonel Eyre is authorized to use his judgment on this point.

Major-General Somerset's division and Burghers is moving from between Eland's post and Shiloh, to intercept fugitives and cattle attempting to gain the Windvogelberg.

Commander-in-Chief.

INSTRUCTIONS TO LIEUTENANT-COLONEL
PERCEVAL.

*Head Quarters, Chumie Mission Station,
March 20th, 1852.*

THE columns of Colonels Michel and Eyre are ordered to penetrate the Inner Amatolas, according to the instructions enclosed. It is possible Colonel Perceval may arrive at Fort Cox to participate in these operations; if so, he will place himself under the orders of Colonel Michel. It is scarcely possible Colonel Perceval can communicate with Colonel Michel, except with his whole column, he should, therefore, be guided by the firing he may hear. (Mount Macdonald is the most probable point at which he will be required.) and Mr. M'Diarmid, the Missionary, who is well acquainted with this country, and now at Fort Cox, would give much information as to the locality, and should furnish Colonel Perceval with a guide or two: without guides Colonel Perceval must not attempt to penetrate the Amatolas.

Upon the result of these operations the future movements depend; but it is my intention to move towards Fort Cox hence. Unless Colonel Michel, from circumstances, may require the aid of Colonel Perceval, his column should return to Fort Cox. In the event of Colonel Michel bringing Colonel Perceval's column to head-quarters, he will leave all stores and impediments at Fort Cox.

(Signed) H. G. SMITH,
Commander-in-Chief.

Since writing these instructions I find Mr. M'Diarmid is at Fort Hare: there is, known at Fort Cox, named a very intelligent fellow, a messenger of Mr. Brownlee, who should accompany Colonel Perceval as a guide; Corporal Golding, also, of the Cape Corps, and one or two of the privates, who well know the country.

(Signed) H. G. SMITH.

March 22nd, 1852.

IF Colonel Perceval will march as soon after the receipt of this order as may be practicable, the whole of his effective force, with four days' provisions, carried by the men, (driving slaughter-cattle,) blankets, &c. to Mount Macdonald, and there put himself in communication with Colonel Michel, and receive his orders. The guns cannot go, but rockets are to be taken. Send back receipts by bearer.

The Kaffir already named, will be the best guide, and Corporal Golding, C.M.R., to accompany Colonel Perceval, who must take especial care not to entangle himself in the mountains in the dark.

SIR, Fort Cox, March 26, 1852.

I HAVE the honour to report for the information of His Excellency Her Majesty's High Commissioner, that one of my messengers, dispatched by me to the Amatola and Wolf River, to obtain information for me, returned this morning, stating that all his relations had left the Wolf River, and that few Kaffirs were there and in the Amatola. My informant saw no cattle, and only three fires, and he states that the Kaffirs have moved towards the Gwilligwilli Mountains and the Buffalo Poorts, being unable to remain in this neighbourhood during the operations of the last few days.

While many of the Gaikas have actually crossed the Kei, and not a few have dispersed themselves among the friendly tribes, there are yet many who will, with the Chiefs, continue to conceal themselves in the mountains, awaiting the arrival of His Excellency Sir H. Smith's successor, when it is probable that they will adopt some decided course in order to obtain peace.

I have, &c.

Gaika Commissioner.

Memorandum of Movements.

THE columns under Colonels Michel, Eyre, and Perceval, will have this day completed the movements previously ordered in the Inner Amatolas for the expulsion of the rebel Gaikas, and will thus continue to prosecute this service.

1. Colonel Michel will establish the base of his operations at Fort Cox.

2. Colonel Eyre will march via Fort White, for the purpose of taking with him fifteen days' provisions, and establish himself near his old camp in the Keiskama Hoek, as the base of his operations.

3. Colonel Perceval will march via Fort White, taking with him fifteen days' provisions, and as the base of his operations, establish himself on the Quilli-Quilli Range, taking his gun with him.

4. Colonel Pole will march via Fort White and King William's Town, and with a corps of cavalry levies, and Fingoes, which will be given to him, establish himself on the Kabousie Neck, with fifteen days' provisions and forage.

5. These corps will daily despatch strong patrols in every direction from their respective bases, so as to render the Amatolas too hot for the rebels to remain in them.

6. The garrison of Fort Peddie will frequently patrol the Fish River Bush; the garrison of Fort Brown the Ecce Bush; and the garrisons of Fort Hare, Blinkwater Post, Post Retief, Eland's Post, and Whittlesea, will patrol their respective neighbourhoods with vigour and activity.

7. Meanwhile, Major-General Somerset, with his field-force of regular soldiers, levies, and burghers, will act upon the north side of the Amatolas, penetrating these mountains daily, and communicating with the Cradock Burghers under Commandant Gilfillan, and with the cavalry under Colonel Pole, on the Kabousie Neck.

8. Head Quarters will be at Fort Cox on the 25th instant, at King William's Town on the 26th, where all reports will be forwarded.

Commander-in-Chief.

GOVERNMENT NOTICE.

*King William's Town,
2nd of April, 1852.*

THE troops moved from Fort Cox, according to the "Memorandum of movements" of the 24th ultimo, already published.

Lieutenant-Colonels Eyre and Perceval, before taking up their positions in the Keiskamma Hoek and on the Quilli-Quilli, moved, by his Excellency's instructions, to clear the forest of Perie, the Buffalo Poorts, and Murray's Krantz, a service which was very effectually performed with but slight opposition: upwards of 100 head of cattle and seven horses being captured.

The 12th Lancers moved on the 25th ultimo from King William's Town to Kabousie Neck, and on their march captured 78 head of cattle and a number of goats, trekking towards the Kei, with pack oxen.

Information having reached his Excellency, during Colonel Eyre's operations at the Buffalo Poorts, that numbers of Gaika cattle were collected at the Doorn and Thomas Rivers, orders were sent to him to march immediately to the Kabousie, take with him the 12th Lancers, and endeavour to effect a capture. Colonel Perceval was at the same time directed to move into the Keiskamma Hoek. Colonel Eyre's rapid movement is attended with every prospect of success.

In the Wolf Valley and Heights above it several shots have been exchanged with the 60th Rifles and 45th Regiment, under Lieutenant-Colonel Nesbitt and Major Kyle; and five soldiers of the 60th Rifles slightly wounded, apparently from trees.

Colonel Michel had got his guns, with incredible exertion, upon Mount MacDonald, and is there established; while Colonel Perceval is in a position to co-operate with him from the Keiskamma Hoek.

Reports have been this day received from Major-General Somerset up to the 1st instant. His operations have been carried on in the direction of the Windvogelberg and Thomas River, and his rapid pursuit of the enemy has caused 1500 head of cattle to fall into his hands. General Somerset reports the Kaffirs as being completely broken and divided.

On the 30th ultimo a patrol of 250 men moved from King William's Town under Captain Robertson, Royal Engineers, for the purpose of completing the devastation of the country stretching from Murray's Krantz along the Isele Berg to Hangman's Bush. A few patches of ripe corn were found and destroyed, but everything indicated the total abandonment of that part of the country, as the crops were not gathered. Captain Robertson returned this morning to head-quarters.

The Chief Umhala has paid very nearly the whole of his fine of 1000 head of cattle, 80 head only remaining to be brought in.

All officers commanding patrols corroborate the reports of the rest, that the Kaffirs are trekking out of the Amatolas; but the colonists may rely that the Frontier Districts will long be infested by numerous banditti, and that they must not slacken in their vigilance for some months to come.

By His Excellency's command,

(Signed) JOHN GARVOCK, Lt.-Col.,
Private Secretary.

GENERAL ORDER.

*Head-Quarters, King William's Town,
April 6, 1852.*

No. 256.

1. THE exertions of the troops in following up the enemy after his expulsion from the Waterkloof and Blinkwater fastnesses, through the Amatolas across the Kei, have been marked with such success, and are of such a character, that the Commander-in-Chief congratulates the army on the prospects of a speedy termination of the war, which must result from them, and give permanent peace to the country.

2. Amongst the most remarkable achievements of the forces employed in these operations since the General Order of the 16th March, are—

1st. Lieutenant-Colonel Perceval's affair near the Sab Indada on the 31st of March.

2nd. Lieutenant Colonel Michel's operations on the Amatola, Wolf River, and Lega-Valleys, extending from the 26th of March to the 3rd of April.

3rd. Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre's clearing the Perie Bush on the 31st of March.

4th. Major-General Somerset's movement upon and capture of 1,500 head of Gaika cattle on the Thomas River.

5th. Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre's pursuit of the enemy with his herds across the Kei, capturing 1,386 head of Gaika cattle, and 15 horses, on the 3rd instant, by one of the most enterprising and successful forays of the campaign, in which Major Armstrong, Cape Mounted Rifles, Captains Cureton and Oakes, 12th Lancers, greatly distinguished themselves.

3. During these several operations many of the enemy were killed; he is dispersed and flying in scattered parties, and offered such feeble resistance, that no casualty has occurred amongst the troops.

4. The troops occupy every stronghold in the Amatolas, and it is impossible the enemy can retain even a footing, so is he pursued in every direction.

5. The Commander-in-Chief is very sensible of the services of the burghers who have turned out and aided in these operations, especially those under Commandants Gilfillan, Bowker, Delpont, Bouwer, and Plessi.

SIR,

Fort Murray, March 20, 1852.

I HAVE the honour to acquaint you that Ujika Umgagama and Qobana, Counsellors of the Rebel Chief Stock, arrived at this station on the 18th instant, with a request from Stock that Pato might intercede with his Excellency the Governor on behalf of the Amambalu tribe, as Stock was prepared to make peace on any terms dictated by his Excellency.

I annex a report of Stock's message, and Pato's reply, which I communicated to Pato, on the terms of his Excellency's memorandum of 27th November last; and Pato added, that if Stock desired to prove his submission, he ought to cross the Kei.

I beg to state that Pato has requested me to acquaint you, for the information of his Excellency, that any terms granted to the Gaikas on this side of the Kye will be treated by them as a drawn battle; and that they will boast that the English made peace, as they could not drive them out of the country.

I have, &c.

(Signed) JOHN MACLEAN,
T'Slambie Commissioner.

To Colonel Mackinnon,
Chief Commandant of Kaffraria.

Uziba, Umgagama, and Qobana, Counsellors to Stock, arrived with the following message from that Chief to the Chief Pato:—

Fort Murray, March 20, 1852.

STOCK wishes Pato to speak to the Governor to make peace with him, and the Amambalu tribe only. Stock joined in the war, because the Gaikas were fighting; but he was not one of the first that did so.

Should the Governor listen to Stock's word, he will make peace on any terms which may be demanded by the Governor.

The Chief Pato communicated Stock's message to the T'Slambie Commissioner, who declined seeing Stock's counsellors; and Pato gave the following reply to Stock's counsellors, as directed by the T'Slambie Commissioner.

The Gaikas coalesced and made war. They must coalesce in one general submission on the terms the Governor will dictate when their submission is tendered.

The Chief Pato added, "Tell Stock to cross the Kie; it will be quite time to talk of peace, when he proves his submission by leaving the war party and crossing the Kie."

T'Slambie Commissioner.

CHIEF UMHALA,

I RETURNED here yesterday from destroying Macomo, and driving Sandili through the Amatolas, thousands of his people out of them. My troops hold Mount Macdonald, and every other strong place. The horse march to-morrow to the Kabousie Neck. I find you have paid 170 more cattle; I desire the whole immediately, or I will send troops for them. I also hear that many Gaikas who have fled from the Amatolas have been received into your country, among others Umcozana, one of Sandili's great men, has moved by your permission to the Qemore River, at Fyatu's old Kraal, also Qconxa, Chief of several kraals of Gaikas, has moved to the Mchloemyska River. Also that Umpandisis' people have returned, all of which is contrary to my orders: viz. Take Neuku, Mayanda, and Ungita, all on the Twrnae. Now, Chief Umhala, clearly understand, my word is, that you eat up all Umpandisis' people, and that you drive every Gaika out of your country, their cattle being seized and sent to me. Mark well what I order, or you will repeat it.

I have received the message you sent me through Maclean. I have never been your enemy when you acted so as to enable me to be your friend.

*Fort Cox,
4th March, 1852.*

SIR,

IN reference to my private letter to you, wherein I mentioned that Sandili had called a meeting of the Gaika Chiefs, in order to take into consideration his proposal of the surrender of firearms as a means of obtaining peace, I have the honour to report to you, for the information of His Excellency Her Majesty's High Commissioner that in consequence of His Excellency's recall, the meeting did not take place, all the Gaika Chiefs deeming it wiser to continue without making any concession until the arrival of His Excellency's successor in this country, when the Kafirs hope to obtain peace on their own terms.

From the time that the Kafirs began to sue for peace until they heard of the change which is about to take place, messengers were frequently sent to me from the chiefs, and during the time that the crops were being destroyed, my messengers travelled unmolested with letters to and from King William's Town; but when the Kafirs heard of the recall they at once changed their course of action, my messengers were fired on and wounded, without any previous warning to them or to me; Bambe and the other counsellors who were employed by the Chiefs to endeavour to obtain terms from Government, were informed that they might go to their homes, their service for the present not being required, and the Chiefs altogether have assumed as hostile an attitude as possible, though no longer able to induce their people to assemble in numbers to oppose the troops.

The reason for the course now adopted by the Chiefs is, that they imagine they will obtain easier terms by a bold bearing and a professed indifference to peace, than by admitting themselves to be in a position in which terms may be dictated to them; and on the whole it is evident that a change of Government in the present position of our affairs, will have the effect of prolonging the struggle in which we are now engaged.

I have, &c.

Gaika Commissioner.

GENERAL ORDER.

*Head-Quarters. King William's Town,
April 2, 1852.*

No. 254.

THE Commander-in-Chief desires to record his marked approbation of the able manner in which all Commissariat arrangements have been conducted, under the auspices of Commissary-General Miller, in the early stage of the war, and during the greater part of it; and again by his successor, Commissary-General Maclean.

By their able arrangements, every post and patrol have been well supplied; not a soldier or a troop-horse has wanted his day's ration; while His Excellency is fully satisfied that every economy has been rigidly exercised throughout this long and arduous conflict, embracing services of a most extended and peculiar nature, attaching not only to the royal troops, but to the burghers and levies throughout the colony; thus reflecting that honour and credit towards one of the most important branches in the service, which demand the record of His Excellency's marked approbation and approval.

The zealous exertions and ability of Deputy Commissary-General Green, Assistant Commissaries-General Inglis and de Smidt, and Deputy Assistant Commissary-General Potgieter, have been continually under the marked approbation of the Commander-in-Chief.

His Excellency also desires to record equal approbation of the conduct of the officers of the civil branch of the Ordnance Department, whose labours have been incessant and continuous, reflecting great credit upon the zeal and activity of

Mr. Cooper and Mr. Saunders, Ordnance Store-keeper, and of Mr. Hudson, Ordnance Clerk, in charge of the very considerable stores of ammunition and clothing at head-quarters, whose rectitude in all issues has been remarkable.

GENERAL ORDER.

*Head-Quarters, King William's Town,
April 7th, 1852.*

HIS Excellency Lieut.-General the Hon. George Cathcart having been appointed by the Queen to relieve me, I this day relinquish the command.

Brother officers and soldiers, nothing is more painful than to bid farewell to old and faithful friends. I have served my Queen and country many years; and attached as I have ever been to gallant soldiers, none were ever more endeared to me than those serving in the arduous campaign of 1851-52, in South Africa. The unceasing labours, the night marches, the burning sun, the torrents of rain, have been encountered with a cheerfulness as conspicuous as the intrepidity with which you have met the enemy in so many enterprising fights and skirmishes in his own mountain fastnesses and strongholds, and from which you have ever driven him victoriously.

I leave you, my comrades, in the fervent hope of laying before your Queen, your country, and His Grace the Duke of Wellington, these services as they deserve, which reflect so much honour upon you.

Farewell, my comrades! Your honour and interests will be ever far more dear to me than my own.

No. 258.

1. THE General Order of the 6th instant noticed the operations of the several columns, disposed by the Commander-in-Chief's predecessor in the field, with their successful results.

In connection with them, Major-General Somerset's report of the 8th instant has just been received, of the capture, on the previous day, of 3,120 head of cattle, 70 horses, 1,500 goats, and 100 of the enemy killed by a patrol under Lieutenant-Colonel Napier, C.M.R., in which the exertions of Captain Tylden, R.E., and the burghers, are reported to have been most conspicuous.

The date of these operations being antecedent to the relinquishment of the command by Sir Harry Smith, he thus directs their promulgation.

2. Serjeant Apollis Louw, C.M.R., and the latter party, consisting of 16 men of that corps, bringing Major-General Somerset's reports, above referred to, signalised himself and detachment by one of the most enterprising acts of the many of this war, by attacking, on his way, a kraal of the enemy, killing several of them, and carrying off 26 head of cattle and 1 horse. He subsequently fell in with an armed party of mounted Kafirs driving a herd of cattle, which he attacked, and took from them 172 head of cattle and 4 horses, all of which he brought safe to King William's Town. This deserves, as it receives, every encomium.

*H. M. Ship "Gladiator," Table Bay,
17th April, 1852.*

MY LORD,

I HAVE this morning received, having embarked on board Her Majesty's ship "Gladiator," a report of Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre, dated Kabousie Neck, 8th instant, of which the inclosed is a copy.

The affair which it describes having occurred at a period when I was in command, I have the honour to draw your Lordship's marked attention to it, as having led to one of the most important of the many brilliant results which have recently attended Her Majesty's arms.

The Chief "Auta" is one of the most formidable, and certainly the most hostile, of all the Gaika Kafirs. I therefore confidently hope this summary infliction of punishment will tend to facilitate the operations of my successor, who has been kind enough to issue a General Order, Paragraph 2 of which I inclose, to show the value he attaches to it.

This last success of Lieutenant-Colonel Eyre and his officers and troops under my command, is as gratifying to me to record as it is honourable to his enterprising self.

These 800 head of cattle and 15 horses, a considerable number in the present reduced state of the Gaikas, must be added to the general total of their losses.

Your Lordship will observe that Colonel Eyre speaks in especial terms of praise of Major Pinckney of the 73rd, and Major Armstrong of the Cape Mounted Rifles. I deeply regret the loss of Captain Gore of the 43rd Light Infantry. He was one of the most distinguished captains under my command; as intrepid as judicious; beloved by both officers and men.

I have, &c.

H. G. SMITH.

The Rt. Hon. Earl Grey.

P.S. I cannot close this report of the last of the many daring enterprises and signal successes which have been achieved by Her Majesty's troops under my command, without requesting to draw your Lordship's marked attention to its character. You will perceive that while the troops were moving on to storm one of the strongest positions in the Amatolas, one formed of mountain and wooded fastness, the enemy were sufficiently bold and daring to make a vigorous onslaught on our rear, for the purpose of course of anticipating the attack on their cattle. For this Colonel Eyre most judiciously provided, while he moved onward to the assault; the result of which he himself so ably describes. I mention this to your Lordship with reference to your despatch to me of the 15th December last, in which you remark, with reference to operations in the Water Kloof; that "it was the rear and not the van of the British force which was engaged with the enemy, and that the latter must therefore have been the assailants." In my despatch of the 5th February last, I endeavoured to remove this impression, observing that: "those who have witnessed military operations, and are well acquainted with their varying character, success attending them in one part of the field, while in others partial bodies may be held in check, will not consider the affair of a rear-guard as the criterion by which to judge of their general result." In all warfare, but more especially in that of a desultory character, these contradistinctions of attack and defence occur; and no more striking instance has been offered during the war under my conduct than the one now in question, showing at once the daring of the enemy and that in the operations of a day, the affair of a rear-guard does not constitute success or the reverse.

(Signed) H. G. SMITH.

*Camp, Kabousie Neck,
April 8th, 1852.*

SIR,

I HAVE the honour to report, for the information of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, that having rested my men on the 6th instant, I proceeded at daylight on the 7th instant with the force as per margin,* to cross the Kabousie Neck, en route to resume my former position in the Keiskammer Hoek. On reaching the summit of the pass I observed cattle in the distance, and immediately hastened on the cavalry in pursuit of it, under Major Armstrong. As we descended into the Hoek the enemy, hitherto concealed, came forward with unwonted boldness, and attacked our rear-guard, following us into the open in skirmishing order. It was plain that the object of the enemy was to draw us towards him, and so divert our attention from his cattle in front. I, therefore, pushed on and surrounded the Kloof into which the cattle had been driven. With astonishing exertion the infantry climbed up to the highest summits of the mountains between Mount Doorn and Mount Thomas, and prevented the egress of the cattle, while the Cape Mounted Rifles and Armstrong's Horse dismounted, and the Levies under Lieutenant Nicholls, the whole under Major Armstrong, entered the bush, and in spite of the resistance of the enemy, captured 210 head of cattle and 15 horses. Above 30 more, evidently choice cows, were found killed by the enemy, with assagais. Two of Armstrong's Horse were wounded on this occasion. Hearing also cattle in "Auta's Hole," I ordered a company of the 73rd to penetrate the bush and search for "spoor." This company failed in finding spoor, and returned from the bush, having one man wounded. To support this company, I had ordered one company of the 43rd Light Infantry, under Captain Gore, to enter the bush in another direction. I afterwards reinforced it with another company of the 43rd, under Captain Green, and a company of the 73rd under Captain Burne. These three companies, under Major Pinckney, penetrated the bush, and with admirable perseverance, in spite of the presence of the enemy, who were in considerable numbers, captured between 500 and 600 head of beautiful cattle, supposed to belong to Auta, and succeeded in driving them up the precipitous side of Mount Thomas. A considerable number of these cattle, however, could not reach the summit, and were obliged to be destroyed; but we have 630 remaining, and 15 horses.

Total 555

I beg particularly to bring to the notice of his Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, the conduct of Major Pinckney, and that of the three companies under his command on this occasion. The intrepidity and perseverance with which they pursued through that dense bush a large herd of cattle, driving them without the aid of Fingoe or Hottentot, and finally captured them, despite the opposition of the enemy, in one of the most formidable positions in the Amatolas, excited the admiration of every one in the field. We have not succeeded in this instance without incurring some casualties; and I have to lament in common with every officer of the division, the loss that Her Majesty's service has sustained in the death of Captain Gore, 43rd Light Infantry. This excellent officer, in advancing to the bush, was shot dead, apparently by some one in the trees. He was as usual in front of his men, leading them on with the utmost gallantry. His place, however, was instantly supplied by Lieutenant Graham, who efficiently commanded the company and brought it out of the bush. Our total casualties were:—1 officer killed; 2 rank and file, 43rd Light Infantry, wounded; and 2 of the 73rd wounded; and 2 of Armstrong's Horse wounded.

I beg particularly to express my thanks to the following officers, though the exertions of all were very conspicuous—viz.: Lieutenant-Colonel Skipwith, commanding 43rd Light Infantry, Major Pinckney, commanding 73rd, Major Armstrong, commanding the cavalry, Lieutenant Nicols, commanding the levies, Lieutenant Gawler, 73rd, Deputy Assistant Quartermaster-General, and Lieutenant Reeve, 73rd, Field Adjutant.

2. THE Commander-in-Chief desires to record, as part of the operations in progress under the disposition of His Excellency's predecessor, Sir Harry Smith, the energetic exertions of the column under Lieut.-Colonel Eyre, in the Keiskamma Hoek, on the 7th instant, when about 800 head of cattle and 15 horses, belonging to Auta, were captured in one of the most formidable positions of the Amatolas, in spite of every opposition of the enemy. In this affair our casualties were:—1 officer (Captain Gore, 43rd Regiment) killed at the head of his company, leading them on with the utmost gallantry; and 6 men wounded.

Foreign Office, June 1, 1852.

The Earl of Malmesbury, Her Majesty's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, thinks it expedient to renew the Notification which appeared in the London Gazette of the 21st of February 1851, of the Regulations in force at the Foreign Office relating to the granting of Passports.

His Lordship further thinks that it will be useful to Her Majesty's subjects, travelling on the continent of Europe, to be made acquainted with the annexed Instructions, issued to all Her Majesty's Ministers abroad, for the purpose of securing every reasonable facility to travellers, in procuring, without difficulty or delay, at the different British Embassies and Missions abroad, the requisite attention in matters connected with Passports and other official formalities.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING PASSPORTS.

1. Applications for Foreign Office Passports must be made in writing; and addressed to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, with the word "Passport," written upon the cover.

2. The fee on the issue of a Passport is 7s. 6d.

3. Foreign Office Passports are granted only to British subjects, including in that description foreigners who have been naturalized by Act of Parliament, or by Certificates of Naturalization granted before the 24th day of August 1850: in this latter case, the party is described in the Passport as a "Naturalized British subject."

4. Passports are granted between the hours of twelve and four, on the day following that on which the application for the Passport has been received at the Foreign Office.

5. Passports are granted to persons who are either known to the Secretary of State or recommended to him by some person who is known to him; or upon the written application of any Banking Firm established in London, or in any other part of the United Kingdom.

6. Passports cannot be sent by the Foreign Office to persons already abroad. Such persons should apply to the nearest British Mission or Consulate.

7. Foreign Office Passports must be countersigned at the Mission, or at some Consulate in England, of the Government of the country which the bearer of the Passport intends to visit.

8. A Foreign Office Passport granted for one journey may be used for any subsequent journey if countersigned afresh by the Ministers or Consuls of the countries which the bearer intends to visit.

Foreign Office,
February 20, 1851.

Circular Despatch from the Earl of Malmesbury to Her Majesty's Ministers abroad, dated Foreign Office, March 26, 1852.

I have been informed that at some of Her Majesty's Missions abroad, the head of the Mission having for his own convenience fixed his temporary residence in the country, at a distance more or less great from the capital, does not keep in the capital an office to which those English or other persons who may have necessary business to transact with the Mission can resort; I therefore think it advisable to state generally to all Her Majesty's Diplomatic Servants, that in the event of their establishing their residence beyond the precincts of the capital, they are bound to maintain in the capital an office which shall be regularly open every day, except Sunday, for at least three fixed and known hours, between ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon. An Attaché or other proper person duly authorized must be constantly in attendance at that office during those hours, for the purpose of countersigning Passports and performing such other duties as British subjects abroad are entitled to expect at the hands of their Minister.

And as it is necessary that with regard to the legalization of documents of certain descriptions, the parties should appear before the Chief of the Mission or the Secretary of Legation, the office in question must be visited at certain known and appointed times by one of the persons competent to sign such documents; and a public notification should be made to that effect.

With regard to documents which require the signature of the Minister himself, without the personal attendance of the party desiring such signature, the Minister, while living out of town, must make arrangements for such documents being forwarded to him at least once in twenty-four hours, and free of expense to the party sending, from the British office in the capital; and he must send the papers back to the office at the latest on the day succeeding his receiving them in such manner as shall insure the punctual reception of them in sealed covers by the parties interested.

I am, &c.
